FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1862.

The Privateer Alabama. The City of Baltimore, ju tarrived from Europe, brings intelligence of the destruction of another vessel by the rebel privateer, Alabama. It seems that all efforts thus far to capture or destroy this iron-elad monster, so destructive to our commerce, have been unavailing. If the reports of other iron-clad vessels, now ready and being fitted out by the Confederates, prove correct, we may expect still further trouble in that direction.

The Surrender of Harper's Ferry.

The full report of the military investigation into the surrender of Harper's Ferry has been published. The commission pass judgment, as it were, upon all the military parties concerned. They acquit, General WHITE, Colonels D'UTASSY and TRIMBLE of all blame for the surrender, and praise the capacity and courage of the former. They find that Colonel Fond was given, by Colonel Milles, discretionary power to abandon Maryland Heights, but that the exercise of this discretion was premature; that he conducted the defence with no ability, and that his exhibition of lack of capacity was such as to disqualify him for a command.

Incapacity is attributed to Colonel Miles, especially in neglecting to fortify and hold Maryland Heights, and General Woot is held to responsibility for his being in command. As early as the 15th August, Colonel Miles disobeys the order of General Wool to fortify Maryland Heights. After the evacuation of Maryland Heights, Colonel Mills sent word to General McClentan, then at Frederick the dog. City, that unless reinforced he could not hold out forty-eight hours. General Mc-CLELLAN thereupon despatched a messenger to General FRANKLIN, who was engaged with the enemy at Crampton's Gap, ance. The General-in-Chief testifies that General McClellan, after receiving orders to drive the enemy from Maryland, marched on an average of only six miles a day in pursuit, and that in his opinion he both could and should have relieved has the heart and feeling of a murderer, and protected Harper's Ferry, and in this opinion the Commission fully concur.

The First Open Public Sympa-thizer with the Assassin Brown.

strange, that out of the number of boys who were engaged in ringing the done bell of Mr. Bollmeyer that he should happen in catch Brown a boy and ship him, while the others went unhart, and that siter the shooting of the dog. Brown was told that Bollmeyer had said he would shoot the boy for shooting his dog, true Bollmeyer denied making the statement as in the denial. The witnesses who gave in their testimony at the inquest, all state that Brown made no demonstration toward physical injury until Bollmeyer act down his basket with the intention of attacking him. We say it is no wonder there is a revolution in public soutiment in regard to the affair when the circumstances which caused it are made known. We think there are but few who justify Brown in committing the deed, but instead of the community looking upon it as the horrible affair which it was at first represented to be, they sow think it not smuch worse than similar tragedies which have occurred. No doubt Rrown is deserving of punishment, if so let him receive it to the extent of his crime.

After indulging in a few lines of low dirty abuse of Mr. VALLANDIGHAM, he concludes by saying that "if there is ever another attempt made to take Brown from the jail there will be two sides of the question."

In regard to the circumstances leading to the assassination; this fellow has deliberately and wilfully lied, for a purpose,lied, with the testimony of the Coroner's inquest before him, and which, of itself, proves him a liar. Brown's boy did not shoot Bolleryn's dog; neither did any one else, for the dog has not been shot at all.

Bolleyn did not whip Brown's boy or the country of the second line. Doubtless, however, it was Pony brandy.

My opinion of these Republicans is, that they are a set of serpents in sheep's clothing. It have you are they are a set of serpents in sheep's clothing. any one else's boy. He did not say that he would "shoot the boy for shooting his dog," because the dog was not shot. This disposes of the charges about the shooting as war news, though it is more interesting, of a dog by Brows's son, having any loss of the charges about the shooting as war news, though it is more interesting, the shoot is the polls and give them the thrashing the pells and give them the thrashing they need. I will do it myself. I will make Wadsworth feel pensive, in a few days.

Now Joe is a tip-top fellow, and an old crony of mine. I don't know, really, how I could have got through the Italian war without him. But he has some peculiar ideas, and I'm afraid that he fondly imagines the

But we have already devoted more space to this fellow than we had intended. Our object in referring to him at all, was principally to let the people know that such a black-hearted villain resides in this Diswholly unable to give the needed assist- trict. He not only manifests a satanic feeling of delight at the assassination of a political opponent, but even resorts to falsehood and misrepresentation to justify the act and screen the assassin. The man who proposes to fight against traitors. On the whole I should think that Joseph might just about as well keep quiet at home for a while. Such is my advice. Italy will need him again before long, and if he comes has the heart and feeling of a murderer, and only lacks courage to become one in fact. Let him be treated with the scorn and sontempt which he deserves.

[From Venity Pair.] Our War Correspondence

Sourn, Oct. 29th. DEAR VANETY: - I shall not write a very long letter, this time, as I intend visiting your city in a few days, for the purpose of voting

After that, I shall go to Boston, to vote Then I shall return, and crush the rebellion.

The only trouble about Seymour is the fact that the black Republicans all tray at home and talk, while the Democratic voters are fighting down in Dixie. The Abolitomists, of up the war, and want to keep it up, but somehow they don't seem to take much interest in fighting. Maybe they object to getting hart.

In the meanwhile, the only argument they can find against Democracy is "You're a traitor." That's what Rufus Andrews told me, the other day. He looked just as I do, when

As for the plea that Joe was defeated by traiterous action, that is hardly available for

About Dancing.

Shall I learn to dance? To this question by a young reader, the American Agriculturist replies:

Certainly, by all means. Commence with the "quickstep" out of bed in the morning, and kept it up until the "chores" are finished.
The boys of course will have a "cow-drill" at the barn, while the girls are engaged in a "country-dance" in the kitchen. After this we were mistaken. A small, dingy-looking, eight-by-ten Abolition sheet, published in Middletown, Butler county, by a fellow called A. C. Brock, comes out openly in delence of the murderer Brown.

Dirity to contend with, Mr. McKinney went boldly to work in the canvass, and with so much success did he show the people the true and only principles upon which our government is formed, that he has won the triumph of a glorious victory.

Hon, C. L. Vallandigham.

The Abolitionists of the country can gather one crumb of comfort from the recent cleetions, in the defeat of the Hon. C. L. Vallaging and in Ohio. The last legislature Gerrymandered his district, adding thereto a strong Republican county, which gave a majority sufficient to overcome the Democrutic majority in the remainder of the district, and thus defeated him. But he was handsomely embrased by his present constituents, and re-ceived in his old district a largely increased majority. The Dayton (O.) Empire, the lead-ing Democratic paper of Mr. Vallaudigham's district says:

"Mr. Vallandigham has not been beaten in the old District; on the contrary, he triumphantly carries it by five or six times as large a majority as ever before. And better still, he majority as ever belove. And better still, he is endorsed in his own county, which he never carried before, by a majority of near fluir dred. How do you like this triumphant endorsement of Mr. Vallandigham by his constituents in the face of the lying efforts and denunciation of the whole abolition press of the country."
