Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry ALWAYS TRIUMPHANT. Cure follows cure! in its onward victorious career!

DAYTON, February 11, 1845.

Mr. J. W. Whitmore.

Dear Sir:—As you are the regular authorized agent in Dayton for the sale of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I take this method of making a statement of the facts to you (which I hope may be published to the world) in reference to an almost miraculous cure in my case wrought by means of the above invaluable Balsam.

Language fails to describe the salutary effects it produced, and the great benefit I derived from its use. The citizens of Dayton and vicinity, well recollect that on the 5th of August last, I received a serious injury from the explosion of a cannon. A portion of its contents entered my right side and breast; and in all probability, some fragments or splinters of the ram-rod passed through the "plura." After a lapse of about six weeks, I was attacked with a distressing cough and violent pain in my right side. Some ten days after this when in a paroxysm of coughing, suddenly an ulcer broke, and a large quantity of very offensive matter, mixed with blood, was discharged, most of which found passage through the opening of the wound. From this opening there frequently passed a quantity of air, supposed to issue from the lungs. During all this time my sufferings were almost intolerable.

My physicians meanwhile paid the strictest attention to me, and did all in their power for my recovery. But with all this skill, they could not reach the seat of distress, after the lungs had become affected. I was visited during this time by at least twenty physicians. It was now reduced to a certainty, that inflammation of the lungs was rapidly taking place, and that this would terminate my life in a very short time, was in the highest degree probable.

At this critical stage, a messenger was despatched to Cincinnati, and a celebrated Physician of that place was consulted. When he was made acquainted with my situation, he remarked that nothing could be done by medical aid, if the constitution itself was not sufficient to throw off the disease.

My friends now despaired of my recovery, and I had no earthly ground of hope to survive many days. Fortunately at this juncture I saw one Dr. Wistar's Pamphlet, entitled "Family Medical Guide, or, Treatise on Consumption of the Lungs." As I had often heard of "dying men catching at straws," I felt like doing so myself. By the consent of my physicians, I sent you for a bottle of the medicine described viz. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which relieved me almost immediately. After I had used some five or six bottles, I so far recovered as to be up and about. My cough ceased, and my lungs were restored to a healthy condition from the healing and balsamic influence, and powerful medicinal virtues of Wistar's Balsam.

Were it not from the external injury I received in my shoulder and arm by the explosion, I feel confident that I might have been working at my trade (which is blacksmithing) but this has prevented. By this exposure, I have since taken several severe colds, and my only remedy has been the Balsam. I now most cordially recommend the genuine Wistar's Balsam to all who are afflicted with colds, Coughs, or Lung Complaints. I consider it an invaluable medicine—a real blessing to the world. Any person desiring further information, may call on me at any time.

Yours truly,

JOSEPH H. SMITH.

City of Dayton, Montgomery Co. State of Ohio.

Subscribed and sworn to, before me, a Justice of the Peace, this 11th day of February 1845.

Testimony of three highly credible citizens of Dayton in confirmation of the above.

We, the undersigned, being intimately acquainted with Mr. Smith and having seen and watched over him frequently during his late illness, do not hesitate to say that the foregoing is no means an exaggerated statement but is entitled to full credit.

A. L. STOUT, J. B. DOBSON, HENRY SMITH.

Beware of Counterfeits.

Those who counterfeit a good medicine for the purpose of adding a few dollars to their pockets, are far worse than the manufacturers of spurious coin. For while the latter only rob us of our property, the former take property and health and life away. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is admitted, by thousands of disinterested witnesses; to have effected the most extraordinary cures in cases of pulmonary and asthmatic character, ever before recorded in the history of medicine.

The young, the beautiful, the good, all speak forth its praise. It is now the favorite medicine in the most intelligent families of our country.

Such a high stand in public estimation has been achieved by its own merits alone. And so long as a discerning public are careful to get Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and refuse with scorn counterfeits, and every other article preferred to them as a substitute, so long will cures—positive cures—cheer the friends of many a despairing family.

The true and genuine "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" is sold at established agencies in all parts of the United States.

Sold at Cincinnati, on the corner of Fourth of Walnut streets, by General Agents for the Western States, SANFORD & PARK.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

Washtenaw County.

At a session of the Probate court for said county held at the Probate office in Ann Arbor, on the 3d day of July, A. D. 1845. Present Samuel P. Fuller, Judge of Probate in the matter of the Estate of James Kari, deceased.

Upon filing the petition of Thomas K. Andrews, the executor named in an instrument which has been presented to said court, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, praying that said instrument may be proved, allowed and recorded, as the last will and testament of said deceased. It is ordered that Monday the twenty-eighth day of July, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day at the Probate office in Ann Arbor, in said county, be the time and place assigned for hearing and taking the proof of said will. And it is further ordered that said petitioner cause a copy of this order to be published in any public newspaper printed in said county, once in each week for three successive weeks previous to the time assigned for the hearing aforesaid, to the end that the next of kin to said deceased and all persons interested in said estate, having objections to the Probate of said will may then and here appear and make the same known if they think fit. (a true copy.)

TOWN'S SCHOOL BOOKS

Town's Child's First Book—Town's Speller and Definer. Town's First Reader. Town's Second Reader. Town's Third Reader. Town's Analysis.

This valuable series is recently completed, and the last works are rapidly obtaining the extensive approval and circulation which the Spelling Book and Analysis have so long enjoyed.

Recommendations or expressions of approval of some of the series, recently completed, were received from Prof. Anthon, of Columbia College New York, Prof. Bush, and Prof. Patton, New York University—The Regents of New York University, Rev. Doct. Dick, of Scotland J. A. Dix, late superintendent of Schools, New York President Atwater, Middlebury College—Rev. Dr. Nutt President of Union College—Prof. Potter Union College Dr. Wiley Penn. University, Prof. Kingsley, Chief Justice Nelson, Chancellor Walworth, Justice Cowen, etc. Over two thousand Town Superintendents. Twenty four county Superintendents, and twelve county conventions, have expressed their approval and preference for the Speller, and most of them are adopting the remainder of the series as fast as issued.

All the Books of Town's series are neatly and durably manufactured, and will be constantly and plentifully supplied at very low prices throughout the country, not only by Booksellers, but by country merchants, Paper makers, travelling agents, &c.

Child's First Book.

The Child's First Book, by Salem Town, A. M.—Being a series of Easy Lessons, prepared in strict accordance with the method of the PACIFIC TEACHERS. Perhaps few men have extensive acquaintance with practical teachers, or have enjoyed more favorable opportunities of ascertaining their views, than the author of this book. His connection with a great number of Teachers' Institutes, has enabled him to combine the experience of more than two thousand Teachers of Primary Schools to aid him in preparing the Child's First Book. It is introductory to Town's First Reader.

The publishers have the most gratifying assurances from Teachers of eminence, of the author's peculiar success in the adaptation of his books to the comprehension of young children. To teachers, after ten years experience, say one of the smaller works, "We have never witnessed more interest excited in young children, in the use of any book than in this."

Town's Spelling Book

TOWN'S SPELLER AND DEFINER.—Containing rules for designating the accented syllable in most American words in the language; being an introduction to Town's Analysis. 100th edition critically revised and corrected.

A book so extensively used in all parts of the United States, with the entire approbation of so many teachers as to make its description unnecessary. This book is also extensively used in Europe, and has a more philosophical arrangement than any other in the English Language. This is the opinion entertained of it by the most eminent educators at home and abroad.

The publishers are at a loss what to select from the mass of favorable reviews and recommendations of this work from the highest literary sources. A few are annexed as specimens:

From Charles Anthon, L. L. D. Prof. of Language in Columbia College New York:—"I have examined Town's Spelling Book with considerable care and have every reason to be pleased with the work. So far superior is it in fact, to other Spelling Books, that I have no hesitation in recommending it to general patronage." CHARLES ANTHON From the New York Evangelist.

"Unquestionably superior in its plan, to any other Spelling Book of the English language ever published, and must eventually take the place of every other."

NATIONAL RECOMMENDATION

A copy of the work having been put into the hands of each member of Congress and examined the following resolution was unanimously adopted in the hall of Representatives, at Washington Dec. 13, 1838.

"Resolved, That in consideration of the superior excellence of Town's Spelling Book, which is so happily arranged as to teach the meaning at the same time it does the spelling of the words, we strongly recommend it to all our schools, as the National Uniform Spelling Book."

Rev. Dr. Proudfit, after praising the Spelling Book as a good one, says, its general introduction into our common schools, will, in my opinion, constitute a new era in the history of Elementary Literature and therefore, with great pleasure I recommend it to the patronage of an enlightened and liberal public.

From Rev. John Bush, Prof. of Hebrew and Oriental Literature N. Y. City University:—"From a thorough examination of Town's Spelling Book particularly in its new and last revised form, I have no hesitation in considering it a decidedly superior to any other work of similar design, with which I am acquainted, in the whole compass of our Elementary Literature."

Town's First Book.

TOWN'S FIRST READER.—12mo. 138 pages.

To be used in connection with any Speller.

This work contains many valuable improvements upon the reading books of the day. Commencing with the more simple, it rises gradually to the more difficult sentences. The child can easily overcome every difficulty as it advances. Its reading matter is such that it can readily understand, and is made of such stories and incidents as cannot fail to secure and create a taste for reading. The words contained in the spelling lessons are incorporated in the sentences for reading, so as to teach the pupil the exact use of language.

"The First Reader" is designed to follow the First Book. It is got up on the same plan, and in a similar style. Each lesson commences with a number of words to be spelled by the pupil, which are then embodied in a little story, to show the meaning and use thus drawing out the scholar's mind by an application of what he learns."

Town's Second Reader.

TOWN'S SECOND READER.—Or Speller's Companion. 240 pages. 12mo. half bound.

Which is arranged on the same plan as the First Reader, but is made up of more difficult pieces, and adapted to higher classes. It is used with great advantage in connection with the speller, that giving abstract definitions, as do all Dictionaries, while in the Reader, the same words are found with a specific application, and in a definite sense. A distinctive knowledge of words in connection with their specific application, covers all the benefits that can be derived from the use of language.

Each reading lesson composed for the Speller is found in a separate index, referring to the page in the Reader. In these lessons, the author has studied interest and unity, ease and elegance of style, and especially the intellectual improvement of the scholar, and has interspersed with them, the most attractive selections, narratives, &c., to catch the attention of children, and promote a taste for reading, and an appreciation of the refined and beautiful, in style, thought, and expression.

Town's Third Reader.

TOWN'S THIRD READER, containing a selection of Lessons exclusively from American Authors. 220pp 12mo.—shp.

Is adapted to higher classes in common schools, academies and seminaries. It contains a choice selection of the best writers of our country, and is distinguished by a National Reading Book.

The book contains as great a variety of specimens from some of the best writers of our country, as its limits would permit, selected with special reference to language, sentiment and instruction, and abounding with rich thought, clearly and forcibly expressed. They can scarcely fail to improve the moral and intellectual character of the pupil, as well as his habits of thought, and modes of expression.

A few rules for young writers, in their first efforts at composition, and some selections for declamation, &c., are added to this work. The following is from an editorial notice:

"The Third Reader opens with 'rules and observations on Reading,' being a short and comprehensive system of Elocution, for which the learner is now supposed to be prepared. The books are got up by the publishers in a beautiful style. The paper is fair and the printing large and clear, the binding substantial and the price low."

posed to be prepared. The books are got up by the publishers in a beautiful style. The paper is fair and the printing large and clear, the binding substantial and the price low."

Town's Analysis.

TOWN'S ANALYSIS of Derivative words in the English Language; or a Key to their precise analysis, definitions, by prefixes and suffixes: etc.—32 Edition carefully revised, enlarged and adapted to schools of all grades.

No one, we believe, has ever insinuated a single objection to this book. It is in general use in all parts of the world where the English language is correctly taught. It is so well known known as to make it unnecessary to add more than a specimen from the many thousand testimonials in favor of this book, from the first literary men, journals, and practical teachers in our country, viz:

"To the philologist, as well as the pupil, it is an interesting and original work, and will repay an attentive perusal."

"A truly original and exceedingly valuable work.—It supplies a niche where there was a real deficiency. A child of 12 years of age may in a short time obtain a far better and more accurate knowledge of our language, than is obtained by many of the graduates of our colleges during their course."
