

Emil Switzer's Condition Improved

If Present Progress Continues Young Man Will be Up and Around in a Month

Emil Switzer the young man of twenty six who was so severely wounded last Thursday evening by being dragged under a disc plow is now pronounced practically out of danger by the attending physician, if no complications arise.

The young man continues extremely weak from the shock and from the loss of blood but the cuts and other hurts show signs of healing. Fever has not added to the complexities of his hurts, and if all goes as well as it appears at present Mr. Switzer will be a convalescent in a month.

Mr. Switzer, who works for R. Frits on a farm about twelve miles southwest of here, was plowing when his disc plow caught on a stone, frightened his team and he was dragged over between the plow and the horses. The plow passed over him, dragging his body for some little distance and the disc cutters inflicted terrible cuts about his body and head.

I you eat something that disagrees with you, don't let it work its own way through. It's a slow process and makes you feel bad. Get rid of it quickly by taking a dose of HERBINE. It drives out impurities in the stomach and bowels and you feel better immediately. Price 50c. Sold by D. B. Hickey.

Tale of a Barber in Dire Distress

All the Trouble Checked Up to a Defunct Water Faucet.

A pretty country lass, a defunct hot water faucet, a bashful barber and a scared darkey furnished the chief characters of a farce which was played in a certain barber shop not so far from Chanute last Saturday afternoon.

The young woman dropped into the barber shop about four o'clock in the afternoon and modestly inquired if the shop gave baths. When politely informed that such was the case, she secured a couple of Turkish towels, an epidermis brush and retired. Pretty soon the gurgle of water and the steam thereof permeated the shop, but the odity of the situation soon wore off and the barber, after a few moments resumed his routine of scrape, swipe and conversation.

Then something got wrong in the bath room. The steam had ceased but the gurgles were louder. Then more steam and less gurgle, then:

"Please, Mr. Barber, I can't turn the hot water off." Two of the six men in chairs were gashed for sniffling upright without notice and a third received a slit in the nose.

"Please-uh-Bar-b-er, I've twisted and—" and there the little girl stopped with a sob of genuine distress. "Call out the Fire Department," suggested one. "Oh, please don't. I haven't even a kimona," sobbed the occupant of the bathroom.

The water by this time was overflowing in the shop. "Turn your back, George Washington," yelled the proprietor, turning toward the colored boy who blacks the boots.

"Ah resigns, Ah does" gasped the porter. "Back in, Back in" ordered the proprietor sternly. "You needn't trouble thank you, I've got it turned off. Hope I did not cause any trouble for anyone," came from the bathroom.

"Not me," was the like-the-gentleman chorus from the barbers, the shine and the two with the gashes and the one with a slit.

The Correct Time

Is sometimes a matter of great importance. A watch that doesn't tell the correct time is just as bad as no watch at all. If your watch shows an inclination to be eccentric or unsteady in its habits, bring it to us and we will put it in shape at a very reasonable cost.

O. E. CONKLIN, the Jeweler

Not Then.

"Parting, you know, is sweet sorrow," said Browne. "Not always," replied Towne. "Guess you never had a quinine capsule part just after you put it in your mouth, did you?"

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified. FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

TO REDUCE STOCK

For the next thirty days we will make you prices on buggies that will interest you. Now is the time to buy corrugated iron to build barns and sheds. Harness repair work a specialty at right prices. We carry a full line of hangers and track for doors. Hay carriers and track, hay rope and all kinds of builders' hardware at close prices.

Thrift of Glasgow.

Glasgow sets a splendid example of thrift and enterprise to the other cities and towns of Great Britain. It does not even scorn to collect and sell its waste paper and to traffic in scrap iron, thus adding many hundreds a year to its exchequer. Its cleansing department does business with half the counties of Scotland. It owns nearly one thousand railroad cars, and does a wide range of business from bog reclaiming to market gardening and butchers' work.

One Bright Spot.

An English clergyman was visiting his parishioners, when one of them, an old woman, informed him that since they met "she'd gone through a sight o' trouble. Her sister was dead, and there wor a worse job than that—the pig died all of a sudden; but it pleased the Lord to tak' him, and they mun bow, they mun bow." Then the poor old lady brightened up, and said: "But there's one thing, Meester Allen, as I can say, and ought to say, the Lord's been pretty well on my side this winter for greens."

Nails Protect Piling.

Some of the piles in use in Amsterdam are 300 to 400 years old. That part which is not in the ground is often bored by a pile worm near the surface, but is preserved by driving in nails with very large heads, so as to give the pile an iron coating. This coating is then transformed by the water into a layer of rust, which protects the wood from the pile worm. This process must be repeated every fifteen years.

Her Appetite Hadn't Suffered.

"Do you think, Miss Clara," he asked, with infinite tenderness in his voice, as he handed her the bill of fare, "that one's appetite is affected when one is in love?" "I haven't a doubt of it," she replied, scanning the bill of fare; and then she turned to the waiter and said: "Roast beef, please, with plenty of fat, and mashed potatoes, parsnips, and boiled onions."

Does Electrocuting Kill?

Does electrocuting really kill? Or does it only render unconscious—the patient dying, in point of fact, upon the operating table, during the autopsy? There are able physicians who contend that such is the case. Again, others say that it is not.—Popular Electricity.

Too Often This is the View Taken.

"I think the school teachers in this town ought to get more money than they do." "What put that kind of an idea into your head?" "Why should we expect the people who are educating our children to work for $70 or $80 a month, when we pay our chauffeurs at least $100 and furnish them with board and lodging besides?" "But what does school teachin' amount to, anyhow? Look at most of the teachers. They ain't got nothin' but education."—Chicago Tribune.

Kissing Conjugated.

"Sam" Slick once said that kisses were like creation—made out of nothing and very good; and another American writer thus conjugated the verb "to kiss." "Buss, to kiss; rebuss, to kiss again; pluribus, to kiss without regard to numbers; syllabus, to kiss the hands instead of the lips; blunderbus, to kiss the wrong person; erbus, to kiss in the dark; omnibus, to kiss every one in the room."

About Umbrellas.

Eyeglass wearers have long since complained that people are careless with umbrellas. Many pairs of glasses have been knocked off and broken by persons who selfishly refuse to move an umbrella so as to allow other people to easily pass. A few even persist in dangerously spinning an umbrella along a crowded street, endangering the glasses and sometimes eyes of passing walkers.

Nature's Balance of Power.

In view of facts, one is almost willing to accept the statement of a well-known French scientist, who has asserted that without birds to check the ravages of insects, human life would vanish from this planet in the space of nine years. But for the vegetation the insects would perish; but for the insects the birds would perish, and but for the birds vegetation would be destroyed. Nature has, therefore, formed a delicate balance of power which cannot be disturbed without bringing great loss and unhappiness to the world.

Only Success Worth Winning.

There is nothing base in failure, but base failure; there is nothing good in success but that which is well won. The applause of triumph is a mockery to him who has not deserved his success; if anything of conscience remains to him such applause must be a positive torture. We always know in our hearts whether we have merited that which comes to us, and it is always sweetened a hundredfold when we know that we really have done something fair and true for it.

Nature's Method of Protection.

There have been brought to light an astonishing number of forms of fish, and especially of prawns of a brilliantly red color, living in the ocean at a depth of 8,000 feet. But, astonishing as it may seem, these brilliantly colored fish and prawns, instead of being conspicuous in the water at that depth, are nearly invisible, when almost any other color could be easily seen.

Reminiscence Not Pleasing.

Once while canvassing his state during a political season, John Quincy Adams was approached by a well-to-do farmer, who introduced himself and said: "Mr. Adams, I'm glad to meet you; my wife remembers you well; she was in your family when you were a boy, and often combed your hair." "Well," said Mr. Adams, sharply, "I suppose she combs yours now."

Home Work.

"Willie, why couldn't you find the result of these examples you took home?" inquired the teacher, in a sharp voice. "Please, ma'am," replied the shaking boy, "me father says they wuz too hard for him, an' would you mind giving me a few easier ones to do?"—Woman's Home Companion.

Congenital.

Benevolent Old Lady (to Weary Willie, whom she finds resting in the shade of a telephone pole)—"Alas, my poor wayfarer, traveling through this vale of tears! What has caused you to become discouraged and abandon the race so early in life?" Weary Willie—"Tire trouble, lady."

Thoughtful.

Aunt (with her two nieces at a concert)—"Oh, but this is tedious! Let me take your fan, Ida, so I can hide my yawning behind it! Olga—Take mine, auntie! It's bigger!—Flegende Blaetter.
