A better way of dodging lightning than getting under the bed or shutting one's self in a closet is recommended by the Scientific American: "Some of the simplest things in the world are the most efficacious. Now, for instance, if you are afraid of lightning, here's a very simple safeguard to remember—simply put on your rubbers and then stand up so your clothes won't touch anywhere. Whether you are indoors or out of doors you are perfectly safe, for rubber is a non-conductor, and you are completely insulated."

The Temperance Sermons.

In spite of the unfavorable weather there was a good sized audience at the Methodist church Sunday to hear the temperance sermons by Revs. A. O. Ebricht and T. A. West. Rev. West spoke of the necessity of constantly fighting the rum evil, and dealt in a general way with the temperance question. Rev. Ebricht's address was partially along the same line. He quoted from the prohibitory law and called attention to general violations of it.

Both sermons were mild, but calculated to inspire those who are opposed to the illegal liquor traffic to greater diligence in the enforcement of the laws on the statute books.

Rev. Ebricht read to the congregation an anonymous letter of a threatening nature which he had received recently. The letter was printed with a lead pencil, and is evidently the work of the same person who has been writing letters to Harry Woods.

The towns can never beat the country people when it comes to successful socials. Down at Perth Saturday evening, the union choirs of the Cumberland Presbyterian and Baptist churches raised nearly $40 with a box social. A cake was put up as a prize to the prettiest girl in the community and 1 cent charged for every vote. Twenty-two hundred and twenty-two votes were cast in the contest, and the cake went to Miss Brown, a pretty country girl with rosy cheeks and modest ways. The proceeds of the social will be used in buying music for the choirs.

"Under the Dome," Lincoln J. Carter's newest play, will be seen here at our opera house Nov. 29th. It is a five act comedy drama the scenes of which are laid in Washington, New York and the Samoan Islands. Some remarkable scenic effects are promised. One of these is a realistic reproduction of the dreadful hurricane which swept the harbor of Apia, March 15, 1886, and which resulted in the destruction of the German war vessels Eber and Alder and the American war ships Nipsic, Vandalia and Trenton and the beaching of the German war vessel Olga and the loss of 144 lives. Another clever stage scene is promised in which the audience in company with the characters of the play make a trip of a ferry boat from Jersey City to New York. Every one in Sumner county should see this great storm scene. It is the best ever on the stage. Tickets 25, 35, 50.
