WILLIAM BLAKE, who was sent to Janesville from Beloit to serve thirty days in jail for the larceny of a suit of clothes, will go to Waupun under the name of William Cronin, to serve the state for five years. At the end of tha time he will return to Janesville and serve the remainder of the thirty days' term in the Janeswille county jail. Three years ago Cronin was convicted of larceny and sentenced to state prison for eight years on condition that if at the expiration of three years, his behavior in prison was good, he was to be released on parole, and to have his liberty until forfeited by some misdemeanor. He was let out on November 1, and reached Beloit a few days later. He soon found lodgings in the county jail for the larceny of some clothing. He was identified as Cronin, so the State Board of Control ordered the prisoner returned to Waupun.

CAPT. H. WOOD, of the Racine Light Guard, has decided to receive donations for the suffering miners on the Gogebic range. The armory at Racine has been opened, and clothing, provisions or money will be received at all hours of the day or night. LEVI J. ALDEN, one of the pioneer newspaper men in Wisconsin, died at his home in Madison. For several years Mr. Alden had been a sufferer from cancer, which developed on his face, and gradually worked upward toward the brain, affecting his reason, and making it necessary to keep him under the influence of opiates. His disease developed into uramic poisoning, which caused his death. Mr. Alden was born at Claremont, N. H., July 24, 1815, and was educated at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. He was married in 1844 and came to Janesville in 1845, and August 14 of the same year commenced the publication of the Janesville Gazette, of which he was editor and proprietor till 1855. In 1856 he was elected a member of the Assembly for the Janesville district, and in 1858 was elected clerk of the Rock County circuit court, which position he held for eight successive years. In 1867 he was appointed and seven years later Mr. Alden marlate John S. Dean, who survives him. Five daughters were born of his first anarriage, of whom four are still living. Mr. Alden was a close student of national and political affairs, and his writings were logical conclusions drawn from wide experience and observation. CALL FOR AID.

Gov. Peck's Proclamation on the Sufferers at Hurley.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21.—Gov. Peck this afternoon issued the following proclamation asking for aid for the sufferers at Hurley:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, MADISON, Wis., Nov. 21, 1893.—To the People of Wisconsin: It has been brought to my attention that there are people who are out of employment, food and clothing, and sorely in need of assistance. Particularly is this the case at this time at the city of Hurley, county of Iron. Other localities may later be in need. I have decided to open in Milwaukee a depot for supplies which may be sent at once to Hurley and later to the places that may be in need; and I ask the people of the state of Wisconsin to kindly assist me in providing this charity to our own people. The supplies needed are warm clothing, either second-hand or otherwise, for men, women or children, and provisions in the way of bacon, salt and provisions in the way of bacon, salt pork, ham, flour, corn meal, beans, etc., etc. Shoes will be needed for the children from baby shoes and up to the size worn by children 15 years old, and maybe shoes and boots for elderly men might not be out of place. This will be all that will be needed. But the supply of food will probably be needed as years right along during probably be necessary right along during the cold months. I have made arrangements with nearly all the railroads and express companies by which citizens of the state may send free to me at Milwaukee whatever they may desire to contribute. Those living in the middle, southern or western portions of the state ship directly to Milwaukee, and those in the more northern may notify me at the headquarters at Milwaukee from which the goods may be shipped to Hurley. It is essential that the people who desire to contribute do so at once, or at least prepare to do so, so that I may draw upon them at any time for something to eat for those people who are suffering. It had been my intention not to receive contributions of money, hoping that those who would contribute might make purchases themselves, but money has already begun to come to me from people who have not the time or de-

I shall begin to receive contributions tomorrow, and the more prompt our people are in sending them to me the better I shall

"ANNIE MORRIS" GUILTY.

Verdict in the Sensational Larceny Case in the Fond du Lac Court. FOND DU LAC, WIS., Nov. 22 .- In the circuit court this morning the jury in the case of the state against Annie Morris, or Frank Blunt as she is better known, found the defendant guilty of larceny. It was charged that she stole $130 from J. G. Perkins, of this city, who always supposed that Frankie was his nephew. Frankie visited there last July and the next day after she left $130 was missing from a trunk. The empty wallet was found in the chimney in the room occupied by Frankie. So Mr. Perkins swore out a warrant and had Frankie arrested in Milwaukee. Frankie's career in Milwaukee was a romantic one. For many years she masqueraded in male attire and no one ever suspected that she was a woman. On one occasion a Milwaukee saloon-keeper made an attempt to shoot the gay Annie on account of her attentions to his wife. She always dressed stylishly and mingled with men and succeeded in having an easy time of it.

WORKED A CLEVER GAME.

A Sharper Swindles a Monticello Farmer Out of $500.

Monticello, Wis., Nov. 22.-A few days since a sharper, representing himself as a stock buyer, called at the farmhouse of Jacob Murty, a well-to-do farmer residing about five miles southeast of this village, and purchased some stock, paying $5 down. The stock was to be delivered at Monroe and the sharper secured the signature of Murty on a contract to that effect. The contract turned to be nothing more than a note for $500 which amount the sharper has drawn from a bank at Monroe and which Mr. Murty has been notified to Indianapolis Banker Gives Trouble to Hoosier Odd Fellows.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 23 .-- The Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. of Indiana met here yesterday. Enoch G. Hogate, grand master, in his report said that there was due to the grand lodge from T. P. Haughey, president of the suspended Indianapolis National Bank and late grand treasurer of the I. O. O. F. of Indiana, $42,366.87; that sureties surrendered by Mr. Haughey to secure the grand lodge have a prospective value of $45,250, but the future can only develop what can be realized. The report also shows that Haughey's failure will embarrass the finances of the Home for Old and Indigent Odd Fellows and their Widows.

The fire broke out in the block owned by Henry S. Dickinson. It next spread to the block owned by J. K. Dexter & Co. Then it communicated to another block owned by John Doolan and from this it jumped to the last block in the row of burned buildings. All of these blocks are upon Worthington Street. The last block was occupied by A. N. Mayo & Co. The walls between this last named block and its neighbor were thin indeed, the party walls between all the blocks destroyed were of very slender construction. The burned district on Worthington Street extends nearly 150 feet east from the rear of the Glendower House and is 150 feet deep. The seven blocks destroyed were as follows. Five-story brick block owned by J. Weber, grocer; two brick blocks, five stories high, owned by J. K. Dexter & Co., rag dealers; ave-story block, owned by John Doolan, rag dealer; five-story block owned by A. N. Mayo & Co., stor dealers; Glendower Hotel and Abbe block and part of the Wright block.

The first estimates of loss by this morning's fire were made hurriedly and probably places the amount too large. At 1 P. M. careful figuring indicates it will not exceed $800,000, with prospects that it will fall below that

Mr. Hessing was frequently mentioned for the office of collector of customs, but in view of the fact, it is said, that a change is not contemplated in that office for some time, the President con-cluded to give him the office for which he was named to-day.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY AT KANKAKEE.

Divorced Man Kills His Former Wife and Then Commis Suicide. KANKAKEE, Ill., Nov. 24.—Jesse D. O.

Smith, a former merchant of this city, murdered his divorced wife and a Mrs. Graybell this noon, and then shot himself. Both women were shot through the heart and death was instantaneous. Smith then shot himself in the head, but the bullet glanced and injured him but slightly. He then went to his boarding house about half a mile distant and shot himself through the right temple about three minutes before the sheriff arrived. Jealousy supposed to be the cause. Mrs. Smith secured a divorce from her husband on the ground of adultery this summer. Smith's wife and Mrs. Graybell lived together. A 7-year-old daughter of Smith's is the only witness to the tragedy.
