THE GREAT SPEECH OF GOV. BOOTH OF CALIFORNIA.

HE SHOWS UP THE RAILROAD SYSTEM OF THE WEST.

RESIGNATION OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF ARKANSAS.

A SMALL LIBERAL CONVENTION IN MAINE.

GOV. BOOTH'S SPEECH.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 13.—The great speech of Gov. Booth upon the railroad questions has been the principal topic of conversation to-day, and has created a profound sensation. After reviewing the question of the disintegration of parties, the growing tendency to centralization of power, and the aggregation of corporate wealth, the corrupting influences of the Credit Mobilier, he passed to an illustration of the power of railroads to monopolize the commercial business of the country, and ruin all competition by systems of special and discriminating rates for transportation. When touching upon the subject of the Central Pacific railroad and its interference in political and mercantile affairs on the Pacific coast, he said that this statement is not exaggerated. I appeal to the experience of every business man of this community who takes part or feels an interest in public affairs: Call together a committee for the purpose of considering a question of public importance, and the moment it reaches upon railroad ground how many will feel that it is dangerous ground, full of pitfalls? For their personal safety they attempt an organization to resist a railroad demand, no matter how bold and unscrupulous. How many will tell you, I should like to join, but it will injure me in my business; the railroad can take away my special rate, or give it to my neighbor; they can give all along the line instructions that none of their employes shall deal with me; they can ruin merchants who will not regard orders. It may be a question of ruin, of bankruptcy, of bread to my family, the struggle of his meekness is earnest and painful, but the yoke is upon his neck, the iron around his soul, and the ballot-box is studied or the returns altered to carry one subtly, and another demand follows. Men will say I know it is wrong, it is an outrage, but my property is all in this city. They could not effect its ultimate value, but it is mortgaged, and they can unsettle prices by their threats, and I should have the sheriff at my door. What interest is there here that cannot be made to feel this iron pressure? But it is too tedious to capture these several interests in detail, they go to congress and demand the possession of Govt. Island and still demand it. They boast that they will get it, and they will get it if they can carry this election. They scarcely intend to change its purpose, they only intend to bombard the city instead of its enemies. When it reaches their demand, God in Heaven, you are 100,000, they are 3. They have got the book in the jaws of this Levathian. In the country farmers will tell you that rates may be changed, their depots moved, their accommodations restricted, or that they are upon railroad sections with imperfect titles and they, too, are in the toils. To one community hopes are held out, and threats are made to another. Go through the state, and upon every pulse of industry there is an iron finger counting its throbs; upon every throat there is an iron hand that tightens or relaxes to grasp at the interest, or caprice of an iron vice. I have referred but incidentally to that four bird of inquisitions. Shame on the Credit Mobilier, and the contract and finance company. I have said nothing of the two hundred and twenty-four millions of acres of public land, three times the area of Great Britain, given to the railroad companies, and at the last session of congress bills were introduced giving 150,000,000 for the millions and hundreds of millions of which the southern states have been robbed, and under the false pretense that the railroads were to be built by the proper companies. I have made no reference to the three millions this state and its counties have been asked to give for railroad companies through legislative action and popular votes, nor to the fact that while the general government is paying two millions dollars per annum for the bonds of the Central Pacific and the state $100,000, the company can successfully defy the state to collect its taxes, and with an effrontery that is sublime, make the gifts and large subscriptions, one of the grounds of its refusal to pay, for it is a fact that to-day there is not a piece or species of public property from the China Basin

and Goat Island to all the broad acres of our main, from the remotest point in the mountains to the rolling waters of the rivers of the plains, upon which some incipient or full-grown monopoly has not fixed its covetous eye, and does not hope to obtain it through the same kind of political corruption in bargain and sale.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A TIGHORSE WITNESS.

CHICAGO, August 14.—The Tribune will publish to-morrow the following letter from John Crowley of Springfield, to an agent of this city:

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., August 14, 1873.

DEAR SIR—I see there is an Englishman, Mr. Whally, an M. E., arrived in New York for the purpose of collecting money in this country for the Tighorse case in England. I want you, if you please, to find out by some means where Whally is stopping in New York, then write him he can get more information from me about Tighorse than he can get in England. Please don't forget to attend to this.

Crowley is a veterinary surgeon of large practice, and of more than ordinary intelligence. He is in every way considered trustworthy and reliable, and is quite sure he can either prove or disprove the identity of the claimant with Sir Roger, because of his personal knowledge of the original and genuine Sir Roger. At the time that Sir Roger was stationed with his regiment at Cobire barracks, Crowley's mother kept a hotel at Clogher, Ireland, which was the resort of Sir Roger and his intimate friends. Crowley was then a young man given to field sport, and was studying to qualify himself for the profession of veterinary surgeon. Sir Roger was a very poor horseman, and employed Crowley to give him instructions. The two were boon companions day and night, and there is little doubt that if anyone can identify another, then Crowley will be able to say whether the claimant is or is not the genuine Sir Roger.

TO LOOK FOR SURVIVORS.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The secretary of the treasury to-day ordered the collector of customs to send the revenue steamer Lincoln to cruise for a month around Queen Charlotte sound, and to inquire for any survivor of the steamer Geo.

Bright, which was wrecked in March last in a passage to San Francisco. It is thought some of the survivors may be in that locality.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND.

NEW YORK, August 14.—Adams' Express company declared a quarterly dividend of two dollars per share, payable September first.

CASUALTIES.

THE FLOOD.

NEW YORK, August 14.—The storm continues, accompanied by light rain. Last night in the crowded cellars, in the older parts of the city, the poor had to battle with rats driven from sewers by the rising flood, and the wretched beds were surrounded by water. There has been no serious derangement of mails with the exception of the through southern mail. All due yesterday and this morning are received.

THE STORM.

The storm broke so unexpectedly on New York that ship-masters and freighters had a busy time for a while in making secure their vessels and goods exposed on the docks. About midnight several canal boats broke loose and drifted helplessly about, but none so far reported sunk. A sloop lying off Jersey City ferry-house sunk, and it is thought some of the crew were drowned.

A YOUNG LADY KILLED.

SANDUSKY, August 14.—An accident occurred within about fifteen miles of this city about 4 o'clock this afternoon, by which a young lady was killed. A small boy was shooting a shotgun. He pulled the trigger and the contents lodged in the young lady's heart, from the effects of which she soon died.

THE GALE.

NEW YORK, August 14.—The storm has ceased without doing serious damage in the city, and notwithstanding a large fleet of vessels arrived to-day, none report any serious disasters from the gale. All delayed mails have arrived at the post-office.
