Stevens vs. Brooks

Stevens to the remarks of Mr

Brooks on the bill from the Reconstruction Committee-remarks which the speaker of them has not allowed to be

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania. Mr.

Speaker, I have listened with very great pleasure (as I always do) to the golden-mouthed gentleman from New-York (Mr. Brooks,) in his attempt to prove the Bible a lie. That book says that God created "of one blood all the nations of the earth." The gentleman from New York, however, contends that there were several different varieties, and that all nations were not created "of one blood." The question t u at issue between this gentleman from New York and the author of tha sacred volume I shall not attempt to decide. It is too high for me. But, ry of the negro race from I believe, the time of the Queen of Sheba. I am not quite sure whether he included her in that race or not. But, going over the whole field from that time to this he has, I think, very well described the shape of the negro's foot, the crook of his ankle, the contour of his face .-

And then the gentleman went on to Now, does the gentleman by all this mean to say that the sons of Ethiopia-of whom the great poet of antiquity speaks as the "blameless sons of Ethiopia, among whom the gods always retired when they wished to spend an innocent and quiet hour"-have not immortal souls; that they are to be classed among "the beasts which perish," and that God, who is to judge them, will not damn him if he deserves it? (Laughter.) 1 am sorry, sir, if such has come to be the condition of that race in this country. I had thought that the members of that race had shown in our day some evidences of strength and power.

To be sure, I looked upon them as barbarians for having with their own right hands, in defense of liberty, stricken down thousands of the friends of the gentleman who has been enlightening us to-day. (Laughter.) This conduct cruelty and a barbarism which it is perhaps hard to excuse. But the gentleman must recollect that all are not equally mild in their demeanor, and that even the white man might bave done the same thing, had he been in a

As to intellect, there are various degrees of it. In that regard the gentleman from New York towers above the rest of us, though, I fear, he sometimes abuses his superiority by the declamation which he travels out of his road to inflict upon us, with regard to the various nations of the earth. But that in intellectual gifts the gentleman stands above all of us, no man who has heard him to-day, or heretofore, can deny; and I do not, I assure you, sir, speak this ironically (laughter;) for I do not know when I have heard anything more eloquat than the discourse which the learned gentleman has given us to-day. But I have one proposition ship of America I am willing to match Fred. Douglas or Langston against the gentleman from New York. I will allow the latter gentleman to select two out of three of the Judges. Let the except the negroe's shin (laughter;) and if at the end of the discussion he does not "throw up the sponge?" I will admit that the negro is an inferior animal

-not only inferior to the gentleman from New-York, but inferior to the

-There is a novelty in dress which has just been introduced by the fash-ionables of New York. It is called a "mask veil." It does not tend so much to the embellishment of ladies as to the peace of society. It conceals ugliness, semblance of youth, as long as it is kept down. It produces the effect of the well-known velvet loup worn with a domino. The pattern leaves a space free of flower or design for two sparkeves underneath. All the rest is however, and gives the aged all the rest of us. [Laughter.]
