In 1833, Truman Enos, of Norwich, Chenango county, while in this city had his pocket picked of $200. Mr. Enos offered a large reward for the recovery of the money, but without avail. But during the year 1846, thirteen years later, he received $100 by mail and an anonymous note, in which the writer acknowledged that he and another person took the money and divided it equally, and that the enclosed $100 was intended for a partial navment, and he should ultipartial payment, and he should ulti-mately pay the remainder with interest. He also added that his accomplice was dead, and perhaps he ought to pay the other half. Accordingly in 1863—seven-teen years later—Mr. Enos received another anonymous note from "one who wronged you of it," and three weeks ago received another anonymous note be received another anonymous note containing the balance—$150. The last letter was postmarked at Utica, and ran thus: "March, 1866—Sir, I mail you cash $150. I remember the promise, although it is a long time since it was made. Hope you may live to enjoy it. Can you forgive? Yours, truly." Mr. Enos is now eighty-seven years of are. Enos is now eighty-seven years of age.
