The emancipation of the slaves has brought into direct and dangerous collision the black and white races, whose prosperity and security. The presence there been so favorable an opportunity of Tennessee would powerfully second vigor and efficiency to the proposed so ciety. In our own city much may be done by means of lectures, balls, parties, etc., to raise the funds required. And your committee do not hesitate to say that if each of the Friendly Sons of St.

THE CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE.-Yesterday afternoon the circus and menageric combination so extensively advertised, gave the initial performance, followed by another last night. The time not street and 393 Main street, have received having been positively announced, the attendance was smaller than it would have been otherwise. There are eight or nine cages containing animals, some of hibitions. Prominent among them is a large Bengal tiger, one of the most beautiful of its species ever brought to the country. There are also performing lions, an elephant, Hams, hippopotamus, an extensive display of the monkey tribe, etc., the whole forming an attractive collection. As of old Dan Castello was at home in the ring, cracking Jokes by the score, and keeping the audience in constant laughter. One of the most interesting features of the circus is the equestrianship of "Little Minnie," a pretty with a grace and daring worthy of more mature years. She accomplished every thing usually given by female eques-triennes excepting the hoop exercise, and is desting to rank foremost among the female riders of the world. M'ile Pauline recently arrived from Europe, is a splendid rider; as is also Charles Fish, who does a fine act bare-back. The trapeze and acrobatic feats are very
