FITCHER—Ed. Kimble was sent to jail this morning for stealing clothing from another dairy.
RESIGNED AS OFFICER.—A man arrested yesterday took it into his head to resign the office; but the officer was too strong for him, and the attempt had the effect of increasing the fine this morning.
JUST RECEIVED fifty dozen genuine Alexandre kid gloves, at $1 75 per pair, at Rice & Engel's, 233 Main street. ↑
NO LICENSE—A saloon-keeper was caught selling liquor without license yesterday and taken to the calaboose, where he put up a forfeit for his appearance this morning, when he was fined fifty dollars.
DISORDERLY.—A man very drunk last evening became very disorderly during the night; he was consequently arrested and conveyed to the calaboose. This morning he was mulcted in a fine of $10.
H. WADE & Co., 297 Main street, have a large assortment of novels, bound and unbound.
CONCEALED WEAPONS.—Notwithstanding all that has been said about carrying concealed weapons, men will still persevere in placing six-shooters in their pockets. A man was fined $10 in police court this morning for doing so.
MADNESS.—Professor Haselmayer, the greatest wizard of the age, remains two nights longer, and all who have not seen his wonderful performances at the Greenlaw Opera House, would advise to go to-night. There will be a matinee to-morrow afternoon, in order to give children an opportunity of attending and witnessing the astonishing tricks of the canary birds, the spirit-drum and the stylocarfe.
A FINE lot of black and colored alpaca, just opened, by Rice & Engel, 233 Main street. ↑
NEW MEMPHIS THEATRE.—This is the farwell benefit night of Miss Charlotte Thompson, a deservedly great favorite with the playgoers of Memphis. She will be patronized by not only a fashionable audience, but a bumper house. The piece selected for the occasion is the sterling old English comedy of the School for Scandal, Miss Thompson appearing as Lady Teazle, Hamilton as Charles Surface, Higgins as Joseph Surface, McWade as Sir Benjamin Backbite, and Dovey as Crabtree—a splendid cast.
FINE opera cloth and trimmings at Rice & Engel's, 233 Main. 51-↑
VARIETIES.—The "stars"—Miss Lotie Mitchell, Miss G. B. Gifford and Miss Carrie Weston—are attracting large houses. To-night there will be a comic pantomime, arranged by Mr. Berry, in which the corps de ballet will exhibit new poses and pirouettes Japanese Tommy, Shakespeare Oudone and Kitty from Cork will be followed by the roving farce of Betsy Baker.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The Shelby County Agricultural Society met at the Chamber of Commerce to elect officers for the ensuing year, and finish up the business of the late fair.
A. B. Haynes, President, and H. D. Greer, Esq., Secretary, were present.
After the meeting came to order, the Chair announced that the elections of officers for the ensuing year would be proceeded with. A motion of Col. Leon Trossdale, to defer until the society resolve itself into a joint stock association and receive a charter from the Legislature, was lost.
The balloting resulted as follows:
President—M. D. L. Stewart, 23; A. B. Haynes, 15. M. D. L. Stewart was therefore elected President, and the following gentlemen as Vice Presidents: George C. Holmes, 1st; A. B. Haynes, 2d; and A. J. Hays, 3d. W. H. Lake was elected Recording, and John McBrooks, Corresponding Secretary. The Executive Committee consists of Enoch Enesley, N. C. Perkins, John Donovan, Leon Trossdale and F. Hall.
Then, on motion of Col. Trossdale, it was resolved to take preliminary steps to resolve the society into a joint stock company, and a committee, consisting of Messrs. K. J. B. L. Winn, C. A. Rose, N. C. Perkins and A. J. Hays, was appointed to secure a charter and draft a constitution.
Messrs. Enoch Enesley, Jr., George C. Holmes, and A. B. Haynes were appointed a committee of conference under a resolution to confer with the Memphis Racing Association (whose chartered name is the "Memphis Agricultural Association of Memphis") on the proposition to consolidate the two societies.
The following resolution was adopted unanimously:
Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to perfect the constitution and by-laws of the Association.
Messrs. Peters, John Donovan and John McBrooks were appointed the committee.
Messrs. Orgill Brook & Co., Mrs. A. J. Hays and Mrs. Geo. C. Holmes and Mrs. H. H. Harrison donated their premiums to the fair.
It was resolved to give a certificate with every premium; after which the Secretary announced that on Saturday at 11 a. m. he would be at Messrs. Royter, Trezevant & Co.'s to pay all premiums and give certificates.
The meeting adjourned until the first Saturday in January, at Eudora Church, White's Station, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad.

SCALLAWAG.—We are happy to know that the Germans of this city cannot be classed with the Smith and Lewis negro party. We give below a communication from responsible Germans of this place, in regard to certain scallawags who would impose themselves on the community:
EDITORS LEDGER: F. W. LOUIS, P. Esig, R. Kraft, D. Emerich, Moerger N. G. A. Comp. Who are these men? Germans! In order that all Germans may not be condemned by a few, it is just that their names be published. It is begged of our American friends not to judge the Germans in general by a few ignorant men, who do not even speak the language of their own country correctly. We are very sensible of the shame they reflect upon the Germans of Memphis by turning out night before last and showing their negro equality openly in the streets of Memphis. They are a discredit to the Germans, and are not received in any respectable circles.

CENTRAL PARK.—An immense crowd went out to Central Park last evening to see the balloon ascension. About half past four o'clock Mr. Nourse, of the firm of Nourse & Matthews, and Professor Brooks stepped into the "boat." The balloon was immediately loosened from its moorings, and up it soared in the direction of Raleigh, followed by the admiring looks of thousands of spectators. The other amusements at the Park went off very pleasantly.
H. WADE & Co., 297 Main street, have several books on the culture of different fruits.
DWELLING HOUSES AT AUCTION.—To-morrow (Saturday) at twelve o'clock, George H. Mossbratt & Co. sell at auction, on the premises, two comfortable and substantially-built dwellings, situated on the north side of Mosby street, near Jones' avenue. This is a very healthy location, and this part of the city is rapidly improving. The property must be sold to the highest bidder, regardless of the price bid, and parties desiring a first-rate, comfortable and convenient residence, in a most desirable and pleasant neighborhood, should attend this sale.

Grant a Know-Nothing.
The story has been bruited abroad for many months that General Grant was a Know-Nothing. The persistent assertion of a falsehood, that General Blair was once a member of the dark-lantern fraternity has caused Grant's relation to that order to be investigated. It is at last ascertained, beyond question, that Grant was a regular member of Wyoming council, in Carondelet township. Recently the records of this council were in existence. More recently they have been destroyed or concealed. If evidence be required of facts here recited, we can produce living witnesses who were present when U. S. Grant, enveloped in the flag of his country, swore "before God, in the presence of these witnesses, that he would never concede an effort or the right of suffrage to a foreign-born American citizen."
Colfax, as none deny, was a prominent, active member of the dark lantern proscription order, but Grant's connection with the organization has been studiously concealed. Must we ascribe the adhesion of New Englanders to Grant to the fact of his Know-Nothingism? We had deemed it enough, in accounting for the conduct of New England, to say that it was the land of bondholders and tariffs; but the development of the fact of Grant's Know-Nothingism unfolds another reason for the devotion of the East to two candidates, Grant and Colfax, both sworn enemies to the intervention of foreigners in the conduct and administration of public affairs in this country.
The importance of facts now unfolded, to which there are many living witnesses, is emphasized by Democratic candidates in this city. It is a fixed fact that Grant, as well as Colfax, was a Know-Nothing, and no living man will dare say he ever "resigned." We have, too, in facts, recited an exposition of Grant's adhesion to the dark lantern order, which thoroughly imbued with the spirit of Know-Nothingism, would have issued a decree so insulting to foreign born populations, and if New England had the courage with the order was represented by his fellow-members, the inference from his conduct led unmistakably to the conclusion. Let it not be forgotten that Grant and Colfax were burning lights when "dark lanterns" blazed most brilliantly.
An Answer to a Radical Falshood by a Radical Governor.
From the Montgomery (Ala) Mail, Oct. 25.
Gov. Wm. H. Smith, Radical Governor of Alabama, spoke at Lafayette, Chambers county, on the 14th inst. In his speech he put the following clinching denial upon the greater part of the Radical capital in trade:
Exaggerated reports may have gone North about my utterances here and the damage to Union men I have always been Union man. I never preferred anything else, and never, except from 1862 to 1865, have I been afraid to go anywhere I wanted to in this community. With that exception I have always felt safe here.
I have looked on the people of Alabama as a people who were disposed to abide by the laws, except when engaged in hostilities to the government of the United States, and I have seen represented them on all occasions. Of course there have been many violations of the law by separate characters, and I have blamed the people in some localities for not punishing offenders. Not long ago, the Legislature passed a resolution calling upon the President of the United States for troops to assist the civil authorities. This was done on account of some troubles, chiefly in the valley of the Tennessee river. I did not feel called upon to veto that resolution; but I did deem it my duty to do what they requested me, and that was to go to Washington City with the committee, and I went. I went to represent truthfully the condition of affairs in Alabama. I saw the President, and told him, as I told all the newspaper reporters, and everybody else who spoke with me on the question, that a large portion of the people, I would say more than nine-tenths, were disposed to be peaceable, quiet, law-abiding citizens; and that so far as I was concerned, I did not believe it was necessary, in very much the larger portion of the State, to have any military force for the preservation of law and order. I want to say that, so far as I am concerned, I have never misrepresented the people of this country, and I never will. I know very well that people think me for it, is no matter. It was an honest duty that I did in making these representations.
Eloquent Extract.
Writing of the closing scenes in the history of Gen. Lee's army, J. Quitman Moore, Esq., thus thrills a chord that will vibrate forever—thus bequeaths a gem to the literature of the South:
There stood the mournful remnants of that once glorious army that had dipped its conquering banners in the crimson blood of eight and twenty sanguinary battles, and strewn its heroic slain from the feet of the Pennsylvania mountains to the gate of our own capital city; that had given Manassas to Beauregard, and twined the fame of the Seven Pines' battle in the laurel wreath of Johnston; that had caused the waters of the Shenandoah eternally to murmur the fame of Stonewall Jackson, and stretching its right arm out to the distant West had planted victory on the drooping banners of Bragg; that had witnessed four gigantic campaigns and through all their shifting and tragic scenes, and under all their difficulties and dangers had remained steadfast and faithful to the last. And after having witnessed the rising of the Southern constellation, as it loomed up brightly on the horizon of war, pursuing its splendid career to the very gates of Manassas, and undimmed its declining splendor going down in the gloom of eternal night. And he, its illustrious chief, whose lofty plume was over its rallying point in battle, and round whom its affections warmly clustered, now commended it for its past devotion, bade it adieu forever. Slowly and sadly he rode from that mournful field, and the cause that he fought for was beneath the foot of power. Few were the eyes that grew not moist at witnessing that departure. It was the agony of a great cause finding expression in the subtle soul of its great defender. And though that cause be dead, yet will its memory continue to live, and ever honored will be those names that sacrificed at its shrine. And on the scrolls of fame no name among the list of Southern heroes, while his character will stand up in the twilight of history like some grand old cathedral, lifting itself in imperishable beauty above the objects of earth, majestic in its vast proportions, awful in its solemn stateliness, sublime in its severe simplicity.
