for the Unveiling of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument.

PREPARATIONS NEARLY COMPLETED

for the Proper Entertainment of the Visiting Organizations. The Official Order of the Chief Marshal,

On next Wednesday the Confederate Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument will be unveiled. Preparations are being made on a generous scale for the entertainnt of visiting veterans, military, and ther visitors, and the occasion has every indication of being one which will be long remembered for the great gathering, the deep interest and enthusiasm disown a viality and spontanelty that has hown a viality and spontaneity that has een a surprise and a spirit of respon-veness prevails that indicates a gather-ic larger than the most enthusiastic member of the committee thought pos-ble. Commitsory and quartermaster ations have been opened on Main street, tween Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, if the care of the baggage of the vis-ing veterans, and the entertainment of the organizations when they arrive,

WHO WILL BE HERE.

WHO WILL BE HERE.

A great many people will be in Richmond on the 30th. If nobody else came than the military and veteran organizations, who have declared their intention of being present, a large crowd would be on hand, but when in addition we include the many individual visitors who will come from every part of the State and the teeming thousands which will turn out, man, woman, boy, and girl, on that occasion, it is hard to overestimate the throng.

an that occasion, it is hard to occasion mate the throng.

A member of the committee who has just returned from Baltimore, says the Marylanders will come in strong force, and that the entire capacity of the beat has been engaged for the society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States of the State of Maryland, and those who will accompany them. They will arrive here on the morning of the 30th, with a band of thirty pieces over the York River line.

The Virginia Military Institute Cadets. whom it was feared could not come, will be on hand with full ranks, and their natty uniforms and precise movements will make a pretty feature of the parade. BLACKSBURG BOYS,

The same may be said of the Blacksburg Cadets.

The battalion will arrive here on Tuesday, May 20th, about 6 P. M., by special train, and will immediately go into camp at the head of Franklin street, near the Lee monument, the necessary tents having been kindiy loaned by Goverror O'Ferrall. The battalion, which will be about 200 strong, will consist of four companies and band. It will remain here until the next Friday morning. The battalion will mess at the Exposition Bullding.

Every afternoon between 6 and 7 o'clock a dress parade will be given by the battalion, under the command of Colonel Harman, and the boys are determined to put forth every effort to make the best possible impression.

The Danville Grays, under Captain J. Paul Taylor, will come on the morning of the 30th with thirty men.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 26.—The price of wheat suffered at the hands of the bears to-day. Pardridge and his following were at their old tactics, and pressing their advantage for all there was in it. There was no lack of crop news of the calamity sort, but the bulls have too often pinned their faith to them with the ultimate result of disappointment, and they felt no disposition to listen to them to-day. The news from the other side of the water was less encouraging to holders. Cash wheat was in good demand by millers and mixers. Offerings were light and prices 1/2c, lower. July wheat opened at 55%/255/3c, sold between 56c, and 55/4c, closing at 55%/255/3c, a loss of 5/40.

Corn—The same conditions existed in corn as in wheat, with one or two exceptions. The range on July was between 37%c, and 374c, and the close at 37/2/37%cc, a net loss of %/24/c. for the day. Cash corn was in good demand, Offerings were large and prices 1/2c, lower. Ours. From the lack of anything in-the day. Cash corn was in good demand.

Offerings were large and prices Mc. lower.

Oats—From the lack of anything interesting to their own market, traveled the wake of wheat and corn. The business was of the usual Saturday order, with no feature attaching. At the close July was Lc. lower. Cash oats were in fair demand, with prices Maske, lower.

Provisions had very little opportunity for improgrammer in the face of lower. Provisions had very little opportunity for improvement in the face of lower grain markets and lower prices for hogs. Local trade was very light and prices changed within narrow limits.

The Courier-Journal, of Thursday, May 24. 1894, reports the Louisville, Ky., to-bacco market as follows:
The market was strong on low grades of bright Burley. Other grades of bright and all grades of red Burley were generally firm at unchanged prices. The offerings of low grades were liberal, but all were taken up readily.
Dark tobacco is still dull and heavy. Rejections reported to-day on yesterday's sales were chiefly on darks.
A Louisville tobacco manwho has taken a swing through the Central Kentucky Burley district within the past week declares his opinion that there is more tobacco aiready set out in that region than usual at this time, that plants are abundant and the outlook for a large acreage is excellent.

the outlook for a large acreage is excel-lent.

The sales to-day were 751 hegsheads;
568 Burley, 183 dark; 628 original inspec-tion, 123 reviews. Rejections yesterday, 184.

And the issue of May 25th, 184, says;
The market was without change to day.

And the issue of May 25th, 1894, says:

Ine market was without change to-day from the prices that have ruled during the week. All grades of Burley except the lowest were active and strong. Dark tobacco was duil, except for long leaf, with plenty of body to it, of which class the offerings are limited. The sales to-day were: 618 hogsheads; 418 Burley, 200 dark; 513 original inspection, 195 reviews. Rejections yesterday, 123.

Reports of the statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture for May, 1894, says:

"Virginia—The area of wheat and tobacco will both be reduced, owing to the low prices of these products. Corn, oats, and grass will each be somewhat increased in acreage this year.

"North Carolina—There is a decided decrease in the acreage of tobacca, due to the scarcity of plants and the low price at which the crop of 1893 sold. There is a decrease in the acreage of cotton on account of low price. Because of the greater attention now given to stock-raising corn, potatoes, and the grasses will all undergo an increase in acreage.

Kentucky—The corn crop will be increased, owing to the shortage of the oat Kentucky—The corn crop will be in-creased, owing to the shortage of the oat and tobacco crops. Nearly the entire oat crop was destroyed by the march freeze."
