

THE GROCERS ARE BACK.

THEY WERE ROYALLY TREATED BY THE PEOPLE OF ATLANTA.

Mr. Beveridge Tells About the Trip, and Praises the City of Atlanta, and the People of the State.

The Richmond delegates to the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association, who left here a week ago over the Southern to attend the annual meeting of that organization, in Atlanta, returned to the city yesterday afternoon.

When seen yesterday evening in regard to the meeting, Mr. Frank D. Beveridge, president of the Richmond Wholesale Grocers' Association, said that the convention was in every respect a phenomenal success. Said he:

"Mr. Robert G. Leigh, of this city, was re-elected president by a unanimous vote and with great enthusiasm. Mr. Leigh positively declined the honor, but the convention would not hear of it. Mr. Legett, of Knoxville, Tenn., was re-elected first vice-president, and Mr. Vandiver, of Indiana, vice-president. Mr. John D. Blair, of Memphis, was elected treasurer, and Mr. E. E. Hooker, secretary."

"The headquarters will remain here for another twelve months. A motion to arrange for permanent headquarters was not carried. The delegates from Richmond were Mr. F. L. Beveridge, president of the Richmond Association; Mr. C. Younger, ex-president Richmond Association; F. M. Whittle, Jr., Herman Myers, Wirt E. Taylor, Mr. Vaughan, J. S. Moore, and C. W. Antrim."

IMPORTANT MEASURES.

"Perhaps the most important work of the convention was their action regarding pork-packers and millers, and the handling of their products. The work of the convention was considerable, but so subdivided among committees that it was handled expeditiously and well. While business was the aim and object, pleasure was not overlooked. In their own private car, stocked with viands selected by a competent committee, they journeyed in much comfort; and in the city of Atlanta they were the recipients of a generous hospitality, being entertained first at a luncheon at the Capital City Club, again at a banquet at the Aragon Hotel, and also at a luncheon at the Exposition grounds. An invitation to an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue had to be declined as the hour was not suitable for attendance."

THE BANQUET.

"At the banquet the Governor of the State and Mayor of the city, and president of the Atlanta Wholesale Grocers' Association, all made eloquent addresses of welcome, and splendid speeches, which were replied to by various members of the convention with equal grace and eloquence."

"The annual address of President Leigh was one of great academic power, and thought, containing many practical and valuable suggestions, and was enthusiastically received by the convention."

Atlanta itself is a city of much beauty, thrift, and energy, and here people are justly proud of her. The coming exposition is progressing well, and they feel confident of having not only a big show but a big attendance."

CLEVELAND'S MAGIC NAME.

"The Atlanta Constitution of last Friday, speaking of the meeting of the association, says:

A sensation was created in the meeting of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association this afternoon, when Captain J. H. Martin, of Memphis, the largest wholesale dealer in groceries in the South, exclaimed, in the course of a speech: 'I am Cleveland, President of the United States, receiving a salary of $50,000. He should be receiving one of $100,000, and be elected for life.'"

This statement was made while the officials' salaries were under discussion. Hardly had the words been uttered, when cheer after cheer fairly shook the walls of the building and reached to the street beyond. Time and again President Leigh rapped for order, but the shout still went up, while the men waved their hats wildly, applauding the sentiment so expressive of their individual convictions. It was several minutes before business simmered down to its ordinary channel, and even then men talked the happening over among themselves and paid little heed to the subsequent speeches. A canvass of the members of the association, who represent the leading cities of the South, showed them to be practically unanimous in support of President Cleveland's financial policy."

SOUTH CAROLINA EDITORS HERE.

Received by the Governor and entertained by the Press Club.

The South Carolina Press Association reached Richmond yesterday morning on the 3:45 Atlantic Coast Line train on its annual northern tour. The party, who are registered at Ford's Hotel, consists of the following newspaper men:

Messrs. E. H. Hall, president of the association; H. G. Green, vice-president; C. C. Langston, secretary; H. C. Moses, Marion Morris, Abe Rythenbury, M. Stachhouse, James T. Bacon, W. H. W. Cheatham, T. C. Robinson, C. W. Birchmore, J. A. Marston, General R. R. H. H. Hill, L. C. H. H. Hill, J. E. Norment, J. E. Norment, Colonel J. J. Dargatz, O. H. Abraham, C. H. Prince, M. B. At 1 o'clock the Old Dominion Press Club committee, consisting of Messrs. J. Woodfin and Norvel, assisted by Mr. Everett Waddley, took the gentlemen in charge. The City Hall and the Capitol building were visited, after which the party returned to the hotel for dinner.

The afternoon was spent at West End base-ball park, where the game between Richmond and Lynchburg was witnessed.

At 8:30 o'clock Governor O'Ferrall received the visiting and Executive mansion. The South Carolinians were charmed with the Governor and his gracious wife, and expressed themselves as being delighted with the cordial reception.

From 9 to 12 P. M. the visitors were entertained by the Old Dominion Press Club, at its rooms on Tenth and Bank streets. Refreshments were served by Mr. Chris. Evensen, and a thoroughly good time enjoyed by all. The entertainment was in every way informal, but heart in the evening vocal music was acceptably rendered by some of the guests, and speeches made by Captain R. H. Frayser, Hon. Marion Morris, of South Carolina, and others.

Some of the visitors will visit Rev. John Jasper's church this morning to hear that celebrity deliver his famous "Sun-dew" sermon, while others will attend divine services at other churches. The party will leave to-night for Washington, D. C.

Henry C. Jenks died at his late residence, 52 east Clay street, at 1:30 P. M. yesterday in the sixty-fourth year of his age. He leaves a wife and two sons—Messrs. William H. and Warring Jenks. Mr. Jenks married Miss Virginia B. Hicks, daughter of Major Benjamin A. Hicks, a soldier of the war of 1812. Interment at Oakwood at 5 P. M. Sunday.

FREDERICK SCHRIEVER DEAD.

BALTIMORE, MD., June 1.—Frederick Schriever, who was identified for twenty years with Baltimore shipping interests, died with bronchial pneumonia at his home last night. Mr. Schriever was the Baltimore agent of the Philadelphia Steamboat Company and the New York and Baltimore Transportation Company, was well known throughout the North and South. Socially he had a wide circle of friends here and elsewhere. He was forty-two years of age.

PIERRE LEGRAND DEAD.

PARIS, June 1.—M. Pierre Legrand, deputy and formerly Minister of Commerce, is dead; aged sixty-one years.

COL. J. FERDINAND ZEILINGER-CARACENTI.

The late Colonel Ferdinand Zeilinger-Caracenti (son of Herr Von Zeilinger, of Austrian Ministry of Interior), a retired member of the Imperial Engineering Corps of the Austrian service, and for twenty-five years a resident of Virginia, died at his home at Granite, Va., on the 26th instant. He was a nephew of Baron Von Hess, the renowned Austrian field marshal, and was a graduate of Halle, the military school of that country. He was associate engineer in the building of the Austrian-Russian railroad, and in Europe held many positions of trust, and at one time received special mention from the Emperor.

He was related to the best families of Austria, and during his residence in Europe held a high social position.

Migrating to the United States he came to Richmond in 1871, and has lived in Virginia ever since, devoting his time mostly to engineering and architecture. Among the first buildings that he planned are the Richmond High School and the Catholic School. His last effort was the drawing of the plans for the Moore Memorial church.

Through his influence at the Roman and Austrian courts Mr. Kelley was rejected as United States minister.

He leaves a wife and three sons—Carlo T. Zeilinger, of New York; Alberico Zeilinger, now occupied in South American exploring for a rich New York company, and Virgilus Zeilinger, who lived with his father and mother.

Col. Caracenti was prominent in effecting the independence of Austria-Italy, and in this course lost much of his prestige with the Austrian Government, which led to his removing to America, and his assuming the name of the Italian branch of his family. Herr John Zeilinger, of Alabama, a retired officer of the Austrian army, is a brother of the late Von Zeilinger-Caracenti, and his brother-in-law.

Dr. Pellissarr is the Secretary of the Treasury for Austrian Tyrol.
