An Election Contest Dismissed.

An Election Contest Dismissed.

COLIMBBIA, S. C., July 6.—The Supreme Court to-day decided the election contest case brought by Mr. Butler eight months ago, and argued last December. The majority of the court, the two associate justices, Gary and Pope, rendered opinions dismissing the case, on the ground of a lack of jurisdiction, the other on the ground that the complainant had adequate remedy at law; otherwise, Chief Justice McIver, who has been on the Supreme bench for years, and is regarded as one of the most eminent jurists of the State, filed a dissenting opinion, holding that the court has jurisdiction, and declaring the registration law unconstitutional, nulf-and void, on practically the same grounds as Judge Goff.

LEXINGTON, N. C., July 6.-Special .-The second cay's proceedings of the Shemwell trial were devoid of anything startling or sensational. The crowd was perceptibly smaller, due, perhaps, to the hot wave, which came this way to-day.

Merdisahall was recalled, and gave some additional testimony as to distances from various points where witnesses stood when the shooting occurred. Fletcher Canole testified that he saw he shooting from across he street and aid Shemwell had a pistol in each hand and thinks he fired both.

W. B. Hamner, a namess maker, whose shop is nearly opposite the scene of the tragedy, corroborated nearly all of the tostimony of Dr. R. Lee Payne, which was given yesterday.

John W. Lee, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, next testified, but his evidence was not important.

D. B. Cutrell and J. D. W. Battle, two travelling men, who happened to be here the day of the tragedy, were the next witnesses, but beyond seeing Shemwell with a pistol going towards the Paynes they knew nothing.

Junius L. Michael, chief of police, next took the witness stand and gave a letailed account of the affair, identifying all the pistols. Michael was on the stand over three hours.

G. W. Melton and Charlle Christman, eye witnesses of the homicide, next testified, corroborating the other witnesses in many points, and the latter claimed to have seen both of Shemwell's pistols smoking after the tragedy occurred.

The State will, perhaps, close its testimony by noon Monday.

NORTH STATE POLITICS.

Republicans Divided on the Silver Question Plans of the Fusionists. RALEICH, N. C., July 6.—Special.—

RALEICH, N. C., July 6.—Special.—
The way in which the North Carolina Republicans are keeping quiet is remarkable, and almost seems to show that they are under instructions or advice to say little. They seldom alliade to the sliver question, which is hourly discussed by he Democrats, and must be waiting to see what their leaders intend doing. They laugh at the idea of fusion of the Populists and Democrats, and say the latter have too greatly estranged the Populists by abuse to ever get in line with them.

With them.
Yet, stranger things have happened.
An ex-secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, who took an active part in the free-silver meeting in Executive Committee, who took an active part in the free-silver meeting in this city, said to-day: "Pepulists and Democrats meet on an equal footing at that meeting. I regard this new movement for their fusion as a logical sequence of that meeting, nor am I surprised to hear that some Democrats favor such fusion. I know others oppose it bitterly and hate a Populist even more than they do a Republican. But still it seems to me the seed were sown at that meeting."

The Republicans are really divided on the sliver question. One of their leaders says 85 per cent. of them are for it. He adds that that is the percentage of its advocates in all the parties. The "gold mon" declare that these heavy figures are all over-estimates, that their strength is greater than the sliver men believe, and that they are gaining. They further claim that the silver men are doing all the talking these days, and that this decives the superficial observer.

The negroes are dividing a little on the question of continuance of fusion with the Republicans. One paper comes out strongly against any further fusion. The Fusionists declare that this paper is helped by Democratic money, and that the negroes are all in favor of more fusion. The Fusionists want to get control of the State government next year, and to do this some of them declare they are entirely willing to sacrifice their electoral ticket. They give as a reason election, and all the control of the State government next year, and to do this some of them declare they are entirely willing to sacrifice their electoral ticket. They give as a reason and to do this some of them declare their are entirely willing to sacrifice their electoral ticket. They give as a reason for this that North Carolina's vote will not affect the result nationally this like the result nationally the result nationally the result nationally the result nationally this like the result nationally this like the result nationally this like the result nationally the result natio

There are straightout Republicans who want to shake off the alliance with the Populists. There are others who believe the Populists are now so committed to and entangled with the Republican party. the Populists are now so committed to and entangled with the Republican party that they cannot free themselves. Marion Butler, who is declared to be the political lord of the Populists will, to a large degree, regulate all these matters. He will give the word for action. The Republicans laugh at Butler for his intimation that his party can now, unaided, carry the State next year, and say that if three tickets are put up, as in 1852, the Democrats will win by 30,000 votes. The Republicats who want fusion also make the declaration that it must continue, as the great majority of their party favor it. While startling changes may occur, the odds are now in favor of such continuence. Butler may be at heart more of a Democrat than a Republican, and has lately become much more friendly with Democrats, while their tone in speaking of him is a shade more kindly, but he is simply locking for the surest way to win. If he sees a course, any course, which leads to Populist excess in the State, he will follow it. He is head and shoulders above any man in this State of his party in astuteness and grasp of situation. Some of the Populists express distrust of Democrats.

The Closing Day of the Mid-Summer

The Closing Day of the Mid-Summer Meeting.

BALTIMORE, MD., July 6.—Fast time and close fluishes in the two events of the lay marked the close of the missummer meeting at the Gentlemen's Driving Park. The 2:35-class trot was declared off for want of time. The favorites were more successful to-day than at any time luring the meeting. Soudan, the choice in the 3:15 trot, wen the three last heats handly after Pantomine had captured the first. The bay mare Happiness rejected this performance in the 3:19 pace.

DAMAGING TESTIMONY.

She was out-footed for the first heat by Ellis West, but won out with ease, getting in a new mark in the second heat, when she went a mile in 2:171-4.

The bay mare Ida, or, as she is rightly known, Nellie B., by Earnest, with a mark of 2:163-4, but who was discovered to be a ringer, was expelled from all association tracks to-day. The same punishment was meted out to C. B. Brown, of Greenfield, Ohlo, and T. Hannaghan, of Wheeling, W. Va., her alleged owners, and R. Hall, her driver. Summaries:

The Late Mrs. O'Leary.

Mrs. O'Leary is dead. This statement would fail to produce any adequate impression upon the people generally were it not coupled with the additional information that Mrs. O'Leary was the proprietress of the obstroperous cow which, during the process of milking, kicked over a lantern and started the conflagration that wheel out Chicago twenty-four years ago. The demise of Mrs. O'Leary, by reason of this connection, is of some importance.

with small white stones, funders, sapplines, and emeralds, all of the purest water. A band of large yellow diamonds encircles the throat, each set in smaller white stones. Below this band is placed a floriated design in small white diamonds and colored stones, extending in deep points. Between each of these ponts is suspended an immense yellow diamond set in white diamonds, and attached to the upper part of the necklace by a ruby emerald, or sapphire.

There are five of these pendants, the central one being the largest, and having once figured in the collection of the Duke of Brunswick. This magnificent ornament is accompanied by a comb, a brooch, and earrings to match, and the necklace itself can be converted into pins, hair ornaments, etc., while the upper row of diamonds can be worn as a necklace, without the pendant and the pointed floriated band. 6.-Multitudes ashore and affoat saw the great cutters Valkyrie III., Britannia, and Alisa, battle to-day over the course of the Royal Clyde Yacht Club for Her Majesty's cup valued at 100 guineas. The sky was cloudless, and there was a gentle breeze from the South, making the first leg of the contest from the club-house off Hunters' Quay to the mark boat off Skelmorlie, a distance of seven miles, dead to windward work. The appearance of the yachts at the starting point evoked much enthusiastic, admiration from the immense assemblage. Each racer had out her largest club topsail, or jack-yarder, as it is known here. The starting gun was fired at 10:30. Valkyrie won by fifteen minutes.

In her race with the cutters Britannia and Alisa to-day for the Queen's cup the Valkyrie III. demonstrated what has been conceded by the yachting experts, that she is a marvel in light weather, She beat the Britannia through a smooth sea in a southerly wind that was of varysea in a southerly wind that was of varying force but was never strong, by fourteen minutes and twenty seconds corrected time. The Alisa, which received an

A Perfect-Fitting Paper Pattern of this Garment May be Obtained by Filling in the Coupon Provided Below and Malling it with TEN CENTS to the Pattern Department of "The Times,"

The sailor collar, with square fronts forming revers, is the new feature of this season's receives. They are fitted with the usual saams in the back, the fronts being loose and agamless.

The model is used for costumes of serge cheviots, etc., as well as for separate fackets. For the latter plain cloths are preferred for older girls: A stylish coat of brown had the collar light-brown silk in leather color with buttons of the same. For a seaside or mountain garment, red cloth is much used.

A jacket of mixed cheviot, in light brown, with a skirt to match, makes the most serviceable of costumes for general wear.

Serges of all colors are used for the zame sort of costume. One of blue had the collar in red cloth, with trimming of blue braid.

Waists of coton, cheviot, chambray, linens, etc., are worn with these suits.

The jacket is cut in four sizes, for girls of 10, 12, 14, and 15 years of age. About 21/4 yards of 42-inch, or 21-s of 14-linch material is needed.
