BIGGEST DINNER IN STATE AT HOSPITAL.

MORRISTOWN, Nov. 30.—Probably the largest Thanksgiving dinner in the state of New Jersey was prepared by David Watt, the chef at the State Hospital for the insane at Morris Plains, and his thirty assistants in the four kitchens of that institution.

One ton and a quarter of turkeys were roasted for the one thousand seven hundred and eighty people who partook of the repast. Cranberry sauce by the half-barrel was served and four barrels of mince meat were used in the mince pies. Barrel upon barrel of potatoes were used and hundreds of bunches of celery.

This evening the attendants and patients that were able enjoyed a vaudeville entertainment given by some of the top notchers in the profession from New York.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED HIM

Policeman's Daughter Put Five Bullets Into Briggs--Warned Him Before She Did It.

THORNTON, R. I., Nov. 30.—Ethel Smith, the little fifteen-year-old daughter of Special Policeman Leader Smith, is under arrest at the home of Chief of Police Howland Kimball here charged with killing Elmer Briggs, a resident of this town.

The circumstances of the killing were such that after being obliged to arrest the child Kimball took her to his house, gave her a Thanksgiving dinner and declared that she would not go to jail so long as she was under his jurisdiction.

The tragedy was the culmination of an estrangement between Briggs and his wife. About two weeks ago Briggs is alleged to have deserted his wife, leaving her without means to support herself and her three small children. Special Officer Smith, who is a well known farmer, took pity upon the destitute woman, and he and his wife received Mrs. Briggs and her children into their home and were arranging to send them to the home of Mrs. Briggs' brother, who lives in Natick.

During the absence of Smith, Briggs arrived at the Smith house and demanded admission, which was refused by Charles Halliday, a colored cook, the only man about the premises at the time. Briggs threatened to make trouble, and Halliday started to bring Chief of Police Kimball to the scene, leaving in the house Mrs. Briggs and her children. Mrs. Smith and Ethel The women and children, fearing that Briggs would force an entrance, locked all the doors and windows and built barricades of chairs.

Ethel procured her father's revolver, a .32 caliber weapon. As soon as Halliday was out of sight Briggs again demanded admittance. This being refused, he drew a large carving knife from beneath his coat and cut away the netting from the screen on the front door. He then smashed a pane of glass in the door, reached his arm on the inside, turned the key in the lock and threw back the bolt.

As he started to enter the house Ethel warned him that she would shoot. Briggs paid no attention to the child's words, and as he forced the door open the little girl fired two shots at him, both bullets lodging in his body. Briggs hesitated for a moment and then kept on. The child fired three more shots, every bullet taking effect, and Briggs staggered back and fell dead on the steps.

Chief Kimball was obliged to arrest the child, but all of those who were at the house at the time of the shooting say that when Briggs approached the house he was muttering threats to kill his wife and children.

DANA SOCIETY HAD PLAY AND DANCING

First of a Series of Monthly Affairs Held Wednesday Night in Dana Hall.

The Dana Relief Society held an entertainment Wednesday night in Dana hall. It was the first of a series to be given monthly throughout the winter months.

The play presented Wednesday night was entitled "A Servant Wanted." It was given in the Danish language. Those who took part were: Sophus Knudsen, Nes Knudsen, R. P. Lauritsen, A. C. Koyen and E. J. Olson. Following the play the floor was cleared and dancing commenced. Refreshments were served.

The next concert and entertainment will take place in the latter part of December.

ARCADÉ WILL OPEN TOMORROW NIGHT.

According to present arrangements the Palace Arcade at 160 Smith street will open its doors to the public at 7 o'clock tomorrow night. The place is now nearly ready and the seats are in place. It is estimated that the large room in which moving pictures will be shown on a screen, will seat about 250 people. In the near future an arcade, consisting of numerous penny novelty machines, will be put in use on the second floor. One of the local promoters of the company that is in charge of the new amusement place, said today that only first class pictures would be used, and that a professional pianist and illustrated song singer would be included at the performances, which will be given at half hour intervals.

The admission to the picture show will be five cents, but when the arcade is in use on the second floor, no charge will be made to that part of the building.

MEAT CAUSES ROW.

Dissension Over Butcher Shops Results in Split in Paterson.

PATERSON, Nov. 30.—After a long session in this city, it was announced yesterday that the Hebrew Ecclesiastical Board of the United States has decided that the Congregation B'nai Brith shall abolish the two kosher butcher shops which it recently established; that the orthodox congregations of the city must subscribe $1,000, in consideration of which a local rabbi shall remove to another city, and that three of the five authorized slayers of kosher meat at present employed here must be removed and three others appointed.

Until recently almost all the kosher meat used here was killed in New York city. There was only one orthodox rabbi in the city, he being connected with the Congregation Ahamah Joseph. A local house undertook to supply kosher meat, a rabbi coming to the city daily to oversee the slaughtering. There was no trouble until the Congregation B'nai Brith decided to have a rabbi for its own place of worship. The new rabbi had not been here long when he announced that the laws of the church had been disregarded in the preparation of kosher meat. This caused dissension in the church. Although most of the congregation stood by the rabbi, fifty members decided to sever their relations. Those who remained loyal, together with the rabbi, proceeded to open two butcher shops for the sale of meat that had been properly slaughtered. The seceders planned to establish a church of their own and began to look for a suitable site. Then the other orthodox congregations took a hand in the matter and tried to effect a settlement of the dispute, but, failing, called on the Ecclesiastical Board to decide the question. The decision of the board settles the kosher meat question, but it has no effect on the split in the Congregation B'nai Brith, as the members who bolted have decided to form a new congregation.

NO CONTEST PROPOSED SAYS W. B. GOURLEY.

PATERSON, Nov. 30.—State Chairman William B. Gourley declares that he was not present at any so-called conference of democrats in New York last Tuesday night at which it was decided to make contests for the seven assembly seats held by republicans from Monmouth, Middlesex and Cape May counties. He says he knows nothing of any such conference, and if it was held he was not aware of it. Stories of the meeting had it that Mr. Gourley presided and that it was decided to make the contests for the purpose of winning enough votes to elect a democrat as the successor of United States Senator Dryden. He says he was not out of the city on that day or night.

"No such conference was proposed by me for New York city or elsewhere," said the chairman, "and we do not contemplate making an effort to unseat republican assemblymen from Middlesex, Monmouth and Cape May. The story is silly from beginning to end and must have originated in the brain of some joke writer."

GILLETTE HAD LONELY DAY.

Herkimer Prisoner Alleged to Have Made a Confession-- Talks of the Tragedy.

HERKIMER, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Chester E. Gillette, the young man now on trial here charged with the murder of Grace Brown, his sweetheart, spent a lonely Thanksgiving day in his cell in the county jail. He received no visitors, his keepers having been given strict orders to permit no one to go to his cell. But even in his loneliness Gillette welcomed the respite from the trying ordeal which began in earnest Wednesday when he went on the witness stand to tell his own story of that tragic day on Big Moose lake. For nearly seven hours he withstood a volley of questions, at first friendly, when his counsel had him in hand, and later antagonistic, when the district attorney faced him for the long cross examination. Gillette was tired, worn and very pale when the adjournment was taken, and even the severest part of the questioning remained.

The holiday gave the youthful prisoner an opportunity to regain his composure and to fortify himself for the real struggle, which will come when the cross examination is resumed.

There are different opinions here as to the effect of his testimony Wednesday. Some are firm in the belief that by his story the prisoner lost his battle for freedom and that a verdict of murder, at least in the second degree, is almost sure to follow. Others, however, assert that Gillette's story accounted for almost every bit of testimony which the district attorney brought forth and explained the prisoner's every act. One thing is certain, however, which is that whether or not the prisoner convinced the jury that he was not directly responsible for Grace Brown's death, he did convince every one in the courtroom that he was indirectly responsible for it.

In his cross examination the district attorney made Gillette acknowledge that he accomplished the girl's ruin after repeated resistance on her part. Gillette also said that talk of marriage had never come up between them, and his own story established the fact that it was because she was desperate because of her condition and the circumstances which Gillette had brought upon her that she jumped into the lake to her death.

Relentlessly waving a powerful chain of evidence around Gillette, District Attorney Ward today played the prosecution's trump card at the resumption of the trial in the testimony of a Herkimer jail attaché who is said to have overheard the prisoner tell his lawyers that he had struck the girl after her plunge into the water.

GLoucester's Convent.

Bishop and Many Priests in Interesting Ceremony.

The handsome new convent of St. Mary's parish, Gloucester, was blessed yesterday by Bishop James A. McFall, of the diocese of Trenton, assisted by about twenty priests, in the presence of a large gathering of people of the city. The ceremony began with a high mass in St. Mary's church, with Rev. A. E. Scully, celebrant; Rev. P. J. Peter, of Atlantic City, deacon; Rev. E. C. Griffin, of Trenton, sub-deacon; Rev. D. J. Dubugan, of Bordentown, and Rev. Maurice Bric, of Camden, deacons of honor, and Rev. Charles J. Geise, the pastor of the church, arch priest, and with other visiting priests assisting.

At the close of the mass the congregation, preceded by about a dozen sisters of St. Dominic and the children of the parochial school, marched from the church to the convent, a couple of squares distant, at Ridge-way and Sussex streets. The bishop and attending clergy entered and the building was blessed with a beautiful and impressive ceremony. The bishop appeared on the front steps and blessed a large concourse of people grouped about with bared heads.

The convent is of brick, with brownstone trimmings, three-stories high and of broad dimensions. It cost about $25,000. It will be occupied by the Sisters of St. Dominic, who have lived for many years in a frame building adjoining, and which was built many years ago. This will soon be removed from the spot and its site will be used as a playground.
