THE MISER'S LESSON. Jonas Pray was born stingy; he hid his sweetmeats from his little brothers when he was a child.

Our Ohio.

Salutations. From the Brooklyn Eagle. Salutations in some countries have very dissimilar characteristics, and it may not be uninteresting to explain a few of them.

The Habit of Wasto.

Said a most successful merchant a day or two since to a lad who was opening a parcel. "Young man, untie those strings—don't cut them."

There is a limit to woman's patience. This suggestion wounded Sara's. She started to her feet, and gathering up her bonnet and shawl, walked out of the room.

What's in a Name?

"What's in a name?" asked her. "Is there ought that I can do?" "My poor mother bought it at an auction. She meant to use it as a corset; but it's a very pretty gown, don't you think, Sara, and such nice material."

Be Thoughtful.

It was Carlyle who said, "Genius is an immense capacity for taking trouble," and George Eliot gives the same thought in other words.

Years Afterwards.

Years afterwards the judge, coming to look at the work, found the boards were planned and the fence finished with exceeding neatness.
