stupor, and I can't rouse her! The scoundrels! What have they done to the poor thing?"

Mona glanced around her desperately seeking for some method to open the door. As her eyes fell on the stairway, he fell back with a gasp of dismay, he fell back with a gasp of dismay, Madame Sutro and the attendant were halfway down the stairs—and escape was impossible! The same instant the proprietress of the Beauty Parlors caught sight of the girl, and raised her voice in a shrill command.

"There is the girl, Sam! Grab her, while I call Dan!" She darted back up the stairs, while the man, springing toward Mona, caught her arm in a vise-like grip. As Mona staggered back, the door, behind which she had heard Mary's voice, swung open, with the aid of the skeleton key from Carson, and Mary sprang into the hall, pulling after her the fainting form of a young woman of about 20, who stared about her her leisely.

The attendant, Sam. swore at the sight, and raising his voice in a call for reinforcements, thrust Mary back, with her companion, and caught Mona before she could reach the stairs. Two more attendants from the upper rooms, appearing at that moment, Mona was hurried down the hall to a room at the extreme end, and heard the door within the summent when every second.

hurried down the hall to a roem at the extreme end, and hear the door belied behind her as she was shoved within.

It was a moment when every second counted. With a wild thought of her police whistle, she darted across to the window. Before she could reach it, the door behind her opened again, and Dan Slatern sprang into the room.

"You traitrees!" he snarled. "So you thought you could put one over on me! I'll teach you not to try a trick like that again!"

Mona struggled in vain to free herself from his embrace. The two staggered back and forth across the room, the girl fighting like a wild cat as she saw the desperate odds against her. A table fell over with a crash, and Slatern tripped against it with an oath. At the opportunity. Mona sprang toward the window, seized a heavy water pitcher from a shelf, and sent it crashing through the panes. There was a shate the police whistle to her lips Slaterite arms caught her again, and the struggle commenced anew. But it was of only short duration.

From above there came the sound of a battering ram against the outside door, and a hearse command to open in the name of the law.

Slatern threw Mona from him, and made for the door. But he was too late.

"Hands up!" called a sharp voice, and Casper Carson, with two deputies at his shoulders, faced the Boss with a drawn revolver.

"Where is Mary?" colled Mona, weakly.

"Here I am!" And Mary Burnett with her hair loosened, and her eyes glistening, slipped through the open way, and into the other's arms.

Before Mona could ask for her story, hewever, Mary dragged her back into the same vague stare in her eyes, "I have heard enough from her to send Slatern to the penitentiary for life!" said Mary excitedly. "Her name is Helen Mintern—a stenographer in Slatern's office. Slatern discovered that she had found out too much about his methods, and that she was apt to be dangerous—so he kidnapped her bod-liy."

Mona whirled. "Where is Slatern's the demanded.

FIVE GAMES IN DAUPHIN-PERRY

Double-Headers at Newport and Millersburg; Duncannon Awarded Protested Game

Marysville, Pa., July 13. — Unless Jupiter Pluvius interferes to-morrow, five good games can be expected in the Dauphin-Perry league. All of the teams except Duncannon and Marysville are booked for double-headers. Hallfax plays two games at Newport, Dauphin two at Millersburg and Marysville and Duncannon are booked for a single bill at Duncannon.

At a league meeting this week, a protested Millersburg victory was thrown out and the game awarded to Duncannon. As a result of this ruling, the positions of these two teams are reversed, Millersburg dropping to the cellar and Duncannon going into fifth place.

reversed, Milersburg dropping to the cellar and Duncannon going into fifth place.

The games of real interest to-morrow are those at Newport. Both teams are going at a good clip and Halifax is making a strong bid for this year's pennant. Newport will probably use Emerick in the box in one game and Frankhouse in the other. Reeder will catch. Manager Koppenhaver will have "Old Man" Harry Blever try to do the "iron man" stunt and hurl both games. Dusty Rhoads will catch.

At Millersburg, Dauphin and Millersburg has struck a fast clip lately and should pull out of the cellar. Heffelfinger and Kline will probably pitch and Buffington will catch. Manager Lyter will probably send in Finnen and Gilday to hurl for his Dauphin Hustlers and Kline will catch. There is a probablity that Lutz will be used behind the bat.

At Duncannon, the Marysville Champs will clash with the team of that place. Manager Harry Stees of Marysville will use "Old Reliable" Wertz in the box and Kurzenknabe will catch. Gibson, the Wenonah Milltary Academy hurler, will pitch for Duncannon and Dearolf will catch.

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 14. — Sensa-ional rumors in connection with the incinnati club reached a climax yes. terday when it was reported that the club would be sold in a short time. Manager McGraw, of the New York team, declared last night that Charles Herzog would be purchased by the Glants. He says that Herzog is on the market and that he will outbid any club in the country for him.
