ing, and 83c selling. Union bank is firm at 77c buying, and 80@82c selling.

Southern bank notes are very dull, and only a few of the best banks find ready sale. Nashville corporation checks are rather dull at 8c discount. There are a great many offered for sale.

Tennessee bonds sold in New York on the 28th ult. as follows: $35,000 ex-conpons at 69 jc, and $10,000 new at 69 jc.

The Messrs, Satterthwait, of London, have the following paragraph in their circular of the 9th ult. in regard to United States 5-20s :

"We have to note increased activity in the London market for American securities during the past week. The recent importation of United States 5-20s appear to have been well taken on both home and confinental demand, and the closing price for the next settlement, 70 76%, shows an advance of nearly two per cent, on the week. The 1865 issue of these bonds has recently been introduced on this market. They are identical with the 1862 issue, excepting that they have three more years to run. The first quotations gave a profit of $2 per cent, by exchanging the currier for the more years. the earlier for the more recent dates, so that many holders for permanent investment made the exchange. The steek imported, however, having been absorbed, quotations have more nearly approximated, and now not more than 11/2 per cent. difference exists."

range now is from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 as the following will show: blaes. This is still considerably over the Southern estimate, which placed the crop at 1,250,000 to 1,500,000 bales. There are wery intelligent gentlemen connected with the cotton trade in the South and with its production, who think the yield will be below the lowest estimate. The Columbus (Ga.) San of the 29th ult, has this paragraph in regard to the crop:

"Northern correspondents are still asserting that over half the crop of 1850 will be produced, and speak glowingly of the late line weather being so propitious to picking. We believe there has been as much land planted in this section, as many freedmed in proportion worked, and farmers have had as propitious seasons. If not more so, as any section in the South, and yet where a man has made halfa crop, his case is a rare exception. From September 1st to November 28th, there have been received in Columbus 16,417 bales; in 1859 from September 1st to November 28th, 61,79 bales, Cotton this year has been hurried to market faster than ever was known. Eacts like these should be trusted, not expand statements of superficial correspondents."

The New York Shipping List of the 24th anst., commenting upon the cotton crop, its prospects, and the prospective international trade in the staple, remarks :

"In England, spinners, speculators and capitalists continue to watch the course of the staple in this country with intense interest. Thus, not withstanding that the new crop in Egypt amounts to some 600,000 bales, that the growth in India and Brasil is expected to be fully equal to last season, and that Laneaushire has ample supplies of cotton on hand, the future value of cotton in the United Kingdom seems to depend upon the netual production in the United States. The popular estimate in England of the American crop is 2,000,000 bales, and they count upon drawing 1,000,000 bales, hence, to be made up in part, of the old crop on hand at the close of the late cotton year. With these figures as a basis, English spinners entertain no apprehension that future supplies will fall short of their wants, even though both the home and foreign trade that future supplies will fall short of their wants, even though both the home and foreign trade should increase. The quantity of cotton held in England is about 900,000 bales, against less than half that quantity in 1855. They are also importing freely from various quarters, and there is quite an average quantity affoat from the fast. In speculation this year, there has a son a great falling off in England, so that the trade is to some extent, free from excitement. All kinds of cotton goods, too, have been reduced in price, and this, in connection with the depressed state of the trade in the manufacturing districts. state of the trade in the manufacturing districts, would seem to point to a lower range of prices than anticipated by many, on both sides of the Atlantic.

Gold opened in New York yesterday at 141½, was 141½ at 11:30, 141 at 12:30, and closed at 141½ at 4 p. m. Brokers here were buying small lots at 139@140, and holding at 141@142.

Government securities are as follows:

The market is already overstocked, and under an average arrival of 500 head per week in excess of the receipts one pear ago, the stock in excess of the receipts are about 1,000 head per week in excess of the arrivals last fall, and under the influence of arrivals last fall, and under the influence of the people week in excess of the except secretion of the year, large exports were made; the decline arrivals last year, the decline reached only ½ of a sents per pound lower than last year, the decline reached only ½ of a sents per pound lower than last year, the decline reached only ½ of a sents per pound lower than last year, the decline reached only ½ searon of the year, large exports were made; this year cargoes that were sent out early in the summer are now returned from Europe and thrown back upon the shippers. A decline of 1/2 cents per pound live weight, has sent the frace fully 6 cents below what it was last year, when the receipts were $,000 less per week than when the receipts were 5,000 less per week than they now are, and an active extent demand afforded a ready market to holders. Prices then, between the middle of August and the 15th of November, advanced 2 cents per pound. The present high price of corn is formus heavy supplies of hogs on the market, and it is believed prices will experience a still further decline, and force holders to sell at heavy sacrifices.

"Pork has tumbled from $33 to $22 per barrel, and it now $10.50 below the prices of same time last year. The market is very unsettled, and is doomed to still further reductions.

Lard is 12 to 14 cents per pound lewer than at this time last year. Shipments are returned from England, and large supplies are coming in from the West. Prices have gone down 6 cents during the past three months, and must go still lower.

New York, Saturday, December 1.—There is more of animation in the dry goods trade to-day than for several days previous. There were more buyers in the market yesterday evening and this morning than usual at the last of the week or so soon after holidays. The St. Louis Republican of Friday anys: The St. Louis Republican of Friday says:

"As navigation is about closing in the uppear streams our merchants generally show a disposition to make a general clearing of their order books, and we noticed yesterday a more brisk show of business around the landings of the Keokuk packets and Missouri river steamers than his been noticed at any previous time this fall. The lateness of the season has apparently influenced the Illinois river shipping merchants, as we learn of large quantities of produce awaiting shipment on the banks of that stream to this port. Freights for the lower Mississippi continue abundant. We notice that nearly all of our New Orleans packets are taking out barges. The Tennessee river, as we stated yesterday. It is a generally admitted fact that the plan now

Sell Higher than Any Other Method,

It draws together all the buyers in this and many other markets, the competition between whom insures the highest market price for each bale offered. Each bale is before the buyer, so that he can see its condition, with a sample fully drawn, showing its quality.

For the owner either in person, or through his azent, has the right to reject the sale when the price is not satisfactory, as These advantages are secured to the Planter with the same expense of selines as under the old These advantages are secured to the Planter with the same expense of selling as under the old system. The universal satisfaction given to all who have ever tested this system is proof that this is par excellence the best that can be had, replicitly
