The Daily Bulletin.

Wednesday Morning, April 29th.

From the North.

The Atlanta Intelligencer has received a Louisville Democrat of the 15th instant, and clips copiously from it. We have only room for the following items, to day:

PHILADELPHIA NEGROES BOUGHT FOR BOSTON.—The Philadelphia Evening Journal of Saturday [illegible] says:

"Agents have been here from the East for some time past, offering five hundred dollars each for negroes to fill up Governor Andrews' Boston regiment.

"A number of these white men has been in Philadelphia, it is stated, to the Legislature of Penn[illegible] to prevent them Massachusetts from enlisting our negroes for [illegible]."

Provost Marshal General Butler has been in New York. To what a depth he has sunk is shown by the fact that he now [illegible] even Lincoln won't give him a [illegible] the field.

NEGRO SOLDIERS.—Gen. Burnside has issued an order depriving the 13th New Hampshire, 16th New York, regiments of [illegible] and other privileges for [illegible] and disgraceful conduct in the [illegible] Kinston. Cause—whiskey.

The girls in New Orleans are putting great faith in the notion that yellow fever will prevail in that city this summer. They point to the [illegible] seen along the gutters, and declare that early in the season for it, and 'bove all [illegible] another equally terrible, intimation.

Governor Tod, of Ohio, has been [illegible] to the arbitrary arrest of Dr. Gibbs. It is a peculiar satisfaction, that he [illegible] Under the Ohio act, passed to [illegible] case of fugitive slaves from this State.

Mr. Augustus Arnold—[illegible] building a whole fleet of Alabama-bound cotton at Liverpool for the Rebel "Ohio," alias Jeff. Davis. From the [illegible] with which the place is [illegible] to be supplied, it is [illegible] largest of the British royal [illegible] of naval vessels at Liverpool [illegible] ing will shortly be of no [illegible] way to a branch of our Southern [illegible] What is Mr. Arnold [illegible] about?

Twelve hundred prisoners of war have arrived from Annapolis to Camp Chase. Four hundred recruits started to Texas for the [illegible] two days ago.

Rebellion Prisoners.

The correspondence between Governor [illegible] of North Carolina, and Gen. [illegible] containing important [illegible] Colonel Wheeler in relation [illegible]

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, March 30, 1863.

Major General Dix:

SIR:—Many citizens of parts of my State [illegible] are now held [illegible] Fort Delaware, [illegible] condition of their health and [illegible] This communication [illegible] hostilities shall cease [illegible] capable of considering [illegible] and authorizing the [illegible] to take their places. The following is [illegible]

[illegible], That the act entitled "An Act to provide for an increase of the Quartermaster and Commissary Department," approved Feb. 18th, 1862, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out the [illegible] section of the same, and inserting [illegible] the following:

That no Quartermaster, Assistant Quartermaster, Commissary or Assistant Commissary shall be authorized to employ as a clerk [illegible] liable to military service. And the [illegible] officer of Quartermasters, Assistant Quartermasters, Commissaries or Assistant Commissaries, may detail from the [illegible] under his command such person or persons as may be necessary for service in the office of said Quartermasters, Assistant Quartermasters, Commissaries and Assistant Commissaries: Provided, That only disabled soldiers shall be so detailed, while one can be found for such service.

[illegible] The planters in the Confederate States can produce the opium and flax seed, that is required either for the army or home use.—Will they do so?

Our Prisoners at Camp Douglas.

Among the prisoners brought up by the flag of truce boat, on last Monday, were some from the West, who had been confined at Camp Douglas, near Chicago. The very sight of the poor fellows is enough to strike pity to the heart. We wish the Government could hear their tales of suffering and distress, and we hope that they will have some step to lay their grievances before the authorities here.

Camp Douglas is worse than the Black Hole of Calcutta. Not satisfied with putting our men to death by suffering and torture, the Yankee demons have taken to poisoning them! The little things, such as apples and cakes, that our poor prisoners would lay out of their few remaining cents, had killed a number of our men, and on an investigation being ordered and the food analyzed, poison was plainly discovered, and its presence admitted by the Yankee surgeons! The authorities tried to exculpate themselves by having the blame on an old Irish woman who was permitted to peddle cakes among the prisoners.

The death of our men at Camp Douglas has been appalling. One of the prisoners estimates that, in the short space of three months, there were over seven hundred and fifty deaths. It was caused by a combination of causes—the low, wet, and marshy situation of the camp, being built in water; the filth and rottenness of the place, and the long and dreadful [illegible] of our men. In fact some of the prisoners who came up by the last flag of truce had been [illegible] there for nearly two years, and their dejected, sorrow-stricken and emaciated faces bore testimony of more than all they told of their suffering.

The suffering to which our brave men have been subjected by the disease is enough to melt the heart to tears. Even in the cold winter, when our prisoners were taken there from the West—in rain and snow—they were thrown into prison with nothing more than a pallet of rotten straw and a few rags for a portion of clothing to protect them from the cold and miserable blasts—as one who knows the rigors of Western, the snows how [illegible] and sweep over the prairies. In all the cold and rain lay exposed to the storm and bitter winds, and [illegible] A cold shower, one night, was the result was that twenty-five or thirty of our men were mortally [illegible] death. We have this on reliable authority, and the story is substantially confirmed in every particular by [illegible] escaped from the Chicago Prison.

Deputies [illegible] from the West for prisoners were [illegible] of the expedition, and were [illegible] of the barracks and were made to [illegible] five days without [illegible] of food. They [illegible] [illegible] and were [illegible] in [illegible] of their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]