COMPETITION IS THE LIFE OF BUSINESS. This saying is a standing contradiction to the experience and observation of all mankind. Competition is the death of the laborer, the mechanic, and all those who are dependent upon physical exertion for support, and the possible accumulation of a competence. It is the constant jarring of interests-the unceasing conflict which arises from riva'ry, that brings the mechanics of our country to a depen lance upon capital, and to eke ont an existence upon unrequited toil. Who or what class is it that invites competition? Is it those who are engaged in active business. Ask the fessing the principle. laborer or the mechanic what is the cause of the lowness of the wages which he reccives, even when there is plenty of employment to be had, and he will tell you that it is competition. Does the man of does the work is compelled to come down profits are so small, or why so many of his village and city throughout the Union .-Thus it is in every trade and profession' runious competition exerts a baneful influence. One is trying to elevate himself ted by those to whose advantage it insures to procure labor and its products as cheap as possible, and those who are compelled to exchange them for a subsistence, are the

And this state of things will continue until the working people of this country learn, that the good of one is comprehended in the good of all. Until there is adopted a unity of con, and combination of the interests and sympathies of the mass. So long as they submit to be but "hewers of wood and drawers of water" to the few, so long will the Union their depression and degradation increase and extend .-- Buff. Gaz.

DEATH OF A GREAT MUSICIAN .- The celebrated Frank Johnson, says the Philadelphia Ledger, one of the best musicians, of the day, died at his residence in Peel street near Sixth, at an early hour in the morning. His loss will be much lamented by the Military of this sixty.

"I anticipate the happy period when the fairest portion of the fair creation will sten forth unincumbured with slabs of walnut and tiers of whalebone. The constitutions of our females are most excellent to withstand in any tolerable degree the inflictions of the corset, eight hours every day. No other animal could survive it. Take the honest ox, and enclose his sides with hoop poles, put an open plank beneath him, and gird the whole with a bed cord, and demand of him labor. He would labor indeed, but it would be for breath."

Irish Wit and Humor .- The poverty of the Irish is not exagerated-neither is their wit-nor their good humor-nor their whims cal absurdity-nor their courage. Wit-I gave a fellow a shilling on some occasion when a sixpence was the fee? "Remember, you owe me sixpence, Pat!" "May your honor live till I pay you?" There was courtesy as well as art in this, There was courtesy as well as art in this, and all the clothes on Pat's back would ner & Stewart, in the Blacksmithing business is have been dearly bought by the sum in question. Humor-There is perpetual indness in the Irish cabin; buttermilk, potatoes, a stool is offered, or a stono is rolled that your honor may sit down and be out of the smoke, and those who beg every interested, will take notice. where else, seem desirous to exercise free hospitality in their own houses. The Unkindest Cut of all .- The English are all the time poking at some of our with. Western ways, manners and customsr giving us the hardest kinds of hints fo. some of our eccentricities, but the cruelest cu: we have recently received is with a jack-knife-decidedly a "cut direct. Some Sheffield cutler has deluged the market with huge clumsy jack-knives, and on the blade of each of these he has stamped "The American Gentleman's Pocket Companion!" indicating that such are the delicate instruments carried in the pockets of the slite of Yankee land. The Sheffield man is certainly sharp upon the American blades this time.

ROBESPIERRE. - The March number of the Democratic Review contains an article of great interest, from the pen of Nicholas Hentz, one of the members of the famous Convention of the French Revolution-a member of the Mountain, and a firm friend of Robespierre throughout his career .-Hentz died a few years since in this country, whither he retired upon the fall of his It has on it a dwelling house and stable, is nearly party. Every foot of the land is valuable, and court, which he disgusted by his indifference, and afterwards, in the pay of Pitt, the British Minister. He gives Robespierre a character very different from that ascribed to him by the majority of historians; and it is but just to say that there are many distinguished writers who agree with him, in asserting that Robespierre was truly an unegrruptible man-a title which he wore throughout the revolution, and which not even his enemies ever disputed. They attribute his crimes to fanaticism - Hentz endeavors to prove that the crimes alleged against him were committed by others, and hat his character has been blackened by English writers, who have strong national prejudices to gratify, and a hatred of the Revolution so excessive that they seem to think "the end justifies she means" in distorting every fact connected with it. POSTSCRIPT

We learn that the General Harbor appro priation bill, which was defeated in the House of Representatives, has been re-considered and passed. It is said also, that the appropriation for Chicago and St. Josephs is stricken from the bill. If such is the case it renders our chance for an appropriation, still slimmer than before.

The House of Representatives have refused to interfere with the present tariff. Such democracy is enough to kill any pasty, pro-

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS MAY COME,

MAY COME,

Greeting:

Greeting:

KNOW ye that 1, Isaac George, of the Village of Southport, in view of my own personal ad vantage in particular, and that of the public in general, have prepared myself to do an extensive business in the line of my profession—which is imprimis, Gussmithing—and secundus, mending, repairing, and tinkering, all kinds of breakable articles and things to be found in a hardware receivables. and things to be found in a hardware vocabulary, from a steam engine to a sauce pan, and from a lightning rod to a knitting needle, inclusive. With a greater regard for truth than modesty, I feel ealled upon to assure the public that my practical skill in the particulars referred to is not to be surpassed by men of moderate mechanical genius or practnings. But as the "pract of the audiding is the sions. But as the "proof of the pudding is in the eating," I hope the proper application will be made to test the precise a cordance between my practice and professions, which I doubt not, will be found to be more than ordinarily remarkable. And in addition, it was be all the second of the product of the property of the product of the prod dition it may be well to state in connection, that while neatness and despatch will characterize the HAIR SEATING of various kinds and best defeature of my business operations will be the deapness of my services—not charges—for I hope to be excused from any lessons in book-keeping.

> Hundreds of children and adults are lost yearly with worms, when some other cause has been sup-posed to be the true one.
> It is admitted by all doctors that scarce a man, woman or child exists but what are sooner or later troubled with worms, and in hundreds of cases, sad relate, a supposed fever, scarlatina, or some other a supported reverse analysis of some other ailing carries off the flowers of the human family—while in truth they die of worms! and these could have been eradicated in a day, by the use of a bottle of KOLMSTOCK'S VERMITUGE, at the cost of a quarter of a dollar.

How sickening the thought that these things should be—and who can ever forgiv themselves for not trying this Worm Exterminator, when they know that even if the case was not worms, this remedy could not by any possibility do hurt—but al-ways good as a purgntive—let the disease be what it may. How important then to use it, and who will dare to take the responsibility to do without it! Let every parent that is not a brute, ask themselves this question in truth and soberness.

Mr. J. C. Ringold had a child very sick for near two weeks, and attended by a physician, without relief, when Komstock's Vermifuge was given, and next day more than forty worms were passed,
