HAD ALL THE BEST OF IT

Wise Girl Selected for Husband Man Who Had Both Seasons for Garnering Wealth.

"Daughter," said the anxious father to the eldest daughter of a brood of seven, "our mother tells me that you have had a proposal."

"Yes, father, I have," demurely replied the young woman. "In fact, I have received several."

"I hear the ice man proposed to you?"

"He did."

"And you accepted him, of course?"

"I did not."

"Unwise child! Think of the money he could give you!"

"Ah! That is better. A man of untold wealth garnered every winter. Beyond doubt you told him 'yes'!"

"No, father."

"What-a-fool! Do you mean to tell me you let go of an opportunity slip by ungrasped?"

"Yes, father. You see, I accepted a man who sells ice in summer and a plumber in winter."

"Ah, daughter! Fly to my arms! You make me weep with pride!"

Sanctimonious Penny.

Jerome S. McWade, the millionaire collector of Duluth, was appealing on the Mauretania for a seaman's fund.

"Let the collection be generous," he said. "We want none of the penny and quarter parable here."

A penny and a quarter, side by side in a pocket, fell into conversation.

"I'm worth 25 of you," said the quarter haughtily.

"That's true," replied the humble penny, "but in one respect, sir, I'm superior to yourself."

"Pshaw; how so?" said the quarter.

"I go to church, sir, far oftener than you," replied the penny.

Personal Privilege.

"You sometimes contradict yourself in your speeches."

"I know it," replied the positive candidate. "And I want you to understand that I am the only man in our party who dares attempt such a thing."

Spoiled Her Secret.

"My first husband and I kept our marriage a secret for nearly a year."

"Didn't you find it rather difficult?"

"Oh, not at all. We could have gone on for a much longer time if the horrible reporters hadn't been snooping around when I applied for my divorce."

Following Orders.

Doctor (to Mr. J., whose husband is very ill)—Has he had any lucid intervals?

Mrs. J.—"Es" nothink except what you ordered, doctor—Lippincott's."

Great Effects.

"What is that terrible noise?" asked the pedestrian.

"That," replied the policeman, "is caused by an ordinary one cent safety pin sticking into a $3,000,000 baby."

Proper Rescue.

"How did you come out of the tith you had with the beauty doctor?"

"Well, I managed to save my face."

Turn on the back-biter and say it to his face.

A man can never remember what a girl said when she proposed to him.

DREADED TO EAT.

A Quaker Couple's Experience.

How many persons dread to eat their meals, although actually hungry nearly all the time?

Nature never intended this should be so, for we are given a thing called appetite that should guide us as to what the system needs at any time and can digest.

But we get in a hurry, swallow our food very much as we shovel coal into the furnace, and our sense of appetite becomes unresponsive. We eat, and then we eat the wrong kind of food, or eat too much, and then you are indigestion and its accompanying miseries.

A Phila. lady said:

"My husband and I have been sick and nervous for 15 or 20 years from drinking coffee—strong, indigestion, totally unfit, a good part of the time, for work or pleasure. We actually dreaded to eat our meals. (Tea is just as injurious, because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.)"

"We tried doctors and patent medicines that counted up into hundreds of dollars, with little if any benefit."

"Accidentally, a small package of Postum came into my hands. I made some according to directions, with surprising results. We both liked it and have not used any coffee since."

"The dull feeling after meals has left us and we feel better every day. We are so well satisfied with Postum that we recommend it to our friends who have been made sick and nervous and miserable by coffee." Name given upon request. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum now comes in concentrated, powder form, called Instant Postum. It is prepared by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, adding sugar to taste, and enough cream to bring the color to golden brown.

Instant Postum is convenient; there's no waste and the flavor is always uniform. Sold by grocers—50-cup tin 30 cts., 100-cup tin 50 cts. A 5-cup trial tin mailed for grocer's name and 2-cent stamp for postage. Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich. Adv.

WOMAN CONFESSES

SLAYING HUSBAND

Albert Patzer of Synco Killed Because of Quarrels.

MET DEATH AT DINNER TABLE

Woman Was Suspected Despite Her Dramatic Story of Strange Assault—Arrested After Attending Funeral With Twelve Children.

Manawa.—Mrs. Albert Patzer, whose husband was murdered at the dinner table in his home at Synco, an inland town near here, has confessed to the slaying. She was taken into custody immediately after the funeral.

"I could not bear to live with him any more and he was a party to bitter quarrels every day," said Mrs. Patzer. "I was eating the meal I had prepared and he came in and struck me down. There had been no murder in my heart while I prepared the meal. But after I returned to the kitchen and began to think, I was seized with an overpowering desire to free myself. After I had killed him, I straightened him up in his chair at the table and washed the blood from the floor. Then I burned the stick of stove wood which I had used and called the neighbors."

Mrs. Patzer told a dramatic story to explain the murder when she summoned physicians to her aid. She said she was in the kitchen and heard sounds of a struggle. She rushed into the room in time to catch a fleeting glimpse of a strange man going out of the door, she said, and found her husband upon the floor, blood streaming from his head. He had been struck from behind with a blunt instrument. When her story had been told a posse was formed and farmers joined in the search for the murderer. Suspicion rested upon Mrs. Patzer, but her apparent grief when attending the funeral accompanied by her twelve children changed the feeling of the neighbors to sympathy and her arrest and confession has caused a sensation.

EX-SHERIFF IS SENT TO JAIL

Peter Van Veigle of Green Bay Allowed Prisoners to Roam and Must Serve Term for Contempt.

Milwaukee.—Ex-Sheriff Peter Van Veigle, Brown county, custodian at the jail in Green Bay, where the only rule said to have been in force was that prisoners must report at the jail by 10 o'clock p. m., was sentenced to thirty days in the house of correction by Judge A. Geiger, after he had been found guilty of dereliction of duty and contempt of the United States court.

Van Veigle is no longer in office in Brown county, as his successor, elected last November, took office at the first of the year.

Three federal prisoners, sentenced on Indian liquor charges Nov. 23, were found scattered about the city by government officials from Milwaukee, who had heard that former Sheriff Van Veigle had allowed two free a rein. One was visiting at a hotel with his wife, another was playing pool and a third was in a saloon drinking whisky, according to the district attorney. A lone old man was the only occupant of the jail.

In court, Van Veigle said he thought he was doing no wrong act and deplored the fact that he had unwittingly transgressed against the law.

"I thought the boys would like to go to their homes for Christmas day to enjoy the little family gatherings, and so I let them out. But such is the result sometimes. When you get to be kind, it seems that all you get in return is something that takes all the joy and happiness out of the expression of a good hearted action toward others."

FEW LAWYERS IN ASSEMBLY

Business Men and Farmers Lead in Lower House Membership—Newspaper Men Well Represented.

Madison.—Farmers and business men will dominate the assembly in the session of 1913. Together they constitute more than two-thirds of the membership of that body with the farmers a little in the lead, the so-called standing farmers 35, business men 32.

Either legislative work had no influence for attorneys or the voters thought it time they took a subordinate place in lawmaking, as there are but fifteen members of the legal profession, all told, in the assembly.

The newspaper men are well represented in the assembly. Speaker Meritt Hull is editor of a paper at Black River Falls. This is the first time a newspaper man has occupied the speaker's chair. Besides Speaker Hull there are six assemblymen who are connected with the newspaper business.

While the assembly has only a small number of legal ability the senate is well supplied with attorneys. They come within three of having a majority of the upper house. Here, however, the business men show up strong, having eleven senators to fourteen who are lawyers.

The farmers are a small minority, having but seven who are classified. The list of senators is completed by two doctors.

Of the three leading classes, therefore, the legislature of 1913 shows an almost equal division, the total in both houses being: Business men, 43; farmers, 42; lawyers, 39.

GOOD ROADS BILL OFFERED

Measure Appropriating $450,000 for Use of Highway Commission in Early.

Madison.—The initial bill to be presented the Wisconsin legislature at its first session was the good roads bill desired by the highway commission.

It carries an appropriation of $450,000 which is to be available for the carrying on of the work of the commission during the next two years. The legislature took a step in the direction of demonstrating that it is being a working session by taking an adjournment to Monday night instead of Tuesday morning. It is understood the speaker expects to be ready with the assembly committee assignments by that time.

The reason for the introduction of the good roads bill this early is that the appropriation shall, if possible, be available for the use of the commission in April. The initial appropriation to the board made two years ago was $250,000. This has been exhausted in the building of 500 miles of road. Nine hundred more towns have applied for the state aid.

If candlesticks or the patent holders are unsightly because of wax spots, put them in the oven on a folded newspaper; the heat will melt the wax and most of it will be absorbed by the paper.
