COUNSEL FOR CANADIAN GOVERNMENT MOVES DISCHARGE OF LEBEDINSKY FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE—SASK. OFFICER PROMPTLY SUED FOR $10,000.

Developments of this morning in the district court tend to show that as the inner history of the Lebedinsky extradition controversy becomes known more and more does the case resemble that of Rudowitz, the Russian refugee. At 10:15 o'clock this morning Attorney McGinnis, for Lebedinsky, for the Canadian government, moved the dismissal of the case against Lebedinsky on the grounds that their client was unable to produce sufficient evidence to connect the peddler with the crime charged against him, conspiracy. Sam Lebedinsky was given his freedom.

SNOW PLOW JUMPS RAIL, TEARS UP TRACK AND STOPS TRAFFIC

Several Men in the Great Plow Have Miraculous Escape, Getting Off With Only a Few Scratches and Bruises—Accident Occurred Near Stockwood.

While bucking snow on the Northern Pacific at Stockwood, Minn., this morning, a Russell snow plow, which was being used in the work, was wrecked, tearing up several feet of track and delaying traffic until this afternoon. Several men were in the plow when the accident occurred but aside from a few bruises and scratches none were injured. The accident was caused by the plow striking a solidly packed drift which was sufficiently hard to throw the plow from the rails and down an embankment. Considerable damage was done to the track which was torn up for several feet and traffic was completely blocked. It was only a miracle that some of the men inside the plow were not injured, only the solid build of the car saving them.

Trains Delayed. Passenger trains Nos. 3 and 5 were held up at Stockwood and Nos. 6 and 4 were held here on account of the wreck until about 3 o'clock this afternoon. Train No. 4 left here last night at 11 o'clock and got as far east as Stockwood, where it struck a big drift of snow. This train was compelled to back up to Fargo where supplies were secured for the dining car. The snow plow was then sent out from Staples and cleared a part of the track before it was wrecked this morning. This completely blocked everything as work on the snow could not be undertaken until the wrecked snow plow was cleared from the track.

FARGO GETTING NAUGHTY AGAIN

LAST FEW DAYS OF WARM SPELL ARE ATTENDED BY MANY ACTS OF LAWLESS CHARACTER—CITY'S CONDUCT FOR A FEW WEEKS IRREPROACHABLE.

'I don't know what the city of Fargo is coming to,' said Judge Ryan yesterday afternoon after he had imposed fines on a mixed quartette whose sleigh-ride terminated in the police court. 'For almost a month the city's conduct was irreproachable. During the Grain Growers' convention, when thousands of men were attracted here from all parts of the northwest, only one arrest was made, and that really was a Casselton case now, only within the last forty-eight hours, the city has slipped up and fallen back into bad habits. In that time no less than half a dozen cases of lawlessness have been brought to my attention.'

Events of the last few days, Judge Ryan said, supported his theory that a cold wave tends to paralyze crime and criminals. While the mercury was hugging the bottom of the thermometer, four arrests were made. Fargo up to last night, enjoyed quite a spell of balmy weather, and consequently everybody made 'it a point to be out in the open and enjoy it. It only follows,' said Judge Ryan, that lawlessness is more in evidence. However, in view of the threat of another cold spell carried by the blizzard which struck town last night, there is a chance that Fargo once more will be on its good behavior for a while.

Trains Freeze to Track. After a train had stood still for half an hour it was all but impossible to start it. No. 4 stood in front of the depot here about an hour when it was desired to move it. This could not be done by the powerful engine at the head under a full head of steam and a pusher was required. The wheels were frozen solid to the track and men had to go along the train and pick the ice loose from the rails. The brake shoes would also stick when the air was applied.

Cold Hinders Work. Owing to the intense cold the work of clearing away the wreckage and repairing the track was greatly delayed, although the road crew, the wrecking crew to the scene of the accident at once.

SLATE FRAMED BY FARGO DEMOCRATS

CLUB MEMBERS APPEAR TO BELIEVE IT WOULD BE UNWISE FOR THEM TO MAKE CAMPAIGN ON OTHER THAN NON-PARTISAN GROUNDS.

Members of the Cass County Democratic club gathered at the club rooms over the Fargo National bank last night and spent several hours in the consideration of the field from which to choose likely candidates for the seven state seats soon to be vacant in the city council. It appears to be the consensus of opinion among the exponents of the democracy that it would be unwise to prosecute a campaign on other than non-partisan grounds. To this end several men were suggested as being desirable candidates to represent each ward and they will be interviewed shortly by a committee of five and asked to make the running. They are: First Ward—A. G. Brown, William Harrington, B. G. Tenneson. Second Ward—Peter Matson, Joe Ames.

Third Ward—H. Amerland, J. W. McNeill. Fourth Ward—W. J. Clapp, R. B. Blakemore. Fifth Ward—John Wandmeyer, Arthur Bowers, H. W. Adams. Sixth Ward—George Denis, J. W. Hodges, William Mole. Seventh Ward—John Lofthous, Charles Mitchell, J. D. Ferrar. Following is the committee appointed to interview the recommended candidates: W. S. Hooper, R. B. Blakemore, Geo. W. Poague, H. W. Adams, Geo. W. Denis.

REFORESTRATION IS POSSIBLE

AGED NURSERY MAN WHO HAS HAD A LIFE TIME OF EXPERIENCE SAYS IT IS EASILY POSSIBLE TO REPLACE THE FORESTS OF THE UNITED STATES.

That it is possible to make a forest of trees from seeds may be demonstrated to enthusiasts in reforestation, according to a North Dakotan, recently returned from Washington, who had his attention called to the important matter. About two miles south of Falls Church, Va., is a small strip of land planted with seeds of forest trees. About 1,250,000 of them. The idea was conceived by a practical nurseryman who has begun in a practical way the cultivation of seedlings with which he hopes to replace aged or fallen timber or create additional tracks of timber land in the neighborhood of Washington. The nurseryman, it is said, is a firm advocate of reforestation and without any thought of pecuniary gain he gathered the seeds and planted them near the capital of the nation with the hope that other people would become interested and do the same thing until there should be no death of trees anywhere. Just to show how easily it can be accomplished, the nurseryman gathered nearly all of the seeds he planted in the thickly settled portions of Washington.

The North Dakotan learned that the nurseryman was one of wide experience. He is 71 years of age and the major part of his life has been spent in Kansas and Colorado, where he studied, experimented and dealt at times in a practical manner in forestry trees. At one time he planted timber claims, and at other times dug mere seedlings from the forests of Colorado, brought them to the highest possible condition of tree life through cultivation and care, and then disposed of them, in several instances, 'treating, as he described it, public parks in Colorado cities. He believes it is the duty of everybody to become interested in this subject, and everybody should do something practical toward placing the timber life of this country in the same condition as it was a century ago, and that there is not a state in the union where there is a lack of opportunity.
