

MARKET COMMENT OF THE DAY

Evening Grain Letter. Chicago, March 15.—Wheat: The market opened fractionally lower and prices suffered a sharp decline, the greatest weakness being in the May delivery which broke over 2 cents per bushel from last night's closing prices.

Table with columns for High, Low, Close, and various grain types like Wheat, Corn, Oats, etc.

Livestock Receipts. Chicago, March 15.—Hogs, 15,000; left over 6,105; prospects 5 to 10c higher; light $6.55@6.95, mixed $6.50@7.00, rough $6.55@6.75; cattle 2,850, strong; sheep 5,000, strong.

Table with columns for High, Low, Close, and various livestock types like Hogs, Cattle, Sheep, etc.

Broomhall's Report. Liverpool, March 15.—The wheat market opened with March firmly supported and 1/4 higher at the opening and following the opening further advanced 1/4 with shorts nervous on light supplies and decreasing stocks.

Table with columns for High, Low, Close, and various market types like Broomhall's Report, etc.

Livestock Close. Chicago, March 15.—Hog receipts to-morrow estimated 26,000; market closed generally 1/2 lower; light, $6.60@6.87 1/2; bulk, $6.75@6.95; mixed, $6.50@6.80; heavy, $6.60@6.95; rough, $6.60@6.80; sheep, 17,000 weak.

Table with columns for High, Low, Close, and various livestock types like Hogs, Cattle, Sheep, etc.

Speculative Gasps. Chicago—A majority of the local wheat traders think that the bull has grown stale and that the market needs a big break to put it in a good healthy condition.

Table with columns for High, Low, Close, and various market types like Speculative Gasps, etc.

Grain Receipts. Chas. E. Lewis & Co., Grain and Seed Brokers, Morton Block, Fargo.

LA FOLLETTE TOMORROW

Follette's candidacy, until it began to appear that he might succeed," the statement reads. At Valley City, N. D., March 15.—Senator LaFollette in the second of two speeches delivered here last night on the eve of the state presidential preference primary, charged Roosevelt with having passed by the greatest opportunity ever offered a president of the United States; this opportunity, said LaFollette, was to have sent a strong, forceful message to congress followed by an appeal to the people if necessary, when the combinations of capital of this country first became alarming.

"And so this fair record of every candidate shall be secured. They should be analyzed intelligently and carefully. You will search Roosevelt's messages in vain for the strong urgent message pointing out the changes need to afford relief to the people in changing the economic conditions that were nullifying laws of supply and demand. What an opportunity it was for the president and when that president had the people of the country back of him and who so appealed to their imaginations. 'Two or three years, three or four times, the subject slightly to be touched on during those seven years, and then only on the eve of the presidential election. He brought it to the attention of congress. Then it was decided to pass it on to Taft.'"

"I am not going to make any personal attack on any man, either Roosevelt or Taft, but this is the time when it is proper to judge them by their records. 'If I had been president when these great trusts were forming, when McKinley and Roosevelt were president, I should have called the United States district attorneys of the whole country to Washington and handed each one a copy of the Sherman anti-trust law, and I would have said, 'Go home and commit that to memory, and come back here at the same hour tomorrow.'"

"Then when they came back I would have said to them, 'Now you know what this law means. Go out and do your duty as prosecutors. If you don't I will put you out and put in men who will.' "One slight touch of the firm hand of the government when these great combinations were forming would have restrained them. Now the problem is more serious, more complicated, but we have got to meet it and solve it or hand it down to our children. We can solve it with the ballots, perhaps they could not."

LaFollette opened a two-day speaking trip through North Dakota here last night by addressing the state normal school where an audience filled the assembly hall. The second took place in the auditorium. Previous to the meetings he was met at the railroad station by a crowd of several hundred people and the band. In opening the normal school address, LaFollette said: "Recently in this state, I am told, I have been described as a 'disabled steam engine.' "Well, I hope to demonstrate to you my fire box is all right, my drive wheels strong, and my sand box isn't empty."

Moorhead Department COPELAND WAS FREED RURAL SCHOOL EXAMS

Man Who Returned From California Cannot Be Prosecuted, Barred by Statute of Limitations.

Last night's Fergus Falls Journal says that Samuel L. Copeland, who came from California to answer for the Northern Pacific holdup in 1908, and who was probably released on a stipulated length of time, and no indictment is brought against him, in case he has been in the state for about six years after the crime, as he was sentenced from Moorhead for the holdup of the bank and served a five years' term in Stillwater for that offense. In this particular case, it does not look as though any good purpose would be served by sending Copeland to prison, as he has every appearance of having reformed, and the fact that he has come all the way from California to admit the crime and give himself up, voluntarily, when no one even suspected him of it ought to be good evidence of his reformation.

He was asked Thursday morning what he proposed to do, and replied that he had no very definite plans. He had no idea of going back to his home at Johnstown, O., as his home there is broken up, his mother having died some time ago, and 'is father having died during the past summer. He spoke briefly at the Swedish Baptist church Wednesday evening, having become a member of a large Baptist church in Los Angeles after his conversion, and he thinks of arranging for a meeting in this city to tell of his religious experiences before leaving.

Among the Fraternals. A very pleasant social affair was the card party given last night by Harmony Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees. Norwegian whist was played progressively and following that feature of the entertainment refreshments were served. A social hour was enjoyed. Prizes for expert playing were awarded to Mrs. Harry R. Tutts and J. R. Erickson. Those who had low scores were Miss Gunda Lund, a visitor from Twin Valley, and Mrs. Ed Smith. The annual meeting has been made that W. M. Barber, an official from the head camp of the Modern Woodmen of America, Minneapolis, will visit Hazel camp of Moorhead, next Thursday, for the purpose of giving full and expert explanations of the new rates. The local officers desire that every member make it a point to be present.

There was a good meeting of the Red Men last night. Six palefaces went through the ordeal of initiation and other important business was transacted. At the conclusion of the formalities refreshments were served and there was a smoker. New Clothing Firm. The One Price Clothing Co. will begin business at 420 Front street, tomorrow morning. It is an incorporated concern and the business will be managed by Ben O. Hanson, assisted by Anton O. Thompson who comes here from Lake Park.

STIFF FINES IMPOSED. Upon Four Persons for Selling Liquor Without a License. In the Moorhead police court, late yesterday afternoon, before Thomas Torsterson, justice of the peace, upon warrants sworn out by City Attorney Rustad and served by the police yesterday, four persons were charged with conducting a restaurant in the Rex block, First avenue north, were charged with maintaining a disorderly house and William Young was charged with selling liquors without a license. Each defendant paid a fine of $50 and costs plus release on $100 bond.

NO MEETING HAS BEEN CALLED. Superintendent Edwards Denies That He Has Called Any Meeting. When asked about the question today, Superintendent Edwards of the public schools said, "the statement in the Fargo morning paper that I have called a mass meeting of the students of the high school for the purpose of creating a sentiment in favor of the proposed new high school building is a mistake. I have called no meeting and I cannot find out that anyone else has called a meeting. How the statement came to be made I cannot tell."

A Good Advertisement. Leslie Welter, the editor of The Chicago Packer has sent me a copy of a letter which he received from the head of one of the biggest commission firms in the country in which the call attention to the big display advertisement run in The Packer by the Chicago Potato Growers' association. He says it is the best and most striking ad that has ever appeared in that paper—it is right to the point and conveys the information desired at a glance. It is a double column reproduction of the association's trademark. And ton, I have received letters from readers requesting that seed stock be shipped in sacks bearing the trademark as that stops all quibble on the part of the potato men when buying Red River Potatoes for seed. Miss Alma Johnson of Fargo has established a dressmaking parlor at Detroit, Minn.

PROPERTY OWNERS HOLDING SESSION

COMMITTEE OF NINE FROM FIFTH WARD IS MEETING THIS AFTERNOON IN COUNCIL CHAMBERS—DISCUSS WHAT KIND OF PAVING TO BE USED.

A committee of nine property owners of the Fifth ward is in session this afternoon in the city council chambers in the city hall for the purpose of selecting the kind of paving to be used on the streets in the Fifth ward which is to be paved. Fifty property owners from the Fifth ward held a meeting last night and appointed the following committee to investigate the different kinds of paving: Alex Stern, G. W. Haggart, C. W. Seabold, Dr. Paul Soriknes, W. R. Howland, J. H. Bowers, Thomas E. Dunn, Michael Poy and Frank Thiden. Representatives from all the different paving concerns were present and exhibited their paving materials and explained to the committee the merits of each and how it was constructed.

Though he'd roughed it a bit in the course of his luck. Two things were the joy of his life; His daughter, Aileen, who was turning 18, And his patiently, dutiful wife.

New Piano Installed. The new piano ordered for the Moorhead high school arrived and was placed in position in the assembly room yesterday. It is a fine toned instrument designed for school use. The piano which has been in use pending the arrival of the new one has been taken away. The expense of purchase was provided by funds accumulated by senior classes, the profits of the production of the operetta, $100 and the balance promised by the board of education.

EAST SIDE NOTES. Red lights at all exits have been installed in the hotel at St. Cloud. State Deputy G. L. Rully and E. B. Powers of the Modern Woodmen of America explained the new rates at St. Cloud last night. Miss Belle Ranney of St. Cloud is this year's winner of the Durant scholarship at Wallasey college, an honor very eagerly sought by scholars of the school. The first annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary of the Methodist Episcopal church for the Fergus Falls district of the Northern Minnesota conference will be held at Detroit, Minn., March 20 and 21, according to announcements sent out by Mrs. W. L. Taylor of Detroit. Superintendent and Mrs. A. H. McKee have places on the programme for each day. Mrs. W. J. Clapp of Fargo will represent the Kings Heralds and Little Light Bearers organizations. Ninety-nine auto owners at Crookston have enrolled as members of the Crookston Automobile club, which recently held its annual meeting. Atty. Chas. Loring was elected president and E. W. Robbins, secretary. The board of governors comprise the following: Charles Loring, E. W. Robbins, Dr. G. A. Morley, Ed. Peterson, Sam Rostander, W. R. Low, E. D. Keck, C. C. Strander, J. E. O'Brien.

READY TO BUILD THE TABERNACLE

SIGN BOARDS ARE NOW BEING RAZED TO GROUND ON SITE FOR TABERNACLE BACK OF MASONIC TEMPLE—WORK ON FRAMES BEGINS TOMORROW.

A force of workmen started in this morning razing the signboards on the vacant lot just back of the Masonic temple on Fifth street and Second avenue north, which is to be the site of the tabernacle where the William A. Sunday meetings will be held. The work on the frames of the building will begin tomorrow and Tuesday morning the work of starting the structure itself will commence. "We will begin Tuesday working eight hours a day," said Mr. Gill, the advance man of the Sunday campaign. "That day luncheon will be served to the builders in the First Baptist church." It is expected the tabernacle will go up with great haste and everything will be in complete readiness by the arrival of Rev. Mr. Sunday and the rest of his party.

NO REASON GIVEN FOR THE ACTION. Continued From Page One. hampered by the administration of his office and harassed by other officials. The recent Wiley-Wilson-McCabe controversy was but the outcropping of a friction that long existed. The house committee that recently investigated the affairs of the department complimented Wiley in the highest terms and scored his "enemies" in the department. Wiley entered the service of the government as chief chemist in 1882, serving in that capacity continuously until now. Because of alleged technical irregularities in the employment of Dr. E. H. Busby of New York as consulting chemist, Wiley's resignation was recommended for dismissal by Secretary Wilson and Attorney General Wickersham. Taft set these recommendations aside. One rumor was that Wiley would enter political life and might become a candidate for vice president on the democratic ticket. Wiley denied this with a laugh. Secretary Wilson today declared the relations between him and Wiley had always been pleasant personally. Wiley asserts he told Wilson "what kind of people could get along together in the department and what kind not."
