BAKING POWDERS WHEN ILLEGAL

PURE FOOD COMMISSIONER LADD ISSUES DECEMBER BULLETIN CONCERNING ILLEGAL BAKING POWDERS AND OTHER IMPORTANT MATTERS.

Baking powders in the state prior to Oct. 1, will not be interfered with after Jan. 1, 1914, providing that the new stocks coming into the state are made in compliance with the requirements of the new state law.

Such is the explanation made in the December bulletin of Prof. E. P. Ladd, North Dakota pure food commissioner, regarding his recent ruling pertaining to baking powders.

Considerable controversy over Dr. Ladd's ruling, especially after the Calumet Baking Powder Co., replied to his ruling. Dr. Ladd states that this company misinterpreted his original statement and this month clarifies the impression, so that every baking powder concern doing business in this state and every merchant selling baking powders in this state will intelligently grasp the meaning of the law in its correct interpretation.

Dr. Ladd's December bulletin also discusses hog cholera specific, the constitutionality of the anti-snuff law, Tyro's antiseptic powder, soap bark and soft drinks, and the analysis of foods and beverages.

Contributing to this number of the bulletin are T. Soderstrom, writes on Milling and Baking Results vs. Blue Stem and Five Wheats, and W. L. Stockman, who writes on Protein Content, Strength and Adaptability of Marquis Wheat.

The Dry Territory.

World's Work: Nearly three quarters of the area of the United States is "dry" territory. Here the American people live out of reach of a licensed saloon. This is in a large measure the work of the Anti-Saloon league, the militant church in practical politics. The league has done more in twenty years than the prohibition party has in fifty. For twenty years it has been testing and proving the efficiency of its political methods, until now it can forecast with a reasonable degree of certainty just what the people of any given part of the United States or the whole United States will do with the prohibition question whenever it is made an issue. It has become undeniably the most active and effective political agency in the country.

When the league was organized, twenty years ago, outside of a few thinly populated and remote states there was hardly a spot on the map of the United States where liquor was not sold openly and legally. Today 72 per cent of the total area of the United States—2,130,746 square miles—is "dry" territory. There are nine states in which it is illegal to sell liquor anywhere in the commonwealth:

Georgia, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Tennessee, West Virginia.

There are ten other states in which more than 90 per cent of the total area is "dry." These states are:

Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Kentucky, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Utah, Vermont, Wyoming.

Arkansas has just passed a law requiring a petition signed by all the adult white men and women in any community before a saloon can be opened, practically insuring state-wide prohibition.

On the other hand, there is not a single state that is entirely "wet." New Jersey comes nearest, with only four-tenths of 1 per cent of its area prohibition. Three-quarters of Pennsylvania is "dry," as is also 72 per cent of Illinois and Missouri are each 72 per cent "dry" and 58 per cent of New York state is prohibition territory.

The Little Fellow's Stocking.

Oh, it's Christmas eve, and moonlight, and the Christmas air is chill, And the frosty Christmas holly shines and sparkles on the hill, And the Christmas sleigh-bells jingle, and the Christmas laughter rings, As the last stray shoppers hurry, takin' home the Christmas things; And up yonder in the attic there's a little trundle bed, Where there's Christmas dreams a'dancing through a sleepy curly head, And it's "Merry Christmas," Mary, once again for me and you; With the little fellow's stocking hangin' up beside the flue.

'Tisn't silk, that little stocking, and it isn't much for show, And the darns are pretty plenty round about the heel and toe, And its color's kinder faded, and it's sorter worn and old, But it really is surprising what a heap a love will hold; And the little hand that hung it by the chimney there alone, Has a grip upon our heartstrings that is mighty firm and strong; So old Santa don't forget it, though it isn't fine and new, That little worsted stockin' hangin' up beside the flue.

The crops may fail, and leave us with our plans all gone ter smash, The mortgage may hang heavy, and the bills use up the cash, But whenever comes the season, jes so long's we've got a dime, There'll be some thing to do, there'll be some thing to do; And if, in amongst our sunshine there's a shower or two of rain, Why we'll face it bravely smiling, and we'll try to not complain, Long as Christmas comes and finds us here together me and you, With the little fellow's stockin' hangin' up beside the flue.

WOULD BENEFIT CITY OF FARGO

CHIEF SUTHERLAND OF CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT SAYS THAT NEW FIRE ALARM BOX, INVENTED IN NEW YORK, WOULD BENEFIT N. D. CITIES.

Leonard Day, chief of the Fire Alarm Telegraph bureau of New York city, and E. A. Faller, telegraph expert of the fire department, have devised a fire alarm box which is expected to break the grip of the monopoly in fire alarm boxes to which New York and every other city in the United States pays tribute.

The average price of a standard fire alarm box for a number of years past, has been $125. The new box, which is said to have all the improvements of those now in use, and also has an automatic "trouble finder," will sell for a cost not to exceed $45.

"It would be a great thing if fire alarm boxes could be secured at such a reduction in price," said Chief Sutherland of the Fargo Fire department today. "There are a number of cities in this state that would be greatly benefited, some of which now have no alarm system at all, because of the high cost of the boxes. These cities are forced to depend on the telephone, which is a very unsatisfactory system of reporting fires."

"In this city we now have about thirty-one of the Gamewell fire alarm boxes. These boxes are all in good working order, though some of them have been in use for a long time. Even at $125 a fire alarm box pays for itself in a short time, in fact, pays for itself with the first alarm turned in."

"But with the cost of boxes cut to $45, the city would undoubtedly install many more boxes, for, with the rapid growth of the business section of the city, it has been found necessary in some instances to move boxes from the residence section of the city to points closer in, in order to more effectively protect the congested portion of the city. This leaves part of the residence portion of the city dependent on the telephone. There is not a city in the United States that would not be enormously benefited by the putting on the market of a box which would sell for this greatly reduced price."

The inventors of this new box have dedicated it to the use of the city of New York, and have given their patent rights exclusively to that city. The other cities of the country are now wondering what action New York will take in the matter, whether or not they will hold the monopoly, or will give to all the nation the benefit of this great invention. So far, no decision has been announced.

FARGO COLLEGE STUDENTS LISTENED TO GERMAN CHRISTMAS MUSIC AND SELECTIONS FROM GERMAN FOLK LORE TALKS THIS MORNING.

The German chorus at Fargo college showed the students this morning how real German Christmas songs sound.

Stung by the German, the old songs of the fatherland lent a Christmas atmosphere to the exercises.

The chorus was selected by Miss Perley from the German department, of which she is the head, and was ably conducted by Wellington Piller. The following programme was presented:

Story from Luke of Christ's Birth
Story from Matthew

CREW OF LOST SHIP SAVED

San Francisco, Dec. 19.—Given up for lost, the crew of the dismantled and abandoned steel steam ship Dalgona, are on their way to Dover aboard the French ship Loire, which picked them up on Oct. 9, 1,000 miles off the coast of Chile. Capt. J. Bester and three of his men are dead. How they survived, none reaching here yesterday did not tell.

First word of the loss of the Dalgona, which carried a crew of about thirty, reached here on Dec. 10, when the French bark Marie anchored. Captain Morisset of the Marie sighted the Dalgona on Oct. 28, rolling her keel out of the water with her rigging cut and her sails gone, and only the gaunt ship's black cat of all orthodox romance alive. Two of the ship's small boats were gone. The others swung on the davits.

The Loire picked up the officers and crew and on Dec. 9, according to an unidentified steamship which flashed out news of the rescue.

I love the Christmas tree,
The happy little children

A bunch of muffs rush in who had
Forgot to shop till then;

I love the Christmas splash,

Have to count up my cash.
