THE CITY

TO LIVE AT DICKINSON

Mr. Thomas Evans was in Bismarck Thursday. He has recently returned from a trip to Seattle and the coast and expects to make his home in Dickinson for a month or six weeks.

TO SPEND SUMMER HERE

Miss Alice Wilson who has been teaching in the Dillon, Mont., school for the past year, has arrived in the city and will spend the summer here. Her parents live about six miles south of the city.

GRAND WON AGAIN

The second game of the season between the forces at the Grand and the Gem theatres resulted in a victory of the Grand forces by the decisive score of 19 to 6. It is claimed that the reason the score ran up so high is that neither of the managers took part in the game.

TOWN KNOCKERS

The Wishek News revives the following: The men who do a town more harm than good may be classed as follows: First, those who oppose improvement. Second, those who run it down to strangers. Third, those who never advertise their business. Fourth, those who distrust public spirited men. Fifth, those who show no hospitality to anyone. Sixth, those who hate to see others make money. Seventh, those who oppose every movement that doesn't originate with themselves. Eighth, those who put on long faces when a stranger speaks of locating in their town. Ninth, those who oppose every public enterprise which does not appear of personal benefit to themselves.

A CARLOAD OF BERRIES

The Lewis Vidger Co. of this city received a carload of strawberries yesterday for distribution from the local wholesale house. This is the first carload of fruit ever shipped into the city, and will be followed by other carloads from now on. There were five hundred and forty crates of fruit in the car. They were all promptly disposed of, being shipped north and south over the Soo line, and south, east and west over the Northern Pacific. Bismarck occupies a favorable location for a distribution point for the Missouri Slope, and this fact is becoming known to the larger wholesale houses doing business in this part of the state.

Aside from this being the first car of berries to come to Bismarck, it is also a fact that it is the first solid carload of express received in the city.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR REV. MAGIN

The many friends of Rev. Louis Magin of the McCabe Methodist Episcopal church will tender him a farewell reception in the church this evening at eight o'clock. Rev. Magin will leave very shortly for his new pastorate at LaCrosse, Wis. Everyone is invited to come.

SOMETHING DOING ALL TIME.

The citizens of Bismarck are realizing more and more each day that their home town is rapidly forging to the front. This week sees the installation of the Elks lodge here. Next week will bring the annual convention and tournament of the North Dakota Firemen's association. The week following will be marked by the installation of the first bishop of the Bismarck diocese, and will be attended by a large number of Catholics from the entire western portion of the state. In consideration of these things the present building operations of the local hotel owners do not seem amiss.

FAREWELL PARTY.

The numerous friends of Otto Dirlam, who recently sold out his automobile business in this city, gave a farewell party in his honor at the Maennerchor hall Thursday evening. Mr. Dirlam will leave within the next few days for Underwood where he will open a garage and auto repair shop. His many friends wish him success in his new field of endeavor.

FOLEY AT MINOT.

James W. Foley gave another of his enjoyable readings at Minot last evening. A large crowd of the admirers of his verse greeted him, and the program was a great success. Mr. Foley is rapidly achieving a wide reputation for himself, not only for his poems, but for the abilities as a reader. Very few writers of any note are able to read or speak in a creditable manner from the rostrum, but Mr. Foley appears to be an exception to the rule. "An evening with Foley" is becoming the rage in many parts of the state.

OFF FOR THE SUMMER OUTING.

Miss Etta Hoskins left Wednesday night for Tacoma, Wash., where she will spend the summer. The rest of the family will follow some time in July. They will occupy their summer cottage midway between Tacoma and Seattle. The annual reunion of the members of the family will occur during their sojourn there.

COSTLY TRIALS.

It is said that the fact that the jury in the Higgins blind pig case failed to reach an agreement will cost the county a sum between $500 and $1,000.

FOR THE ASKING.

Are you interested in the North Dakota Chautauqua of this year? If so, drop a card to Secretary Edgar LaRue of Devils Lake, who will take great pleasure in mailing you a program for the season of 1910, June 25 to July 13, inclusive. The course will be better than ever.

MILLER VS. HARE.

We understand that papers have been served at the instance of H. E. Miller, manager of the Capital baseball team, upon the person of Joseph Hare, Jr. The complaint alleges that Mr. Hare received the entire gate receipts in the recent game between the Capitals and the Bismarck regulars, and that the Capitals failed to receive their share of the money. The case will be heard before Justice Pierce on June 14.

SOME BEARD.

Jamestown Alert: North Dakota is famous for many things, but a man with a beard nine feet long has a new claim for notoriety. Hans N. Langseth of Mooreton, Richland county, boasts of such an appendage. It has grown three inches a year for thirty-four years. No barber has had a whack at the luxuriant whiskers for that many years and Mr. Langseth does not propose that they shall. The beard is wavy and is carried sometimes draped over the shoulder and in cold weather it makes a perfect muffler. The owner is proud of his lilacs.

EARLY DAYS IN STUTSMAN CO.

Jamestown Capital: Dear, dear. How time does fly! It was only the other day that farmers were using the old horse power threshing machines—toys compared to the big forty h. p. outfits of today.

The other day, Peter Fried, now a retired farmer and a resident of Jamestown, came across a yellowed paper that recalled 1881 when he and George Jones bought a horse power threshing outfit—the first one in the James River valley north of Jamestown. They had some fine hands employed, too. A. B. Ashley, who later became county register of deeds, wore a "Teddy suit" and a bandana handkerchief and his arduous duties were to stand on the narrow pivot of the power and keep the horses dreadingly trudging round and round. They stopped only for meals and darkness. When he became weary of the ennui induced he helped measure the grain with half bushel measures, a job that taxed the strength of back and arms to everyone, even if he didn't get swamped entirely. Count was kept by means of pins and it was a job that could not be classed among the sinecures.

Fred B. Fancher, who later was governor of North Dakota and now is a big department store proprietor in Sacramento, Cal., also was employed in this early threshing crew and it is said made a pretty good bluff at putting in a full day's work. He got a salary of $1.50 a day but wasn't worth as much as his team, for which he collected $2.25 a day. Possibly he was a better figurer, or workman, than Ashley, for Mr. Field's memorandum shows that Ashley got $39 for thirteen days' work with his horses.

But they were happy days, even if hard, and all have prospered. Both Fancher and Ashley were "tenderfeet" fresh from offices in Chicago, but they were made of the right stuff, stuck, and long were residents of Jamestown.

Profit by our experience and buy "Hiawatha" canned goods at Gussner's.

A. C. NOTES.

The first annual report of the Langdon sub-station has just been issued. This report is largely an outline of the work that has been started, as the station has only been established about a year. The citizens of Langdon and vicinity donated $10,000 for the purchasing of the farm, and the legislature has appropriated $5,000 for equipment. Superintendent E. D. Stewart is in charge of the work under the direction of Dean J. H. Sheperd.

In an essay contest, "How the Farmers' Wife can make $40 a month on a 160-acre farm by managing cows, hogs, chickens and sheep, and from the garden," was won by Bessie Lanson, a student in the domestic science department. John Gelken received second prize.

Supt. T. A. Hoverstad has been in St. Paul. Final arrangements were completed with reference to the "Better Farming Special" train. Hon. J. O. Delzell and D. E. Willard will be in charge of the train. The itinerary has been published. Special machinery for the demonstration train is being shipped to Fargo.

The three deer, purchased for the park, have arrived and are attracting a good deal of attention. Some pheasant eggs are being hatched out to supply pheasants for the park.

B. H. Critchfield, assistant secretary of the stallion registration board, is going to accompany Dr. Anderson of Beach over the southwestern part of the state to make the different points at which examinations are to be held: In Morton, Hettinger, Adams, Bowman and Billings counties. They will use an automobile for this trip, as they are visiting the points that are not reached by the railroad. Prof. Richards will accompany them part of the time.

Prof. L. G. Martin visited at LaMoure Tuesday. On Wednesday and Thursday he was at Bismarck. An educational scoring butter contest was held there, being the first of five that will be held this year. Prof. Martin tested the butter for moisture and salt, and also assisted Mr. Winkler in the scoring. He states that the quality was high. Commissioner Flint was in charge of this contest. One of these contests will be held each month. The third one, which comes in July will be held at the state fair. The others will likely be held at Bismarck.

Food bulletin No. 23 is just from the press. It gives an analysis of a number of foods, has an article on adulterating turpentine and shows up the methods that dealers outside of the state use in trying to evade the N. D. national pure food laws. There is also an article on the bleaching flour controversy, which brings out very clearly the harmful effects of bleaching flour; the best authorities on nutrition reporting that the bleaching reduces the digestibility of flour in some cases one-half. It also contains an article on drinking water, discusses sanitary inspection and various subjects of general interest.

Patrons of A. Logan's grocery store on Third street, will be pleasantly surprised at the new, clean, fresh appearance of the store, which has just been repainted throughout. Mr. Logan carries a nice line of fresh groceries and is now well prepared to accommodate his growing trade.
