SENATOR BROWN TAKES FALL OUT OF HIS COLLEAGUES

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 19.—Criticism of his insurgent Republican colleagues in the senate for opposing Canadian reciprocity, and praise of the Democratic party for "having the moral courage and patriotism to support and sustain a Republican president," characterized a speech today of Senator Brown of Nebraska in favor of the reciprocity measure.

"I want to express my profound grief," Senator Brown declared, "because the bill does not have the support of some of my friends in this body whom I know at heart are in favor of lower duties. I do not complain of them. I do not charge them with insincerity, because I know them to be sincere. But I simply cannot understand them."

"It is beyond my comprehension to appreciate how in one session of congress I could vote for lower duties, in the next session a revision of the tariff a schedule at a time, and at a third session be against this proposition, which, while it is not a revision of a single schedule, is a revision of a few schedules, not with all the countries of the world, but with one country; a plan that I believe marks the beginning of the end of extortionate tariff duties in this country."

The speaker declared that it was not President Taft, "but a stubborn and loquacious senate that was responsible for the extra session." He defended the president from charges that he was taking too much part in legislation. "I honor the day when any president asserts his legislative as well as his executive power," he said. "Those presidents were great who exercised to the fullest their legislative as well as their executive power. The reason for this is that, the legislative branch of the government, for some reason or other, has been a disappointment to the people who own the government. The people have depended in every emergency, and most times without disappointment, upon the force, character and initiative of the executive."

Senator Brown declared that when he found Edward Hines, whom he described as the "head of the lumber trust and the manipulator of legislation," "opposing the measure," in the name of and for the sake of the farmers of this country, "I begin to think that there must be something in this bill which ought to command the respect and support of every honest man in this country."

"This bill," he concluded, "is the cornerstone of a new tariff system which will put an end forever, I hope, to unnecessary and excessive duties."

Price, a lumberman of Seattle, Wash., son of J. H. Price, former secretary of state of Washington, testified that he was in the smoker during the alleged conversation. Wright and Taylor informed the court that although they held up Johnson, nevertheless they did not secure any money from him. ## ATTORNEY GENERAL WICKERSHAM SLAMS CORPORATIONS IN SPEECH BORDERING ON THE SENSATIONAL

DULUTH, Minn., July 19.—Attorney General Wickersham, before the Minnesota State bar association here this afternoon took an advanced stand on the further federal regulation of corporations and declared that the government commission to regulate great industrial organizations in the same way that the interstate commerce commission regulates railways was certainly the most desirable and that it might be absolutely necessary.

Wickersham's speech was little short of sensational in many of its features. He declared that it was a matter of serious consideration whether it would be practical to give to the proposed interstate corporation commission the power to fix prices. To do this in theory would simply require an extension of the principle by which the interstate commerce commission controls rates on railroads. The law of supply and demand, Wickersham said, no longer controls prices in the United States. For years, he declared, the prices in all great staple industries have been fixed by agreement between principal producers and not by the normal play of free competition.

DENYING HIS GUILT ED CRAWFIELD IS TRIED

DICKINSON, July 19.—Denying absolutely that he is guilty of the murder in this city of an unknown man in July, 1910, the crime which has been charged to him and for which he was arrested at Vancouver, B. C., Ed J. Cranfield has been brought to this city and will be given a hearing during the latter part of the week. Cranfield contends that at the time of the murder in this city he was employed at Glendive, Mont., as a member of a Northern Pacific bridge building crew, and an effort is being made at the present time to secure the timekeeper's books for the particular crew of men in question.

Cranfield, who was first supposed to be the murdered man, was arrested when word came from his parents in Wales that he was in Vancouver. This information coming in response to advices given by Dickinson authorities to them to the effect that he had been murdered. Suspicion then turned to Cranfield and he was placed under arrest at Vancouver.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 19.—Denouncing the report of the majority members of the special house committee that investigated the transaction involving the portrait of former Secretary of State Day as partisan and scandal-mongering, the minority report of the committee was submitted to the house today and signed by Representatives Tilson of Connecticut and Wedemeyer of Michigan.

The political situation is growing worse, according to the commander of the United States gunboat Petrel, now in Haiti's waters. His reply to the navy department indicates that all of the department north except Cape Haitien and Port Liberté is controlled by the revolutionists, and these ports are threatened. ## ICELANDERS TO BUILD A $12,000 ACADEMY

MOUNTAIN, N. D., July 19.—A movement headed by Rev. H. B. Thorgrimsen and having the endorsement and aid of the Lutheran synod is on foot to establish an academy here. For many years the Icelanders have felt and fully realized the need of an Icelandic institution of learning, the prime object being to teach and preserve the mother tongue. That this long-felt desire will eventually be satisfied is practically certain. In the course of a few days over $1,000 has been subscribed by only a few leading men of Mountain and vicinity, and when the ground has been covered this amount will, in all probability, be doubled or tripled. It is planned to raise $12,000 by subscription, and with the impetus already given the project the academy is a dream no more.

FISH FINDS EFFIGY WHILE SEEKING RELICS

DEVILS LAKE, N. D., July 19.—The first effigy mound of the Indians to be found in North Dakota, probably a totem of the Cheyenne tribe, has been located by H. C. Fish of Bismarck, curator of the State Historical society, who has been in this section for the past week and today was in Devils Lake en route to Grahams island for still greater research.

The mound which was located is about nine miles from the Steyenne and 24 miles from Devils Lake. It was located on the William Milne place, where as many as thirty other mounds were found in a wheat field, all measuring in height from one to six feet.

The effigy mound was surveyed by Mr. Fish and was found to be 163 feet long and 105 feet wide. It was probably the burial place of the tribes and will be gone over more thoroughly by Mr. Fish on his return from Grahams island.

An effort will be made to locate Indian caves on the Grahams island reserve, the old reserve of the Chippewas, who are said to have had an earth lodge. The Indians at Fort Totten have reported that round rings of earth have been seen there, but the caves have never been explored.

The work that Mr. Fish is doing is indeed remarkable and when he completes the research it is thought that many new things with reference to the tribes will be brought to light and of value to the historical society.
