MR. AND MRS. BATTY CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Battley were hosts last evening at their home in First street, at a charmingly appointed bridge party, given in honor of their second wedding anniversary. The home was beautifully decorated with large clusters of roses and carnations. Four tables were in play for the game and the honors were awarded to P. H. Throldahl and Mrs. P. E. Young for the first gentleman and lady's honors, and the second lady's honor went to Mrs. P. H. Throldahl. An elaborate luncheon was served. Hand-painted place cards were used.

Senior Class Party.

One of the most interesting events in high school circles was the senior class party last evening in the gymnasium. The affair was in the form of a children's costume party. Members of the class came dressed as children, ten years old. The girls wore lingerie frocks with immense hair bows, while the boys wore short trousers. All line appointments were carried out as for a children's party and the amusements were: "London bridge is falling down," "Going to Jerusalem," and other well known juvenile games. The refreshments included animal cookies and ice cream cones, licorice and barber poles. The affair was one of the most novel and successful of the class parties of the year. Besides the members of the class, the faculty were guests. Serving on the committees were: Olwen Hughes, Milo Miller, Dorothy Blunt, and Esther Talcott, entertainment committee; Irma Logan, Catherine Spear, Esther Taylor, Olwen Hughes and Elmer Beithon, refreshment committee.
