JIM AND HOWARD, TAKE OFF YOUR HATS TO THIS JAPANESE BOY, HE'S GOT YOU BOTH BEAT

By PAUL PURMAN.

Even Jim Thorpe and Howard Berry, all around athletes de luxe, will have to doff their chapeaus to this Japanese youth who claims Cleveland as his home and who doesn't balk at anything in the athletic line except auto racing and poker.
He is Arthur Matsu and he's 13, and he has all the boys in his neighborhood hanging on behind when it comes to athletics.
Here's a partial record of his achievements:
Plays first base on a Boy Scout team.
Plays first base on an undefeated indoor baseball team.
Plays halfback on a high school football team.

Plays forward on an amateur basketball team.
Has pole vaulted 7 feet 3 1/2 inches, more than a foot higher than any boy of his class.
Star sprinter; holds Cleveland junior record for the 100, 50 and 75-yard dashes.
Plays a fair game of tennis.

A fair broad jumper.
Champion pool swimmer at Cleveland Y. M. C. A.
Caddies at a golf course.
Then when Arthur gets through doing all these things he goes home and cultivates his war garden.
How about it, Jim and Howard? Some boy, what?

HANK GOWDY, HERO OF 1914, JOINS COLORS

The first big league ball player has gone to join the colors.
Big, awkward Hank Gowdy, hero of the 1914 world series, first string catcher of the Braves, has renounced his big money contract and climbed into the olive drab of an Ohio national guard company at Columbus.
About three weeks ago, when the Braves were playing at Cincinnati, Gowdy left the team for a day, went to Columbus, his home, and enlisted. He returned to the Braves, to await orders to join his unit.
The orders came while Gowdy was in Boston. He immediately went to camp.
To those who know Gowdy well his sacrifice of a large salary to respond to a call to the colors is not surprising.
Gowdy is one of the really big figures in baseball, when the money-mad tactics of many of the athletes are considered.
He is known as a big, good-natured fellow who will stop to play with them on the streets.
In Columbus last winter he sold papers on the streets to help a charitable institution.
Baseball can well be proud of its first recruit.

Dated July 25, 1917.
C. L. BURTON,
City Auditor.

Wrong Again.
One might think (but would be dead wrong if he did) that hams are cured by a veterinary surgeon.

Take the Rowdyism Out of Baseball

The favorite sport of some ball players these days seems to be walking over umpires.
The recent performance of Babe Ruth, who took a punch at Brick Owens and the disgraceful scene at Cincinnati in which John McGraw and Lord Byron started is about enough of rough house tactics for this year. There was a time when mobbing an umpire was considered proper and just. There was a time in boxing when men sat at ringside with drawn revolvers menacing the referee.
Those days have passed. The average baseball crowd wants plenty of pep. It may ride an umpire to death, but it doesn't care about the rough house stuff and won't stand for much of it.

Perhaps in some cases the umpire is blamable on account of bad decisions.
In that case it is the duty of the league president to take a hand, not for a ball player to assert his belligerency on the field.
There have been many complaints about umpires this year, particularly those in the National league. Some have been charged with incompetency and even with making players suffer for personal dislikes.
This condition should not be permitted to exist. Umpires who don't have good judgment or who permit outside conditions to influence their decisions should be immediately released.

Some managers have suggested that each league should have a chief of umpires who should go from city to city and watch the work of the arbiters and report to the league president. These visits would be secret and the chief would be able to get a line on the work of the men under him.
It is evident that something of this sort should be done so far as umpires are concerned, and it is certainly necessary that such severe penalties be inflicted on players who resort to slugging umpires that the practice will die out.

LAVAN MAKES PLANS

Browns' Shortstop Will Hang Out Shingle as Physician.

able to Care for Injured Person With Gentleness That Would Amaze His Baseball Friends—Wife Also Versatile.

Johnny Lavan, the Browns' fast young shortstop, does not loaf in the winter season. Lavan realizes that there will come a day when he can no longer skip nimbly about the infield as he does today and he plans to be prepared for such a time. When he feels that he is no longer useful in the big leagues he will not die a lingering baseball death in the bushes. He will hang out a shingle and be a popular M. D.
Johnny is a graduate of the University of Michigan and there he got his medical degree. As soon as the baseball season comes to a close he puts aside his glove and gets busy with the pills. He is able to care for an injured patient with a gentleness that would amaze his baseball friends. He is said to be as expert in handling physical injuries as he is in handling hot grounders and the many who have

SUSPENSION OF BABE RUTH MAY KEEP RED SOX FROM 3 CONSECUTIVE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The indefinite suspension of Babe Ruth, putting a crimp into the Red Sox pitching staff, and cutting down their chances of setting a precedent and winning three consecutive world series.
At the opening of the season there was a very fair chance that they would do just this thing, but the super-drive of the White Sox indicated that the going would be pretty rough for Barry's crew before October.
Then along came Ruth's suspension. Ruth this year has won 11 games, almost one-third of the games the club had won up to that time. Take from a club a pitcher which is winning one-third of its games and the club is bound to suffer.
Jack Barry had ambitions; this spring. Holding the managerial reins for the first time, this youngest pilot of the majors has dreamed of doing what Connie Mack and Frank Chance had never succeeded in doing, winning a third consecutive world championship with his ball club.

When the 1912 season opened it was considered a safe bet that Connie Mack would drive the Athletics through to another pennant in the American league and then demolish any National league club sent against them. But Connie couldn't produce and Jake Stahl won with the Red Sox.
The old Cubs won three National league championships in a row, but their defeat by the White Sox in 1906 prevented three world series championships.
The fate of the Red Sox depends a great deal upon Ruth. The drive in the American league right now presages a tremendous finish in September. The Yankees have been playing at a .690 clip since the first of June. The Tigers have gone along at a pace well above .700 since that time. The White Sox are playing consistent .650 ball. Boston will have to play at that rate at least to be in on the killing.

Johnny Lavan.

seen him at the latter will agree that he must be a desirable doctor. All dressed up in his professional garb and in care of an injured patient Lavan doesn't greatly resemble the speedy shortstop who cuts off runs instead of legs and arms, in the summer.
Lavan's wife is a graduate nurse and when the time comes they plan to give all their attention to the doctoring business instead of only part of it, as at present. Mrs. Lavan is as versatile as her husband and in addition to being a trained nurse she is a capable critic of her husband's work through the summer.

Asking a Favor.
"Can I mail an infernal machine here?" sternly demanded J. Fuller Gloom of the pale clerk in the post office. "I want to send my nephew's accordion to him."—Judge.

Word Lancelot in Bibb.
The word lancelot is found in only one place in the Bible, 1 Kings, 17:25. The term is not the well-known blade used by surgeons, but appears to mean a javelin, or light spear.
