

LIMIT CLUB'S MEMBERSHIP IS NEAR 40

Bismarck War Savings Stamp
Drive Within $6,000 of
Its Goal

WILL ORGANIZE COUNTRY

With a present limit club membership of 36, and the ranks still growing, the Bismarck War Savings Stamp campaign committee today reports that it is within $6,000 of its goal of $150,000. The drive has been eminently satisfactory from the start, and its success has exceeded all expectations. New members of the limit club are Capt. I. P. Eaker, John L. George, C. M. Henry, Hollist and Sidney Cohen.

"We set our mark at 20 to begin with," said Chairman L. K. Thompson of the limit club committee today. "When we passed 20, we set a new limit at 30; when we passed 30, we again raised the limit, and now the lid is off. We are not going to stop going until we are through, and nobody knows when that will be."

Rural districts in Burleigh county, which have more than $100,000 to raise report a subscription of only fifty per cent to date. The work has naturally progressed more slowly in the country. The rye harvest is on, and it has been difficult to see every one. The organization of a rural limit club now is under way, and better results are anticipated by the end of the week.

GOES TO SEE HUSBAND OFF TO WAR—DIES

Bismarck Friends Shocked to Learn of Sudden Death of
Mrs. Leo Nolan

Friends of Mrs. Leo Nolan, wife of a popular Bismarck commercial traveler, who left only last Saturday to join her husband at Sanborn, S. D., where he was anticipating a draft call, were shocked today to receive a telegram announcing Mrs. Nolan's sudden death. Mr. Nolan was to have returned this week from Brookings. They were a devoted young couple and when Mrs. Nolan left Bismarck last Saturday she was in the best of health and spirits, proud of the fact that her husband was to have an opportunity to serve his country. Mrs. Nolan during her two months' residence at the McKenzies here was very active in Red Cross work and she made many friends to whom news of her untimely death brings sincere sorrow.

WOMEN GOLFERS ENTERTAINED

Fargo, N. D., July 24.—During the golf tournament, which is being held at the Country club this week, Fargo women will serve tea to the guests and players each afternoon at the club house. Three of the women act as hostesses each afternoon, and the rooms and porches are most attractively arranged with baskets of garden flowers.

Lutheran Leaders To Address Young People's Meeting

Red Wing, Minn., July 24.—The program for the annual convention of the Young People's Lutheran league of America, which will be held at Red Wing, from August 22 to 25, shows that Lutheran church leaders from many states are to deliver addresses. Unusual interest has been shown in this meeting for it is said to be the first gathering in the United States of young people, representative of all American Lutherans of Norwegian extraction.

It is understood that the leading business of the convention will be to discuss means of ultimately uniting the various Lutheran branches. Last year, three Norwegian Lutheran synods were merged and it is said that this merger was inspired partly by the work of the young members.

One of the reasons why Red Wing was selected for the inaugural convention is the fact that the city has an extremely large Lutheran population. There is a Lutheran seminary here.

The program provides for many patriotic features and an announcement of the meeting says that the league "is wholeheartedly patriotic."

The convention probably will act upon a resolution to eliminate the name "Norwegian" from the title of the church. The "United Lutheran church," is one substitute title that has been suggested.

On August 23, Rt. Rev. C. H. Eastwood, president of the Southern Minnesota district, will speak. Many addresses on church topics will be made the next day. On August 24, Dr. P. M. Glasco, of Canton, S. D., will deliver an address. Church programs have been arranged for Sunday, August 25.

IRENE CASTLE.

This picture of Irene Castle is the first taken since her husband, the late Lieut. Vernon Castle, was killed in an airplane accident at Fort Worth, Texas. Edmund Vance Cooke, poet of The Tribune, was inspired by the picture to write the following poem:

By EDMUND VANCE COOKE

Lady of the twinkling feet and lightsome heart,
Life, the stage-director, handed you a tragic part,
And now there's something in your eye which speaks of more than art.

Since that Critic of us all, who will not be denied,
Brought a message to your stage and whispered you aside,
Suffering has called to you and Courage has replied.

That which was a laughing game is graver, braver now;
Something planted in your heart has bloomed upon your brow,
And we who know all too well try to tell you how.

BISMARCK TRIMS GROVE.

In the third game of the series between the Bismarck and Grove teams at the Capitol grounds Monday evening, the Bismarckers nosed out ahead of the Grove 9 to 8. The game was fast and to much interest to those who attended. The attendance was small. The batteries were: Peltier and Noah for the Grove, with Olson and Walden for Bismarck. Both batteries did great work. Olson, Raen, Walden and Carley did the heavy hitting for Bismarck with Noah and Gleason clouting for the Grove. In the first three innings the Grove team piled up a lead of four runs, Bismarck coming to bat with the score 6 to 2. Cowan singled, Keenan walked and Carley was safe when a fielder's choice failed to work. With the bases full, Walden cracked a clean single to center scoring Cowan and Keenan and putting Carley on third. Walden stole second. Olson hit to right and Carley was safe when Noah muffed the peg and was slow in recovering it. Walden ball tying the score. Each team made two in the sixth, while Bismarck added two for home and slid under the

HORSE RUSTLING IN BERLIN CAUSE OF NEW HYSTERIA

Amsterdam, July 24.—The German newspapers are much agitated over an epidemic of horse stealing in Berlin. In a single week recently, horses valued at $25,000 were stolen in Berlin, most of them while standing in the streets in daylight. The animals are sold in the provinces, where they bring fancy prices, or are used for clandestine butchering in Berlin. A pair of fine race horses recently disappeared during a race meeting at the Grunewald course.

COOK GETS OFF BOAT IN HURRY

"Sub" Gives Him Ten Minutes—
Two Was Plenty.

NO MORE OCEAN FOR HIM

"Gwine Ter Keep Fah, Fah From de schooner 'Edward H. Cole,' declares Negro who was on schooner Edward H. Cole which was sunk by U-boat—Will Do All His Traveling by Train in Future.

Daniel Giro was the negro cook of the schooner Edward H. Cole, which was sent to the bottom by a U-boat off the Jersey coast; but there'll be no more of sea cooking in the Giro family—not if Daniel Giro knows it, and Daniel's "gwine ter keep fah, fah from de oshun fo' evahmo'."

Daniel has gone to Maine, the home of his ancestors. Not on the ragged coast do Daniel and his family abide. He comes not from a family of the sea. He comes from a family of cooks and has always lived in the interior. Daniel went to the large office to get his discharge after he, with the rest of the crew, had told his story to the United States authorities. He said to a reporter:

"Boss, what am de best way to get to Maine? Mah folks don't all live dere and dey may have heard about mah accident and be worried."

"Why, by way of Boston," was the answer.

"Sure, I know dat; but what am de best way ter get to Boston?"

"Go on one of de Fall River boats." "Bowt!" And a greenish hue overspread the bronze of the Giro frontispiece. "Did yo' say bowt, boss? Nevah no bowt, no mo' for mah."

The cook gazed reflectively out of the window toward Battery park, where a squad of naval reserve sailors were drilling. A new light came into his eye.

Cars for Him.

"See dem sailors?" he asked, "over dere in de park. I'll nevah see sailors on de oshun any mo'. Dem sailors dey know sumfin. Ahm gwine to Boston sapie way dey go. I'm gwine in de cars."

"What were you doing when the U-boat hove in sight, Daniel?"

"Twas on a Sunday aftnoon, about fo' o'clock, boss, ah was gettin' dinner ready for de crew. I done kill fo' chicken and I was gwine to have fried chicken fo' de sailors. De stove in de galley was red hot. An' de cap'n put his face down in de company way, and sez to me: 'Yo' done got ten minutes ter leave de bowt.'"

"De cap'n done used to kid me offen; but when I done look up dey was no lie on dat face in de do'. I see de cap'n he ain't kiddin' mah dis time, an' I cum on deck. 'Sash nuff, boss, der was de U-boat right off our bow, an' a little rowboat a-comin' for us. I just don't couldn't believe mah eyes, dat's all. I dum fun down de ladder quick again and Ah shut my eyes and put mah finger on de red hot stove."

"Den Ah know 'twasn't no dream. I run up de company way to de deck, and den de rowboat cum 'longside and de cap'n he jumped on deck, and says to mah in English just as good as I spoke: 'Yer done got ten minutes ter get off de bowt,' and he held up his ten fingers."

"All I want is two, mistah! Ah done tote him, an' I held up two fingers. Den de sailors came over de side and dey all hed bombs. Dey tote mah ter go down in de fo-castle and get mah duds. I looked at dem bombs, and I don't tote 'em Ah hed all de close I needed right dere on de deck."

"No, suh, I done get right in de lifeboat wid de cap'n, and de German sailors put de bombs down on de deck—two in de front of de schooner and two in de back. We was right between de schooner and de U-boat. Say, boss, doan let 'em tote yo' duds. U-boat's mah little. Dat U-boat was mah de biggest thing Ah ever saw in mah life. I nevah pulled an oah in mah life."

Saw Another Sunk.

"We was off de schooner 'bout five minutes when de bombs went off and de schooner, wit' all her sails up, sailed right to de bottom of de oshun. Den we knowed we was gwine ter get it nex', but we jess kep' pullin' on de oahs. Den we see smoke on de horizon, and de U-boat, he seen it, too. Fo' de first time we felt safe. De U-boat put right fo' de smoke, an' twenty minutes later, by de cap'n's watch, we saw de steamer turn up an' go down, jess like our own schooner."

"We was picked up by a steamer about eight o'clock dat night, an' we was mighty happy when de cap'n done tote us we was bound fo' New York. Den he tote us dey was short of stock. Say, boss, Ah doan nevah shuvvel coal in all mah life, but Ah was de fust ter volunteer mah services. An' de whole crew follered mah to de stockhole. An' ever time I don't open de furnace do Ah don't see dat U-boat, an' Ah shuvvel coal like coal neber was shuvvelled befo'."

"No mo' bowt fo' me, boss. I wanna get back to Maine, ter see mah folks pow'ful bad, but not by de bowt, boss, not by de bowt. Ah wanna go by de cars. An' Ah nevah want to see no mo' sailors on de sen, nevah mo'. I like de sailors on de land, like dem sailors ovah dere. Dey know sumfin, boss; dey know sumfin."

SOUTH DAKOTA NONPARTISANS PUT UP SLATE

Name Bates of Letcher Candidate for the Office of Governor

Mitchell, S. D., July 24.—Mark P. Bates, Letcher, was nominated Tuesday for governor of South Dakota by the Nonpartisan league.

Abraham Lincoln Putnam, Timber Lake, was named for lieutenant governor; Henry Anderson, Mitchell, for state auditor; Gilbert Gronseth, Marshall county, for secretary of state.

A complete ticket will be put in the field by the delegates, who were still in convention late last night, including candidates for congress and United States senator.

Mr. Bates and his colleagues will file as independents with the league's united support. Bates will be opposed by Governor Peter Norbeck, candidate for re-election on the republican ticket, and J. E. Bird, named by the democrats.

The gubernatorial candidate looks so much like governor Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota that he might be a twin brother. He is a breeder of fine cattle and hogs and is widely known throughout the west for his Chester White hogs and Hereford cattle.

Governor Frazier of North Dakota will be the principal speaker today when a ratification meeting and campaign rally, preceded by a patriotic parade will be held.

PATTEN SEES $600,000,000 DAKOTA CROP

Director of Employment Estimates $300,000,000 for Wheat Alone

MUST BRING IN THE LABOR

"Mr. Hoover has said that 'food will win the war,' and we heartily agree with him," says Lindsey H. Patten, state director for North Dakota of the United States employment service. "North Dakota and other states of the western wheat belt have exerted every effort and available resource to make this year's crop a 'win the war' crop. And North Dakota is coming down to the front line trenches with approximately 7,700,000 acres of wheat, alone, which, with a 20-bushel average per acre, and this seems reasonable at this time—would give North Dakota a 150,000,000 wheat crop. It is estimated, however, that wheat will be only about one-half of our farm produce this year in North Dakota, and other crops, such as vegetables, potatoes, hay, livestock, corn, etc., will add another $300,000,000, making in all about $600,000,000 of a 'win the war' crop."

"In the words of our great president, 'In order to secure a lasting peace and make the world safe for democracy' it is absolutely necessary that every ounce of grain, hay, live stock and other farm produce be conserved. The farm labor reserve is being taken care of in North Dakota by the North Dakota Bankers' association through the Liberty loan organization and by the North Dakota state council of defense. All available reserve labor is being listed and signed up on a card system so that if a shortage of labor occurs in our state, the reserves will be called upon to go to the harvest fields. And if the present favorable conditions for a crop cutting up to harvest time, we are going to need a vast army of outside assistance. Experience in former years has proven that when the farmer is prosperous, the townspeople are very busy supplying the farmer's needs with the necessary merchandise, with everything that is in keeping with a prosperous and contented people. We therefore cannot depend entirely on our farm labor reserves, and in many cases it will cripple industry to ask them to leave regular work, even for a limited period."

"So, at this particular time, it seems necessary to take action that will make it possible and convenient for those desiring labor in the harvest fields to go to the great northwest. That action seems to require itself into one thing, and that is a one-cent or a 1-1-2 cent rail rate for actual and bona fide farm laborers. This can undoubtedly be accomplished, and I believe that the provisions already made by the national and state governments will be adequate to handle the labor problem in the northwest to the satisfaction of all, and that the greatest crop in the history of the county will be saved for the 'win the war' program."
