Names of South American Countries.

Mexico is a Spanish rendering, or combination, of Aztec words meaning the place of the war god. Brazil seems to have derived its name from the legendary island of Brazil (later identified with one of the Azores), because it was found to produce a red wood resembling brazil wood. Chile and Peru are of aboriginal origin. Argentina is an invented name based on the Latin word for silver, as Rio de la Plata, the name of its chief river, means silver river in Spanish.

HEAVY COAST ARTILLERY OFFERS UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY TO YANKS WHO WANT TO BE IN AT FINISH

The heavy (coast) artillery needs a large number of officers to meet the demands made by the increased army program of four million men in France by July 1, 1919.

The heavy artillery handles all guns above six-inch calibre, all large howitzers, large trench mortars, and the anti-aircraft guns assigned to corps and armies. If it is true that the infantry is "The Queen of Battles," then it is equally true that the heavy artillery has won in the course of this war, the fight to wear the crown as "King of Battles."

All officers for the heavy artillery are commissioned after passing thru the coast artillery training school. The school for the eastern part of the country is located at Fort Monroe, Virginia. The candidates for this school are selected from enlisted men already in the army, from student soldiers in the students' army training corps, and from civil life. Civilians who desire to work for a commission must, as a preliminary measure, be voluntarily inducted into th emilitary service.

Any man subject to draft, no matter what his age or classification; can apply for voluntary induction with the object of trying for a commission in the heavy artillery. Men in class one who are so inducted and fail to make good for a commission, are retained in the military service as enlisted men. Men of deferred classifications on account of dependent relatives, who fail to obtain a commission are returned to civil life.

Officers in the heavy artillery must possess the qualities of personality and leadership necessary for an officer in any branch of the service. In addition they must possess the educational requirements that will enable them to place the fire of their battries on German forts, ammunition dumps, and railroad bridges after they get their commissions and receive instructions in their duties. They should have a knowledge of algebra, geometry and plane trigonometry, and should be familiar with the use of logarithms. The candidate who has once studied these subjects will be given ample opportunity to go over tnem again at the school, and especially in their application to problems of gunnery and orientation.

No commission is gfuaranteed the candidate at the school. Whether or not he obtains one is dependent, directly and only, on the work he does. Every effort is made to give to each candidate sufficient instruction to enable him to qualify for a commission. No candidate will get a commission unless he has convinced his instructors that he will make good use of it in helping to lick the Huns. In other words, each man gets as much as he gives.

How Civilians Can Apply.

Simply write to the address given below, giving your name, address, age, registration number, classification, name and number of you rlocal board, and ask to be voluntarily inducted into the military service with the object of obtaining a commission in the heavy coast artillery. If you wish, (and it is advisable to do so) give a brief summary of your educational qualifications.

The Adjutant, Fort Crockett, Tex.

On receipt of your request, application will be made for authority for your voluntary induction into the military service. When this is received, your local board will be notified to arange your voluntary induction. Then you will be sent to the nearest coast defense. If you would prefer to be sent to some other coast dfense that fact should be stated in your original letter. When you arrive at the coast defense you are given a preliminary military instruction while waiting to go to the school at Fort Monroe. This wait at the coast defense will be from one to six weeks, depending on the number of candidates who are waiting. Then the candidate is sent to Fort Monroe and put into a "reservoir" company to await the nex course at the school. Ten days is the average time that the candidate is in the "reservoir" company. While both at the cost defense and in the "reservoir" company the candidate is coached on mathematics, to better his chances at the school. Then the candidate enters the school course and the rest is up to him. He gets all the instruction that a large corps of instructors, fresh from the western front, can give him.

Men who are graduates from engineering schools nearly always make good as heavy artillery officers. However, many lawyers, business men, and others, have made excellent records. While men of all ages are desired, it is specially dsired that men who have been out of college ten or fifteen years apply.

To get a commission in the "heavies" and to be present in active role when General Pershing actually crosses the hine, don't delay, but sit down today and write a letter or post card to the address given above. If you desire further information, write to address given above.

COL. A. W. HALL DIES IN TEXAS

Well Known Military Man Was Husband of Washburn Girl.

Washburn, N. D., Oct. 21.—A telegram received here yesterday announced the death of Colonel A. W. Hall, well known in Bismarck, at a Texas camp, from Sptnish influenza. He was stationed at Fort Lincoln for a while about twelve years ago. It was while there he was married in Bismarck to Miss Daisy DeGaff, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W H. DeGaff, now of Washburn.

Colonel Hall had received a series of rapid promotions within the past three months, when he returned from the Philippines where he had been stationed for two years. He carried the title of captain when he returned to this country. From that he was promoted to major and again to lieu tenant. It was within the past month he was made a colonel. For a time he was stationed at Fort Riley, Kan., but three weeks ago he was transferred to a Texas camp. He expected shortly to leave for France.

Colonel Hall was stricken quite suddenly. He was thirty-seven years of age and beside his widow, he is survived by a boy, six years of age. The remains will be shipped for interment to Colonel Hall's old home at Indianapolis, Ind.

Mischievous Magpie.

Birds of the magpie kind are like monkeys, full of mischief, play, and mimicry. There is a story of a tame magpie that was seen busily employed in a garden gathering pebbles, and with so much solemnity and a studied air dropping them in a hole made to receive a post. After dropping each stone it cried "Currack!" triumphantly, and set off for another. On examining the spot a toad was found in the hole, which the magpie was stoning for his amusement.
