Earl Carroll 'Vanities' Will Be Feature Attraction at City Auditorium

Preceded by glamorous tales of beautiful girls, bewitching music, extravagant scenes and a hundred of America's most celebrated and talented entertainers, the famous revue "Earl Carroll Vanities," which has been one of the very marked successes of the present theatrical season, will come to the city auditorium in Bismarck Wednesday evening, April 13.

The "Vanities" is described as a new musical revue, and is one of those kaleidoscopic presentations devoid of plot and with a constant change of scenes, so rapidly from one to another that there is never a chance for a dull moment. In constructing the entertainment, Earl Carroll, the author, has deviated from the usual course in collecting material, and instead of giving travesties of current theatrical successes, has chosen to have his revue deal almost entirely with happenings of real life that took place during the year 1926, as chronicled in the columns of the daily press, and he has succeeded in extracting enough fun from this source to make his audience forget that there was a care in the world.

Naturally, in an entertainment like "The Vanities," the Sahara-like dryness of the country comes in for an episode, and stands out brilliantly for the wit and humor pervading it. This is taken care of in a scene called "The Speak Easy," "Wrestling Bout," "The Country Hotel," "Life's Mysteries," "Big Shoes" and "Tank Mystery" are also parodied, and there are numerous other episodes that are treated in a manner to extract whatever comedy may be available.

Some of the Big Scenes
There's the "Rotisserie," in which comely ladies are "dressed" as chickens minus some of the feathers, and "roasted" on the spit by attractive "cooks," in a setting of feminine coffee notes. The "Pan, Pan" and "Shaw," with a luring song: "The Gate of Roses," a pretty stage picture with the "Kiss in the Moonlight" song; the "Poles on Parade," and the grand finale, "Black Bottom Blues." The "Vanities" is called the most modern of revues, a potpourri of fun, song, talent and beauty. It is hailed as the high-water mark of gorgeously staged extravaganzas.

The engagement will bring to this city in one big company, many of its most popular stage favorites. Bert Swor, formerly with the Field's Minstrels, appears both in blackface and without the cork. Lou Powers, well remembered for the splendid work he did in "Sally" and the "Greenwich Village Follies," and Dave Chasen, a featured comedienne in the cast. Others in the company are Mary Dowling, Lew Miller, John Doyle, Kenneth Luckey, Alice Bradford, Johnny Dove, Anne Archer, Swor, Emma Dean, Rice, Maria Vesta, Harry Sharpe, Phillis Cameron, Ray Cavanaugh, and the Earl Carroll Theatre orchestra, and Louise Brooks, the perfect Venus.

The book was written by William A. Grew, and the music by Clarence Gaskill. David Bennett arranged the dances and ensembles, while the entire production was staged under the personal direction of Earl Carroll.

Spanish Main who cannot inherit the family fortune unless he marries on the day he becomes of age. He has lived a rapid life, but until the day he attains his majority, he has not fallen in love. Then things begin to happen and the action is rapid and highly diverting.
One of the opening scenes shows the piratical ancestor of the young man battling with another pirate for the love of a fair captive maiden. Of course, La Rocque is the battler and he puts up one of the finest contests ever witnessed on the screen.
Mildred Harris supports La Rocque in the romantic comedy, which comes to the Capital theatre tonight.

ELTINGE THEATRE
Tense dramatic incidents, an incomparable love story, unusual scenic effects, together with an underlying strain of comedy and the graphic portrayal of desert development join to make Harold Bell Wright's "The Winning of Barbara Worth," at the Eltinge tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday, one of the outstanding photographic plays of the season.

Filmed on the great arid Black Rock Desert, the story unfolds a world of entertaining and educational features before Ronald Colman, as Willard Holmes, begins to feel sure that he has finally won the fair Barbara, played by Vilma Banky.

Ronald Colman's ride with the payroll to stop a threatened revolt of laborers in the town of Barba, built by Jefferson Worth, Barbara's father, to compete with Kingston, is one of the high spots of the production. Over miles of barren desert and through the beautiful canyons of the Harlequin Mountains, Willard Holmes and Barbara, the girl he has chosen, are followed by a band of desperadoes, hired by James Greenfield, Holmes' foster-father, to waylay the pair in Devil's Canyon. The battle, distinguished by the high action and the excellent acting of the characters involved, resulted in the wounding of both men. This bit of action afforded Colman opportunity to perform one of the most spectacular screen feats he has undertaken in his successful career.

PALACE-MANDAN
Vaudeville at the Palace theatre in Mandan on Tuesday this week brings the Melody Garden Revue, a company of four people who entertain with singing and dancing staged in a picturesque setting which represents an old southern mansion. Halpin & Demure appear in "As You Like It," a comedy, singing and dancing sketch. Jack Cavanaugh, "A Hollywood Cowboy," stunts man for moving picture stars, offers a combination of talking and rope spinning. Pheasay & Powell form a combination of clever man comedian and dancing lady vocalist. Their "Vaudeville Eccentricities" include eccentric dancing, comedy, singing and guitar playing. Real novelty is found in "Fun in a Hat Shop," presented by Bardell & McNally, expert comedy jugglers. "Bachelor Bride" will be shown on the screen. Rod La Rocque, Eltinge Fair and Julia Faye are featured in this comedy-mystery feature.
