M. D. ABBOTT INDICTED.

Is Charged With Intercepting Mail, Said Fixed.

M. D. Abbott of this city, who was arrested last Saturday, on a charge of intercepting mail, gave bond in the sum of $1000. Abbott is well known and had no trouble in making bond.

It is alleged that he intercepted mail belonging to Miss Ollie McGill and the matter was presented to the grand jury which indicted him. Miss McGill formerly clerked for E. C. Wiggins, with whom Abbott has had trouble.

It was also alleged that Abbott took mail belonging to L. C. Wall, but this matter was dismissed.

The Elks' Minstrels. Tonight at the opera house.

A Day for Jokers.

"April Fool's day" was celebrated yesterday by a number of practical jokers who had a lot of fun chasing people over the city looking for an unknown man who had inquired for them. One man was called up on the phone at two o'clock in the morning and told that somebody was trying to get his horse. The man grabbed his gun and ran out to the barn, but found nothing wrong. He sat up till daylight waiting for the thief to appear. Finally he went back to bed and when he came down town yesterday morning he was about the maddest individual in Ardmore.

The Ardmoreite reporter had many inquiries about a wreck on the Choctaw. While the reporter was "next" the parties who asked about the wreck were indeed earnest.

The day, like many of the jokers, was windy.

TONIGHT.

The Elks' Minstrels at the Opera House.

Everything is in readiness for a great show. The scenery is hung, the electrical effects have been tested, the costumes fitted and the last rehearsal showed that everyone was waiting for Mr. Dean, the Interior Minister to say "Gentlemen be seated."

The curtain will go up, promptly at 8:30 and the performance will be over by 10:30. Just two hours long, with not an idle minute in it. Everything quick and snappy. The audience is respectfully urged to be in their seats by 8:30 as the opening is a pretty feature which should not be missed. The sale of seats has been good and a large audience will be in attendance to greet the boys. The program will be changed for tomorrow and will be found to be fully as good as the tonight's show.

The Elks' Parade.

Georgians and dazlings was the big parade given at noon today by the Elks' minstrels, which will appear at the opera house tonight and tomorrow night. Attired in long frocks and wearing caps and plug hats the minstrels paraded the principal streets, accompanied by the First Regimental band which played popular air along the route of parade. Two automobiles decorated in purple and white, the colors of the order, were used. Seated in the automobiles were a number of ladies who are to participate in the show. The local Elks presented a fine appearance in the line of march. Each one carried a decorated cane and gave courteous bows to everyone who gave a friendly salutation.

The boys marched in twos, moved with the precision of clock work and threw out their "chist" when the band played.

The parade dismounted any that professionals give and when the curtain goes up tonight the minstrels will be greeted by one of the largest crowds in years.

As to the performance it goes without saying that it will be first-class in every way. Messrs. Miller and Draper have spared nothing to make the show a great success. Mr. Miller one of the directors of the minstrels states that the curtain will go up on the finest bunch of black face talent that has been his pleasure to direct in years. Mr. Miller is an indefatigable worker and his knowledge of the business comes after years of hard work and study. During his stay in the city he has made many friends and they praise him in the highest term for his good fellowship for he is a jolly good fellow all the time and an enthusiastic Elk.

Mr. Draper has likewise made many friends and he is also an artist. In fact no stronger minstrel team has ever come to the city or whom to hunch admire more than Miller and Draper for their many good qualities.
