WESTHEIMER AND DAUBE

Little Stories of the Street

To Tishomingo.

J. E. Champion and Judge Russell will go to Tishomingo today to be present at the opening of court there tomorrow. They are employed in a murder case that will be tried there, the crime was committed and they were employed before statehood.

Law and Order.

The Law and Order League will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Some good speakers are on the program and some good music will also be rendered.

Home Product.

J. A. Skipworth has added to his store a series of sectional shelves that are very convenient and are a work of art. These shelves were made at the Fraley Planing Mill and were turned out by local workmen. They look better than any piece of factory goods of the same kind in the city. It brings to the minds of the people that there is no use going away from home for any piece of furniture or special work needed.

Our Visitors.

The Ardmoreite was honored yesterday morning by a visit from Prof. Jacob Schreiner, violinist and Miss Martha Whitaker, pianist. They both expressed surprise at finding such a finely equipped newspaper office and seemed to take a great deal of interest in the working of the different parts of machinery that they were shown. They were accompanied by Mrs. C. N. Wood.

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses have been issued to R. B. Clayton and Miss Myrtle Gibson Clayton, both of Brock; J. F. Gabriel of Ardmore and Mrs. Laura J. Ware of Mannville; Claud Reed of Woodford and Miss Roxie Ann Henry of Ardmore; A. H. McClendon of Pottsville, Texas and Miss Minnie Wells of Cincinnati, Ohio; Houston Temple and Miss Georgia Milton of Ardmore.

Holiday Travel.

H. D. McCullom, joint ticket agent says he is getting many inquiries now about special holiday rates and he thinks there will be very heavy travel during Christmas times. The roads are making special rates to points east of the Mississippi beginning Dec. 18, and lasting for three days with return privilege until the 15th of January.

Gone to Mines.

T. W. Garbutt, president of the Chickasaw Asphalt company of Atlanta, Ga., arrived in the city yesterday with a company of friends and was joined here by C. G. Spindler, secretary and treasurer of the company and at once drove to the mines of the company at Woodford. These people own some very valuable mines in this county and have organized for the purpose of developing them. The company has issued bonds for the purpose of raising funds for development work and the company will also work in co-operation with Oscar Ayers in promoting the interurban railway through the country west of here.

Veterans Meeting.

The Confederates will hold their usual meeting at the court house this afternoon at 3 o'clock. A very entertaining musical program has been arranged for the occasion and all those who attend will be pleased with the entertainment.

Help Needed.

A family living at the corner of Tenth and Caddo street northwest are reported to be in destitute circumstances. The father of the family has been confined to his bed for four or five months and has been unable to support his family.

Call Meeting.

Dr. Dow Taylor, chairman of the Democratic County Central committee has issued a call of the committee next Saturday morning. The committee will make party endorsements for a successor to Allen W. Speake, deceased county commissioner, and Frank A. Bonner, deceased member of the state executive committee. There are a number of applicants in the field to succeed Mr. Speake and several telegrams and petitions have been forwarded to the governor. For membership on the state committee, J. B. Champion, and C. L. Byrne are among the applicants. Appointment for this office will be made by State Chairman J. B. Thompson of Pauls Valley.

Jeweler Hotchkiss.

If the class of jewelry sold by Chas. W. Hotchkiss is to be judged by the class and style of jewelry catalogue he is sending out the people will quickly think it's the best in the country. Mr. Hotchkiss is now mailing out the prettiest catalogue ever put out by any firm in the state. It is profusely illustrated and the work of the engraver seems perfect.

WOMAN BOOKMAKER FINED.

Played the Ponies—Learned it at Card Parties, Said Woman.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—A story that disclosed that women of Kenwood and Hyde Park bet daily on the horses; that outlined how the narrator—said by the police to be the first woman book operator arrested here—began to "play the ponies" and then went into the business of taking bets, was told in the Harrison street police court today by Laura Johnson. She pleaded guilty to the charge of keeping a gaming house, and was fined $5 and costs by Judge Beitler. "Is the officer's testimony true?" asked Judge Beitler of the defendant. "Yes," said the woman in a clear voice. "Are you aware that you are the first gambling housekeeper of your sex that we have seen here?" queried the judge.

"I suppose that I am," was the brief answer, and then the judge announced that he would fine her $5 and costs on her plea of guilty. Then the young woman left the court room and a little later told her story to a reporter.

"I am making a good living," she began, smiling. "Much better than any other working girl I know of. There is a great deal of money in my business. I was educated in an eastern convent and came back here when still quite young. I first learned of horse racing and betting at close range at a card party which I attended with other women. Nearly all of them played the races and some of them advised me to.

"I knew a great many women in Kenwood and Hyde Park who made bets, many of them daily. I opened a book in an apartment building. I installed a telephone and later added a messenger service of my own. There are women who don't want to bet over the telephone and who do not want to come to the flat. I send the boys to them and they forward to me their bets recorded on slips of paper and their money."

COUNTY OFFICIALS PROBE PERJURY

SOME ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE AND OTHER CASES ARE UNDER INVESTIGATION.

"The next move we are going to make," said a county officer yesterday, "toward stamping out the whiskey evil is to prosecute every case of perjury. It is impossible," he continued, "to obtain convictions if the people evade the truth or won't tell the truth when on the witness stand. You see we have several cases of perjury growing out of these cases now in the county court and they will be prosecuted with all the force at our command."

It is as much a crime to evade questions as it is to swear falsely. The result is exactly the same. It is difficult to see how a man can evade a direct question without swearing falsely. The meat in the coconut is about this: Men who go into another's place of business and by their going there ask him to violate the law by selling them whiskey, feel that they are not doing right to swear against the dealer. There is no doubt but that the idea of justice is founded upon improper or false ideas of right, but the sentiment prevails here as it does in every other town in the state, and the work that is before the officers of the state is to produce more sentiment in favor of law enforcement and about the best method of doing that is to make men fear the law when they evade answering questions.

Broadway Baptist church will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Suits in District Court.

C. R. Smith has filed suit in the district court against W. E. and L. E. McEmore. Plaintiff says defendants executed to him their promissory note on January 23, 1906, for $1250, and secured payment by a mortgage on Ardmore real estate and on some chattels. Plaintiff asks for foreclosure of mortgage lien.

The suit was filed by Bledsoe & Little.

S. A. Newland, through the firm of Bledsoe & Little has filed a suit against W. A. Gilliam. He alleges that he sold his one-half interest in the grocery store which both men owned jointly to Mr. Gilliam for $740.58, and asks judgment for this amount.

J. T. Taylor has filed suit against the state of Oklahoma and J. H. Dillard, a constable of the Hewitt township, asking the court to enjoin the law officer from selling a crib of corn, which he claims as his, and which has been advertised to sell as the property of Kizzie Taylor.

R. F. Turner is made defendant in a suit for $300 and attorneys' fees amount to $25. The plaintiff John Thredgill alleges that he signed a note as surety for Mr. Turner, payable to the Western National Bank of Oklahoma City, and that he paid the note, and now asks judgment of the court for the amount, together with foreclosure of mortgage lien on real estate in this county, which was given him as security.

OKLAHOMA SPIRIT FAVORS PAVING

JOHN WAGNER OF OKLAHOMA CITY WILLING TO KEEP CADDO STREET PAVING DISTRICT.

John Wagner, father of Mrs. E. E. Pugh, who owns two business lots on North Caddo street in one of the new pavement districts has written to Mr. Pugh of this city stating that he wants to help Ardmore boom and wants to have his property on this street paved. Mr. Wagner lives in a town where they do things, he has seen the benefit of paving and wants to share in those same benefits in this town. He is thoroughly in accord with the improvement sentiment and is willing to pay his part of the cost. Caddo has recently captured some of the best buildings in the city and with the street paved it will be one of the best in the city and will be good business property for several blocks north of Main street.
