Would the Preachers Mislead You? They're for Spavinaw

Maybe you haven't time for the whole tale now along with a ... but if you were in trouble—... wife died, if your house ... burned to the ground, if you hadn't a dollar in the world—who would you look to for help?

The ministers of the city, of course.

Tulsa is in trouble, her future seems in the balance, a question is to be decided that will make or ... Tulsa and you. Mr. Voter, are to vote ... Thursday.

Shall Tulsa have clean water, and plenty of it, or not?

Let the ministers whose word and opinion you value help you decide.

Simpson Saw Grand.

Rev. Everett Simpson of Grace M. E. church made the trip to Spavinaw river feeling that the quality of water was the greatest need of Tulsa at this time and that he should look into the problem and be able to advise his people.

"I satisfied myself on the quantity and quality of water in Spavinaw river," says Rev. Simpson. "The supply is adequate and the quality good. I had asked myself the question, 'Why go beyond the limits?' I found out. Had others made the trip they would have seen a great difference in the water. Aside at floodtide from recent rains, the drainage had made it muddy and ugly, but the Spavinaw, taking experience, the time I was there, was as clear and pure as a mountain stream ought to be. I was more than satisfied and I have felt that I owed it to the city and her people to express my views when the water question has been discussed."

Baptists Need Water.

"You know the Baptists can't get along without water," said the Rev. J. Silver, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, "and they'd like to have it good. I have never seen the Spavinaw, but I took dinner with friends who live on it one day last week and they told me the water was the best in the world. I was reared in the Ozarks and I am familiar with the water coming from those streams. I'm for good water and plenty of it."

Rev. W. O. Anderson of the First Baptist church was also emphatic in his statement that members of his congregation must have water.

"I have been here but a short time," said Reverend Anderson, "and too hardly justified in expressing my opinion, but, as a moral principle we all know that water from the Ozarks is pure and good and I feel that Tulsa will be fortunate to get it. A city must have good water for the health of her population and to attract big business, and we all know the present system cannot offer a permanent city."

Material as Well as Spiritual.

Rev. J. M. Cantrell, pastor of Hager Memorial M. E. church, says he states that his principle of conduct is to strive to improve the material as well as the spiritual environment and believes that all men should aid in civic improvements. His policy has been to help sentiment toward a desire for sanitary, clean conditions. Reverend Cantrell states that in his opinion the Arkansas river is not good and no treatment can make it good, but that the pretty, clear streams of the Ozarks should be a blessing to the community, and as a scientific project the plan looks to be the rational one.

"I am absolutely for good water," said Rev. W. C. House, of Boston avenue M. E. church, south. "I have never seen Spavinaw river, but friends have told me it is clear. Also Missouri and Arkansas streams that I know to be beautiful and clean. That was enough to convince me."

West Tulsan, Too.

"Am I for the bonds and Spavinaw water? I should say I am," said Rev. W. C. Clock of the West Tulsa M. E. church. "If you could see the need among the poor people in West Tulsa that I see daily you would know how anxious we are for plenty of clean city water. I pay $1.75 a week for bottled water and that's bad enough, but I call on people who haven't money enough to buy one bottle a week. This side of the city needs sewerage and plumbing and extension of water mains. I haven't seen Spavinaw river, but I have confidence in those who stand back of the situation and I hope for the sake of the people I work among that we get that water."

The Fighting Parson.

Rev. J. W. Abel, pastor of First M. E. church, made up his mind about the bonds and Spavinaw river long ago and hasn't changed it once. He states that he sees the need of a water supply for the poor of Tulsa that does not have to be hotted and brought in trucks for a price. The poor people sometimes haven't the price, but they've got to have the water. Spavinaw water is pointed out as being a source of livelihood to many who will support themselves and children by taking in washing, the present city water, even if piped to them, not being fit for the purpose.

The opinion of Rabbi J. B. Menkes has been published previously. He is unqualifiedly for good water and the bonds.

And C. E. Buchner, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Asked how he felt about the bonds and getting water for Tulsa from Spavinaw river, he will "why, of course, I am for it." A foregone conclusion.

You would go to these men if you were in trouble. Do as much for Tulsa. Let their opinion have weight.

OIL AND GAS MEN FAVOR BOND ISSUE

Meet Tuesday and Form Organization to Help Water Campaign to Success.

Realizing that the success of the city of Tulsa is at stake in the election on the $3,000,000 Spavinaw bond issue, approximately 25 oil men, among them the leaders of the profession in the local field, gathered at headquarters of the "Good Water and a Greater Tulsa" campaign organization at 8:30 Tuesday morning in the Kennedy building and perfected an organization that will work for the bonds especially among the fraternity, until the polls are closed Thursday evening.

John O. Mitchell, recent convert to the cause, was principal speaker and at the request of a number of his friends agreed to accept the appointment of chairman of the meeting on condition that he be allowed to turn his authority over to J. R. Hadley after the meeting had been opened. Mr. Mitchell explained that an engagement previously made necessitated his presence elsewhere.

John O. Mitchell Speaks.

It developed that the speech of Mr. Mitchell was the keynote of sentiment among the oil men present. Mr. Mitchell told briefly how, early in the campaign an opponent of the bond issue he had been converted, and is now an ardent worker for the future of the city. He stated that a trip to Spavinaw had been greatly responsible for his turn and asserted that he is at present so deeply convinced of the necessity of voting the bonds that he will pay any additional tax brought about by the bond issue, which might be incurred by his tenants for the next five years.

Form Organization.

The new organization is to be known as the "Oil and Gas Men's Organization for the Benefit of the Good Water and a Greater Tulsa Campaign" and its members will confine their activities principally to the conversion of the oil and gas interests. The concerted effort is to be made by a committee consisting of 20 oil men, which is to be headed by John D. Richards as chairman. Especially will this committee, by mutual consent, work for the bonds until close of the polls Thursday night. H. C. Seiberling, local oil man, was principally responsible for the call which resulted in organization of the petroleum interests.

It is pointed out that although the oil men make their living in the territory outside of Tulsa, their property interests here claim a vital interest in the outcome of the election—an indication of the fact that the oil man is as deeply interested in the future welfare of the city and of his family as is any other type of citizen.

To Overcome Redness, Tan, Freckles, Blotches

If your skin is unduly reddened, tanned or freckled, just dab a little pure mercolized wax on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, fine flaky, almost invisible particles of cuticle come with it. Repeating this daily, the entire outer skin is absorbed, but so gradually and gently, there's not the slightest hint of inconvenience. Even the pronounced freckles are affected. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so clear, fresh and youthful-looking you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only thing known to actually discard an aged, faded, muddy or blotchy complexion. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store, is sufficient in most cases.—Adv.

PIPE LINE COMPANIES ASSESSMENT IS HIKED

Special to The World.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8.—The state board of equalization in session yesterday, passed a resolution making a net advance of ten per cent on the assessed valuations of pipe line companies. The assessment upon tankage was left at the same figure as prevailed a year ago, it seems. The real estate and tank car phases of the pipe line companies' assessments will be taken up later.

A year ago the state board of equalization raised the assessed valuation of pipe line companies 20 per cent and fixed the assessment on tankage at the figure approved by the board today, it seems.

IT'S WONDERFUL TO FEEL SO WELL

Mrs. Griffin Declares She Owes Health to Tanlac; Gains Six Pounds.

"For more than a year before I began taking Tanlac I had to have someone to help me with my work," said Mrs. Lena Griffin, who resides near Fort San Houston, at San Antonio, Texas, recently.

"When I began taking Tanlac," Mrs. Griffin continued, "my system seemed to be all run down. My back, hips and legs hurt me so I could hardly stand up. I had no appetite, couldn't eat much of anything, and of course got very weak and thin. I also had continual pain in my right side supposed to be caused by appendicitis and was operated on, but kept suffering the same way. My nerves were simply shattered to pieces. I had awful headaches and was almost a complete physical wreck. My strength was gone. I felt tired and worn out all the time and was unable to do my work.

"But I have let my help go since I began taking Tanlac. It is really wonderful the way it has built me up. I have already gained six pounds, am strong enough to do all my own work and have just started on my second bottle of Tanlac. I can get around now without any aches and pains and actually feel better than I have in years. It certainly is wonderful to feel well like I do now all the time and I'm glad to have the privilege of making this statement because I believe it will be the cause of others getting relief."

Tanlac is sold in Tulsa by Quaker Drug company, Puritan Drug company and by the leading druggists in practically every city, town and village in America.—Adv.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Eating Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

When one comes to consider the best of the energy tonics we are searching continually for some method by which they may increase their force to normal proportions by the use of any one of many, follows, the results of overwork or nerve exhaustion angles with the manifest loss of health and attractive ness, it is no wonder that many and varied experiments along this line appear from time to time in public print.

While extensive success might be attributed in various and subtle cases to different preparations, it is a well-known fact that the use of sufficient phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for the good condition. Experiments conducted and accepted by many scientists have demonstrated beyond question of doubt that a body deficient in phosphorous becomes nervous easily and thin. A well-known writer and professor in his book "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1913, says: "... that the element of phosphorous required for the normal nutrition of man is seriously underrated in many of our standard text books."

It seems to be well established that this deficiency of phosphorous may now be met by the use of organic phosphate known as Nitro-Phosphate, speaking countries as one of the best. Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue the phosphorous is more absorbed in the system than is supplied by nature in her ordinary course of food. No more change is met with, nerve tension disappears, new nerve force replaces weakness and the whole body soon becomes filled out and abrupt angles disappear, creating in a glow of perfect health, vim and life will and strength.

Nitro-Phosphate has proven the relief of nervous ... those taking it ... not on fresh should ... are standing fat producing foods.
