

SEE THIRD PARTY LED BY HOOVER

Politicians Speculate on Possibilities of Ex-Food Chief.

IS BITTERLY OPPOSED

Republican Forces Will Never Consent to His Nomination; Democrats Divided.

By WILLIAM PHILIP HEMM, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Republican opposition to the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for the presidential nomination in Chicago has risen to such a pitch here that it was freely predicted today around political headquarters that 1912 will be repeated with the former food administrator playing the role of Theodore Roosevelt in a convention. The republican "old guard" insist emphatically that Hoover can never be nominated on any ticket they have anything to do with. The Johnson-Borah faction of the party is just as violently opposed to his candidacy because of his stand on the league of nations, while the Wood crowd fairly snarled their derision when the name of Hoover was mentioned in their presence.

In short the combined cohorts of the republican party are preparing for a descent upon Hoover which will make the avalanche which struck Colonel Roosevelt at Chicago in 1912 look like child's play. That much is admitted. The question remains are asking themselves how will Hoover meet the onslaught and what form will his counter-attack take.

One of the answers given is by splitting the party and holding a ruin convention. Some republicans profess that Hoover is already aware he cannot win the nomination and that his real aim is a party division with himself as leader of the succeeding faction, counting upon the democratic party to furnish him with sufficient votes to win the election in a three-cornered fight.

The formation of a third party with Hoover at its head is receiving serious consideration here by both republicans and democrats. Such a party, it is admitted, would be at the

WAR RESOLUTION IS REPORTED OUT

Continued from page one. Monday because of the prohibitive absence of members on that day owing to the Easter holidays. They had no doubt that it would be adopted, although the democrats were lining up against it, but were not actually confident that the necessary two-thirds could be obtained.

In that connection Mr. Cummings said he did not think for one moment that the president would sign such a resolution. He said the house was attempting to exercise powers it did not possess.

Opposing the general political situation, Mr. Cummings indicated that the democratic leaders expected to have the aid of the president in the coming campaign.

"I hope the president will be able to participate actively in the campaign," he said. "He is improved in health and while he may not be able to take the stump, he can still write and he can always be heard through his writings."

Has Trouble With Wilson.
He said he had not discussed this phase lately with the president, but that he had had "a little difficulty in ascertaining the president's position on questions which I deem crucial."

Asked for the democratic view of the announcement of Herbert Hoover as a candidate for the republican presidential nomination, Mr. Cummings said:

"It is always a bad thing to see an essential democrat attempt to liberalize a stand-out party. Suppose we took that stand."

Mr. Cummings said he assumed the question of a more liberal construction of the Volstead prohibition expense of both, as the latest votes conclusively proved. The entry of Hoover into the fight for the nomination has caused consternation in the ranks of republicans and democrats alike.

The democrats, like the republicans, are facing a split at their convention. Twenty-one democratic senators deserted the administration and voted for the ratification of the treaty of Versailles as amended by the Lodge reservations. But 23 democrats remained steadfast, so today the spectre of a convention split along the same lines will not down.

JUST GAVE UP SUFFERED SO

Weakness, Pains and Other Troubles Had Discouraged This Arkansas Lady. She Took Cardui, Found It Helpful. Got Well!

Harrisburg, Ark.—After serious symptoms had become apparent, Mrs. Belle Wilkerson, of Route 1, this place, says she "got worse and worse."

"I wasn't able to stand on my feet and had to go to bed," she explains. The . . . grew worse, and for about three weeks nothing seemed to do me any good. I grew so weak and nervous and could not sleep. I began to have pain in the lower part of my body, and all across my back. There was a great deal of soreness and pain in my left side. . . . I just gave up, for I suffered so. I grew discouraged and thought I was not going to get well.

My head not only ached, but would feel so light and dizzy. . . . I decided then I would take Cardui, as I read of how many women it had benefited, and some whose case was like mine. When I began Cardui, just after a few doses I noticed a change. I slept better at night. . . . and felt like I could eat something. I got up and began to do the work in the house and yard, and after three or four bottles of Cardui I was well."

enforcement act would be "before the San Francisco convention and also the Chicago convention."

Repeal War Acts.
Republican leaders said the more important wartime acts and powers which would be repealed automatically with passage of the resolution included:

War-time prohibition, liquor food and fuel control law with provisions against profiteering, espionage act, selective service law, authorization for loans of $10,000,000,000 to allies, complete control over all shipping, authorization for president to use armed forces to prevent interference with interstate or foreign commerce; blocking the use of expressive authorization of a system of priority shipments; authorization of an employment service in labor department; control over patents, war housing act, a restoration protecting civil rights of men while in the service, and authorization of an embargo on imports in the discretion of the president.

The trading-with-the-enemy act would be continued until Germany agrees to provisions of the resolution. The emergency shipping act, the emergency act giving the president the power to distribute executive powers as he desires and the act creating the war finance corporation and the signal corps committee see expire six months after a declaration of peace.

Not to strike.

Beauty Secrets for Women

A woman's fondest hope is to stay young. She often resorts to paints, powders and cosmetics to hide her years. Some women pay large sums to so-called "Beauty Doctors" in the belief that money will buy youth. Others wear girlish dresses, thinking they can fool the world about their age. But no one is deceived. The more you try to hide your age, the more it shows.

There is but one thing that holds old age back, and that is health. Sickness and weakness bring old age early in life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a building-up medicine for women. It makes them healthy and strong when they suffer from women's troubles. It keeps them looking young by keeping them well. It is a woman's tonic for the frail, the delicate and those who are nervous, dizzy and who have backache and dragging down pains. Some women took it years ago and have felt young and well ever since. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is altogether vegetable and without a particle of alcohol. It is safe to take. Try it now. In tablet or liquid form at all druggists, or send 10¢ for trial package of the tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.
