

TWO MEN PERISH WHEN SUB SINKS

R-6, Anchored in Harbor at San Pedro, Suddenly Goes Down

SUNK LIKE PLUMMET

Men Had But Slight Chance to Get Off; Opening of Inner Torpedo Doors Cause

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Opening of the inner doors of a torpedo tube, after the outer doors had not been closed, caused the sinking of the submarine R-6 in San Pedro harbor last night, according to advice to the navy department late today.

A court of inquiry on the accident has been ordered.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 27.—Two men may not live their lives when the submarine R-6 sank in San Pedro harbor last night, it was officially announced today by Rear Admiral Herman O. Stiecker, commander of the Pacific fleet train and an eyewitness of the disaster. A third man who was missing and who for a time was thought to have been a victim of the accident, has been accounted for, together with all other officers and men of the submarine.

The dead are: J. E. DREFFELIN, seaman, San Pedro, Calif.

FRANK O. SPAULSBURG, seaman, Cowles Lake, S. D.

Dreffelin was drowned when, as the R-6 sank, he was thrown into the harbor waters from the open conning tower. His body was recovered, Spaulsburg, it was stated, had unquestionably been caught in the sinking vessel and had been drowned when the water poured into the conning tower.

According to Rear Admiral Stiecker, the accident resulted from a torpedo tube having been left open. The craft sank in two minutes.

INTRODUCE HAROLD SINGER

New Field Secretary of Oklahoma C. E. Union Pays Tulsa a Visit.

The first glimpse of Harold Singer, new field secretary for the Oklahoma Christian Endeavor union, was had by Tulsa Endeavorers yesterday when Singer, in company with Rev. D. D. Swinney, state intermediate superintendent, visited here in connection with his introduction tour of the state. Singer told Endeavorers repeatedly that this would not be his last trip here and that he was pleased with the condition of the local work.

Singer conferred with Miss Marie Holmes, Tulsa district president, in the afternoon and at night addressed a union meeting in the First Christian church on Oklahoma's part in the "Four Square" world program for this year and next. The meeting was followed by a reception for Miss Emma McClaran of this city, who will leave Friday to begin her work as secretary for the southwestern C. E. federation, with headquarters at Dallas, Texas.

PAGE IS SUED FOR $65,000

Passenger Injured on Electric Swing at Park Files Damage Suit.

Charles Page, Sand Springs millionaire for the second time within a month is named defendant in a big damage suit filed in district court. A. J. Pearson, Tuesday filed a $65,000 suit against Page, the Sand Springs park, railway company, home of E. M. Merrill. Page was defendant in a suit for alleged slander filed by one of his former employes about three weeks ago.

In his petition, Pearson sets out that on June 16 he purchased a ride on the electric swing. While the device was in motion, traveling at a high rate of speed, Pearson says the car in which he was riding struck an electric light pole which had been set up near the swing. He says that he was thrown forward on his face and suffered many injuries which unless he is operated up on, will make him helpless for life. The accident, he asserts, was caused by negligence of the defendants in constructing the swing.

No Suit Wears Just Like Iron, Justices Decide

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—When a clothing clerk tells you that a suit will "wear like iron," he shouldn't be taken too literally, because his expression is figurative and does not bind his boss as giving a warranty entitling the purchaser to his money back when, after several months of wear, holes make their appearance in the seat of the trousers.

ADA, Sept. 27.—Dr. N. P. Patterson, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, has been invited by the local chapter of the Ku-Klux Klan to speak on the Klan at a local invitation here Sunday afternoon. TO DISCUSS PLAN OF GREATER CITY

Chamber of Commerce Invites All Citizens to Meeting Thursday

Officers of the Chamber of Commerce expect a truly democratic crowd of Tulsans at the mass meeting at the High school auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday night, when Tulsa's future is to be under discussion and when plans are to be formulated for its advancement to the industrial and business place it should occupy in the southwest.

"We expect this meeting to be characterized by the same spirit that animated Tulsans during the war, when they gathered together with but one purpose in mind—that of helping win the war," Ava J. Niles, president of the chamber of commerce, said yesterday.

"It is those things of apprehension and uncertainty that Tulsans are filled with energy and fired with enthusiasm, forget individualism and worked early and late selling liberty bonds and war stamps. They were never satisfied unless Tulsa was the first city in the south-west to over-subscribe its quota, no matter how large it was, and then announce with justifiable pride that Tulsa never was known to 'fall down.' And when the time came for another campaign these same men and women banded together again with the same fighting spirit and put over another successful drive.

Rivalry of Cities. "That's the spirit we want at this meeting. There is no bloody war in progress now, but there is a constant war—one of friendly but stern rivalry—between cities for commercial and industrial supremacy. By exhibiting the same spirit in city building that gave Tulsa an international reputation during the war, this city can and will be the foremost city in the southwest. We have the natural advantages; we have the required type of men and women; and we have the same fighting spirit. The case of building Tulsa, just as they were banded together to help win the war, and say—why, they'll be an irresistible force."

The reorganization plans of the Chamber of Commerce have been perfected. They are designed along the simplest but most effective lines and were drafted after a careful study by chamber of commerce officers of similar organizations in other cities where the chambers of commerce have been responsible for unprecedented growth and expansion.

SUNDAY'S MANAGER HERE

Fred Rapp Expected in City Wednesday for Revival Preliminaries.

With the expected arrival here Wednesday of Fred W. Rapp, business representative of Billy Sunday, there will soon be set on motion an extensive program of preparation which will culminate in the opening of the famous evangelist's campaign October 30. Rapp, who has been associated with Sunday for about 14 years and has acted in his present capacity since his return from V. S. work abroad, will come from Spartanburg, S. C. to be the place of the campaign following Tulsa's.

Campaign headquarters have been established in the basement of the Y. M. C. A. by Miss Abbie Thomas, Rapp's secretary. Through Miss Thomas Rapp has already announced himself as ready to address out-of-town meetings and to arrange for groups from nearby towns to attend specified Sunday meetings in a body. A meeting of the general campaign committee, composed of the pastor and two representatives from each of the cooperating churches may be called this week by Crisis Avery, chairman, to get all advance work under way. Construction of a tabernacle on South Egan, according to the specifications of all Sunday's tabernacles, will also be started shortly.

STATE CONTENT WITH ITS CASE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE. The testimony given today with Mrs. Belmont in Alton Blanke and said she had known Alton Blanke about a year.

The witness was vigorously questioned as to whether she had discussed her testimony with anyone else, especially Alton Blanke. She repeatedly denied having done so.

Relating the circumstances of Miss Happer's entrance to room 1219, the witness said:

"Don't Write the Time." "Mrs. Belmont was in 1212 changing her dress. Miss Happer went to the door and called, 'Maude, Maude, let me see Mrs. Belmont's register, will you go to the other room, will you?' The door was open. At that time, Arbuckle was standing by the table.

The witness said that while drinks were on the table she had not partaken of any. Miss Belmont, she said, had some drinks, but she did not recall how many.

"We were having too good a time to pay much attention to the exact time." The defense here from the witness was the admission that she believed Mrs. Belmont was intoxicated when she demanded that the door of 1219 be opened.

Miss Belmont refused to estimate how many drinks Mrs. Belmont had, but said "she was taking everything offered her."

Arbuckle opened the door of 1219, she said almost immediately after Mrs. Belmont had called "open the door."

On cross-examination the witness stated the Dr. she described previously came from a hotel of No. 19 1/2 and that when he had been placed at the back of Miss Happer's head, but that Miss Rapp had thrown it in the floor.

Miss Happer said she had only seen Miss Rapp take one drink and when she entered the room she did not believe her intoxicated, but believed her to be ill. Asked if Miss Rapp might have bruised her own arm while testing it for drinking, the witness said Miss Rapp had not.

Community Fairs Get Busy

On a direct examination the witness said she had met by accident one of the defense witnesses at the street and related her conversation with him. She said he told her to call him up if she ever needed an attorney.

Do you discriminate at the dining table—or are you thoughtless?

In thousands of homes, a "line" is drawn at the breakfast table. Tea or coffee is served for "grow-ups" and Postum for children. But some parents do not discriminate. Caffeine and tannin, the injurious contents of coffee and tea, seriously retard the development of the delicate nerve tissues in children.

Consequently, instead of rich, satisfying Postum, children are over stimulated by the drugs in tea and coffee; and so may grow up irritable and nervous. Any doctor can tell you that this is a great evil and should be corrected.

Although some parents feel a certain justification for the personal indulgence in coffee, yet the harm to them may be equally serious. It may take a little while longer for the drugs in coffee and tea to affect an older person, but in many cases the nervous system and allied bodily functions will become weakened. The surest way to avoid such possibilities is to quit coffee entirely and drink Postum instead. The change permits you to get sound, restful sleep.

Postum is the well-known, meal-time beverage. Like thousands of others you will like it because, in flavor, it is much like a high-grade coffee.

Do away with the distinction at the table. Serve delicious Postum, piping hot, to all the family. One week's trial and it is likely that you'll never return to tea and coffee.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of large bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
