WHO WILL WIN THE STATE FIGHT

Standards of Their Favorites in the Contest for the Gubernatorial Nomination ican struggle for the gubernatorial nom-ination has neared its end. When the state convention convened at 10 a. m. today United States District Attorney Lyon, or Great efforts were made by the Delemater men before the convention to induce Maj. Montooth to accept second place on the tate ticket.

Maj. Montooth replied that he wanted

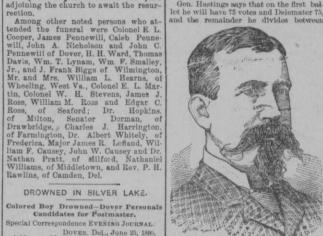

Maj. Montooth replied that he wanted nothing but first place, but the Delemater people think he will finally accept second place. Delemater is generally considered to have a sure thing for first place, but Hastings' friends express great confidence. If Montooth refuses second place, the Delemater people say it will go to either Watres, Martin or Passmore.

"Dick" Quay is There.
Senator Quay is not here yet, and the prospects are that he will not put in an appearance until after the convention. His son Dick has arrived, and has been holding quiet confabs with the workers of the convention. Just what Dick is here for no one can tell, but whatever he says will be done, for it is well known that he was sent here by his father to look after his father's interests. Young Dick himself is a very close friend of the Crawford county senator and this in itself is liable to quase something of a rush into the Delemater lines.

What Hastings served. On the casket were a cross and a pyramid of beautiful flowers. The family and friends followed. During the services hymns were sung, the last one eling "Jesus, Lover of My Soul, Let Me t. Thy Rosem Fig. "Jesus, Lover of My Soul, Let Me t. Thy Bosom Fly."

Miss Nellie Moore, daughter of the late Colonel Jacob Moore, presided at the organ. After singing the last hymn the services were concluded at the grave. And all that was mortal of Judge John H. Paynter was laid to rest in the yard adjoining the church to await the resurrection.

What Hastings Says. Gen. Hastings says that on the first bal-lot he will have 75 votes and Delemater 75, and the remainder he divides between

There have been several efforts to secure a conference of the field against Delemater, but a recognition of their inability to hold their forces under a change of commanders rendered these efforts nugatory. It coes not look now as if the present antagonists could combine, as no one is generous enough to sacrifice himself. Every man has a badge of some kind, and those who don't wear a Hastings or Delemater hadge wear the picture of some candidate for second place.

The law seeks to protect individuals rather than combinations."
Concluding, the opinion says:
"The defendant corporation has violated its charter and failed in the performance of its corporate duties and that in respects so material and important as to justify a judgment of dissolution. Having reaches that result, it is needless to advance into the wider discussion over monopolies and, the problem of political economy. Outduty is to leave them until some proper emergency compels their consideration, without either approval or disapproval of the views expressed by the court below. We are enabled to decide that in this state, there can be no partnerships of separate and independent corporations, whether directly or indirectly through the medium of a trust; no substantial consolidation which avoids and disregards the statutary provisions and restraints, but that manufacturing corporations must be, and remain several as they were created, or one under the statute. The judgment appealed from is affirmed with costs." All of the court concurred.

TO DIE AT LAST.

Murderer Kemmler Must Suffer the Electric Shock.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 25.—The court of appeals has decided that Murderer Kemmler must die by electricity at the hands of Warden Durston, of Auburn prison. The case was entitled "The people of the state of New York ex rel., appellant, vs. Charles F. Durston, agent and warden of the Auburn state prison, respondent."

W. Bourke Cockran, of New York city, argued the case for the appellant, and contended that chapter 489 of the laws of 1888 is unconstitutional and void, because in making the agent and warden of Auburn prison the custodian and executioner in this case it assumes to deprive the sheriff of IErie county of the powers conferred upon him by the constitution.

The appeal was opposed by Attorney General Charles F. Tabor. Immediately at the close of his argument, which was very brief, Chief Judge Ruger dismissed the motion for appeal and ordered that Kemmler remain in the custody of Durs ton and the Court was the court the sentence.

TARIFF REFORM AT EASTON.

Temporary Organization of a Club. Speech by F. K. Worthington.

Speech by F. K. Worthington.

EASTON, Md., June 25.—The Tariff Reform Club of Talbot county was temporarily organized at the court house in Easton yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. William H. Adkins entertained the delegates from thee Maryland Tariff Reform Club, at dinner before the meeting with several prominent Democrats of Talbot county. States Senator Colonel Edward Lloyd was made chairman of the meeting, with William H. Adkins temporary secretary.

T. K. Worthington, president of the Maryland Tariff Reform Club, and Roger W. Cull, chairman of the state sub committee, were present from Baltimore for the purpose of assisting in the organization of the club. Mr. Worthington scope of the work to be done and the most effective methods of accomplishing it. He was followed by Mr. Cull, who gave particular instances of the injustice and favoritism wrought by the McKinley and Senate Finance Committee bills, and contrasted the standpoint of the Republican party before the campalgn with that of the present time.
