

THE STEAMSHIP FLOATS.

GOOD SHIP NEW HAMPSHIRE LAUNCHED THIS AFTERNOON.

Description of the New Vessels for the Providence and Stonington Line—Their Handsome Saloon Furnishings—Modern Equipment—To be Completed Before May 1.

The Providence and Stonington Line steamship New Hampshire was launched at the shipyard of the Harlan and Hollingsworth Company at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

It was thought at first that the snow and ice in the yard and creek would interfere with the launch, but the way was cleared by noon and the launch was without an interruption. As soon as the vessel had glided into the Christiana, a hundred employees manned the hawser and, with the assistance of tug-boats, brought the vessel in to the wharf, where she will remain until completed.

Among those who were on the vessel when she glided into the Christiana were: Vice President S. D. A. Cook, D. W. Heavens, superintendent (Clarke), J. R. Riker, Commodore E. G. Gery, President J. W. Miller, General Passenger Agent O. H. Briggs, D. W. Heavens, Jr., all of New York. Supt. Clarke and party came in Vice-President Miller's private car, No. 100. The visitors will return this afternoon.

The building of the two new steamers by the Providence and Stonington Steamship Company, to run on their Stonington Line, is an event of much interest not only to the traveling public, but to all who are in any way interested in marine architecture, as these steamers present many novelties in type and plan, and are the result of much thought devoted to the question of the best type of vessel to run on great inland bodies of water such as the Chesapeake Bay.

The size of these steamers, the advantage of their plan and equipment, their arrangements for speed, comfort and safety, the magnificence of their interior, fitting and decorations, will all combined make them the finest vessels of their kind afloat. The first of these vessels, the "Maine," was launched at the Harlan and Hollingsworth yard on October 31.

These boats are steel propellers, in it self a great innovation on Long Island Sound, where the side wheelers have been away so long. Their general dimensions are: Length on water line, 302 feet 2 inches; length over all, 310 feet; beam molded on load water line, 44 feet; width over guards, 60 feet; draft, 12 feet. The hull is of steel, and the hull plating will be very handsome and the passenger accommodations are to be the most comfortable that can be secured.

A special feature of the new vessels, however, will be the steam-heating service which will be supplied to both the main and the dookies boilers. The saloons will be heated by radiators and the steamships by continuous pipes. All the plumbing will be first class. The steamers will be lighted by electricity, about 500 lights being installed on each vessel, side and stern lights being also electric, and a search light will be mounted upon the pilot house. The main engine of the steamers will be an inverted, direct acting, surface condensing, triple expansion engine with four cylinders of 38, 45, 51 and 51 inches diameter, with 42 inch stroke. The propeller is of cast iron, left-handed, four bladed, and 184 feet in diameter. Four Scotch type boilers will be installed in each vessel. These will be 15 feet 8 inches in diameter and 42 feet 6 inches long, and will be made of steel having a tensile strength of 60,000 pounds to the square inch. Each boiler is 15 inches outside diameter, comprising 274 square feet of grate surface.

The steering gear will be the Williams combined hand and steam gear. There will be seven watertight compartments in each vessel, insuring perfect safety in case of accident. The steamers will carry the full complement of life rafts and boats. These fine vessels will be finished next May, and will take their places on the Stonington Line at the opening of the next summer season.

NEW CASTLE ACCOMMODATIONS.

The aware Road Gives New Castle Twelve Trains Per Day.

A new schedule will go into effect on the Delaware division of the P. W. & B. railroad at 12 o'clock on Monday. The essential changes are that the train formerly leaving Wilmington at 5:35 p. m. running to Clayton and returning, arriving in Wilmington at 8 a. m., has been taken off. To offset this, a train has been added to New Castle, arriving there at 4:03 p. m.; and another train has been placed on leaving here at 4:40 p. m., arriving at New Castle at 4:53 p. m. Train No. 61, the Wilmington accommodation and Delaware mail train, which left here at 7 p. m., will now leave at 6:53.

A train will leave New Castle at 4:15 p. m., arriving in Wilmington at 4:27 p. m., and another will leave there at 5:35 p. m., arriving in Wilmington at 5:48.

This change gives New Castle six accommodations trains each way daily in addition to the through trains that stop there.

AMUSEMENTS.

Grand Opera House.

"Me and Jack" was the attraction given at the Opera House last evening, and was greeted by a fair house. The play is a happy blending of burlesque, comic opera, variety and spectacular features. Taken as a whole it pleased the audience. The funny work of John J. Burke as "Me," and Arthur J. O'Brien as "Jack," was particularly clever. The song and dance specialties of Miss Polly McDonald, as "Wildrose," were well done. The burlesque features were good and free from everything objectionable.

The (Boston Globe) says: "There is scarcely a sentence or situation in 'Me and Jack' which is not breezily merry. The comedy is constructed on novel lines and its dialogue is uncommonly bright and original. With rare tact everything of an offensively suggestive nature has been avoided; every drop of applause and every ray of laughter is won by means wholly legitimate on the farce comedy stage. The fundamental idea of the piece, showing Greek civilization in contrast with happenings in a Fifth Avenue drawing room, is exceedingly funny, and cleverly contrived are the complications ensuing. 'Me and Jack' will be seen here on Monday and Tuesday evening at the Grand Opera House."

Edge Moor Office Warm.

The new $25,000 office of the Edge Moor Bridge Works will be formally opened with a ball and banquet on Monday night. It will be given by the office employees and will be largely attended. A special train will be run from this city. The music will be furnished by a Philadelphia orchestra.

Martin Johnson, the wounded sailor, was brought to this city yesterday afternoon by Messrs. Mahaffy, and sent to the Delaware Hospital.

THE PRESIDENT IS DEAD.

Colonel Christian Feibiger, of the Delaware Railroad Dies of Paralysis.

Colonel Christian Feibiger, president of the Delaware Railroad Company, who was yesterday stricken with paralysis, died at 9 o'clock last night.

The immediate cause of death was paralysis, although he had been suffering from the effects of a severe cold contracted about two weeks ago. When first taken, he was seized with a congestive chill and since then has been confined to his room, No. 1907 Market street. On Monday a. m. he was well enough to attend the meeting of the stockholders of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad and the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Colonel Feibiger was born in Philadelphia on Christmas Day, 1817. He was the eldest of three sons, all of whom became public-spirited and enterprising men. His brothers were Colonel George Feibiger, U. S. A., deceased, and Admiral John Feibiger, of the United States Navy. He began life as a distiller in Cincinnati. His entire plant was washed away in one night by the great flood in the Ohio river in 1849 or 1843. Too discouraged to ever return, he came to this city and was for a number of years a teller in the Union Bank. He afterwards became connected with the milling firm of Taitall & Lee.

During the late war he was one of the organizers and afterward lieutenant of the Fifth Regiment of Delaware Infantry and served actively with the regiment during the first term of active service. In personal appearance Colonel Feibiger was a handsome man. He was large and of commanding presence. He was a well-known figure on the streets. He was warm-hearted, generous, in manner he was courteous and affable, a good conversationalist and a pleasant companion. He was also an expert photographer, having a large number of handsome pictures which he had made and which he prized very highly.

Colonel Feibiger was president of the Delaware Railroad Company, having succeeded Samuel M. Felton and was a director of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company, having been elected recently to the above position. Besides holding these positions he has served as a member of Council from the Ninth ward, and represented the same ward in the Board of Education. In 1880 he was elected Levy Court Commissioner for four years. At the time of his death he was a member of the Board of Water Commissioners of this city.

This morning the large flag is at half-mast over the Delaware railroad offices opposite the P. W. & B. station, and throughout the city there are signs of mourning for the dead colonel. His funeral will be held on Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock and interment will be private.

MANY MERRY DANCERS.

The Kelly Lyceum Association Gives a Big Soiree.

Probably the biggest social of the season was given last evening in Institute Hall by the members of the Kelly Lyceum Association, this being its third annual reception. Invited guests from all sections of the state and peninsula participated in the evening's pleasure, and tripped gaily over the waxed floor to the beautiful strains of Albert's orchestra of fifteen pieces, which furnished the music.

Precisely at 10:30 o'clock the orchestra began to play the grand march, which was led by D. M. Brown and Miss Liza Schmetzler, followed by Charles Murphy and Miss Crumlish. Gay costumes and forms bedecked with jewels could be seen engaged in the numerous dances which followed.

Among those on the march were: Miss Nellie Duffy, Cecelia Callahan, Mary Lynch, Anna Estley, Lizzie Gardner, Mabel Brady, Miss McCarran, Miss Maddox, J. T. Curran, William Gallagher, D. P. Lynch, J. E. Donahoe, George White, E. J. Curley, William Money, Lewis Hance, D. P. Regan, and many others.

At midnight the company was served with a light luncheon and at the conclusion of the first part of the evening's program the dancing of the reception with their ladies and many of the dancers gathered at Gardner's restaurant where supper was served.

A. B. POLMIST DYING.

A. B. Polmist, 31 years old, clerk in the freight office of the B. & O. railroad in this city, is dying at the home of his parents No. 402 West Sixth street. He is unconscious and may pass away at any moment. The cause of his untimely end is Bright's disease of the kidneys from which he has been suffering since last July. Dr. Rile and a New York specialist have been attending him, but their united efforts were of no avail.

Mr. Polmist is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Polmist of the Y. M. C. A. He was known to many. His fellow employees in the B. & O. office speak highly of him.

His Identity Still in Doubt.

An adjourned meeting of the coroner's jury to investigate the death of the man killed near Edge Moor was held last night. The following verdict was reached: "Resolved, That the man supposed to be Albert Smith, of Cornwall, N. Y., found in a culvert under the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad, near the Edge Moor station, on Tuesday morning, January 12, 1892, met his death in a manner unknown to the jury."

JUGGLING WITH FIGURES.

A Republican City Council Try to Make a Democratic Deficit to Justify Its Own.

To-day the Morning News contains a truly exhaustive statement by which it hopes to show that the late Democratic Council left a deficit of $10,835.22 in the treasury of the city. This statement was prepared for Franklin B. Gaiton by City Auditor Billings. It was made for a political purpose and the city auditor knew it when he made it. Business methods were forgotten and nothing but juggling with figures was thought of.

Ex-President Farra's Opinion.

If there is any man in the city who is capable of giving a fair statement it is ex-President of Council Farra. He is respected and believed by Democrats and Republicans alike. Speaking of the Gaiton-Billings statement he says: "The statement is a dishonest one. There seems to be a frantic desire to prepare the way for a deficit at the end of the fiscal year by endeavoring to shift the responsibility from the present administration to the preceding year of Democratic management."

"The misleading assertions and garbled arrangement of figures are cunningly devised, but a careful scrutiny by one familiar with the system of accounting used by the city, will show that the handsome surplus left by the Democratic Council remains practically unimpaired."

"The statement of June bills paid in July were all provided for in the appropriations made for this year. This will be plainly shown in the case of the appropriations for interest and the redemption of bonds, which the present Council cannot exhaust by extravagance on their part, as these are fixed charges. That the present Council has had to pay judgments against the city amounting to about $6,000, is unfortunate, but it has happened in former years, and the Council that succeeds this one will probably have similar judgments to pay. These bills are the outcome of disputes at law, and it is a matter of justice to the tax payers that the money is not paid from the treasury until legal resources are exhausted, and it is definitely settled that payment has to be made."

In providing for the appropriations for next year the same course will be pursued in regard to June bills as was done last year, and by all previous Democratic and Republican Councils since the present city charter went into effect."

Taking the statement of the Gaiton-Billings financial combination the bills that can be fairly said to act as an offset to the balance of $19,576.41 do not amount to more than $700.

An Ex-City Auditor's Opinion.

Ex-City Auditor Mitchell says:

"It has always been customary to pay June bills out of the next year's appropriations, and declare a balance credit in favor of them. Take this statement, for instance: Here is one item as an example—William C. Ford, three months rent of pound, to June 25, 1891, $37.50. Of course the setting Council could not pay that because it was not paid until the first regular bill night in the following month. Such items are too numerous to enumerate fully, but the following are good examples and show how unreliable the statement is: 'B. Mitchell, Jr., for school city and school tax from October 16, 1890, to July 1, 1891, $746.80; interest list for the month ending July 1, 1891, $6,487; redemption of bonds, July 1, 1891, $6,000.'"

"There you have over $10,000 there that the Democratic Council could not pay because it was not due."

"The plain truth of the matter is that the Republican Councilmen see that they are in a hole and will make a bad showing at the end of the fiscal year. Therefore they would like to believe that it is caused by Democratic Council's bills left over."

A Mass of Ignorance.

Clerk of Council Messick gives the following opinion: "The statement is a mass of ignorance. The ordinance making the appropriations for the ensuing fiscal year is always passed in the month of May. In 1891 it was passed on May 28, and approved by the mayor on June 5. Among the appropriations provided for are: Interest, $68,621; redemption of loan, $21,500; salaries, $76,000. Included in the interest appropriation is the $3,457 of interest due on the redemption of loan, $6,000 due July 1, and in the salaries the miscellaneous police and Council pay-rolls, payable in July to the amount of $369.32. There is no such thing as June interest, but the ordinance as June interest. It is July interest. It would be impossible for Council to pay that, no matter how much balance it provides when it shall be paid."

"It is surprising that Mr. Colton, who was a member of the Finance Committee which prepared this ordinance, should include items aggregating $30,185.52, to create such a false impression."

NEW CENTURY CLUB CELEBRATES.

Third Anniversary of the Club Enjoyably Commemorated—Interesting Reports Read.

The New Century Club has passed its third successful year and a session appropriate to the occasion was held in Eden Hall this morning. The assembly room was well-filled with the members and friends of the club. The stage was beautifully decorated with flowers and potted plants. The president of the club opened the exercises with an address of welcome.

Miss Emily Bissell, secretary of the West End Reading Club, read a report on the work done in that club. She stated that the club was organized in 1889 in a one-story house at Sixteenth and Locust streets. It now occupies a large, magnificent building at Fourteenth and Dupont streets. During the last eight months there has been an attendance of 4,485 boys. The work is progressing successfully and with the promise of more interest. She spoke of the success of the West End Record, a paper published by the club. The free kindergarten has also met with success. They were still in need of a few teachers for the different classes.

The dress-making, drawing, music and temperance lessons also met with success. Miss Margaret S. Bissell, president of the State W. C. T. U., was the next speaker. She spoke of "State Temperance Work." She spoke of the supreme object of the society and urged the club to join with them in their good work. She stated that there were thirty-five branches through the state, with an attendance of 18,000. She told how the society had presented a bill to the late Legislature, prohibiting boys from using tobacco. The present bill was killed, but that did not stop their work in this direction. She stated the need of a home for young girls who have fallen in life.

Miss Mary H. Mather spoke of "Local Temperance Work." Her remarks were well received. She read a letter from the "Glad's Friendly Society." Mrs. N. F. Cressy Miss Carrie "officer Mrs. F. Frank Ball and Mrs. Eliza S. Turner of Philadelphia gave addresses, which flushed the morning exercises.

At 12:30 o'clock a dinner was served the members and their friends. The afternoon exercises began at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Mary A. Livermore of Melrose, Mass., will discuss "Women in the Relation to the State." The President of "Spiritus," New York City, Dr. Jennie de la M. Lezier, will discuss "Women in Their Relation to Education and Profession." "Women in Their Home Relations," is the subject of the closing address of the series and will be made by Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, president of the on-day Club of Philadelphia. Another session will be held to-night at 8 o'clock.

DESPERATE COLORED MAN.

James O. Cooper Threatens to Kill Elijah Green—Other Cases.

James McElwee was arrested for drunkenness by Officer Evans last night, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and costs to the Municipal Court this morning. John Price, colored, drunk, $2 or twenty days, Sarah Ward, colored, arrested by Officer White for the same offense was fined $3 and costs. She met Cooper on the street and he attempted to assault her. She ran to her home and he followed her. He again drew the knife and attempted to cut her. She made an outcry and Cooper was overpowered by Ronda White. She said that Cooper was a dangerous man and had shot at her in the morning.

Rhoda White testified that she heard them wrestling. She thought they were playing. Cooper, however, left the house with the determination to kill her. He afterward came back with a double-barreled shotgun. He also saw Cooper have a knife in his hand.

Cooper was held in $1,000 bail to answer the charge at court.

DEADLY CHRISTMAS TOY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jack the Victim of a Toy Fish Horn.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jack, 65 years old, wife of Henry Jack, a foreman in the Hilles and Jones Company's shops, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning under very peculiar circumstances.

Mrs. Jack lived at the northwest corner of Ninth and Church streets. Last Friday she was attracted to the window by some noise in the street. She walked very hurriedly. A toy fish-horn was on the floor, where it had been left by a child. She stepped upon it and it bit her. The fall broke her hip and injured her internally. Dr. A. B. Harris had been attending her since the fall, and entertained little hope of her recovery on account of her advanced age. Her sufferings at times were intense.

The deceased leaves four children, all grown: William Jack of this city, Mrs. William White of California, Mrs. Alfred Cochran of Spruce street, and Miss Lizzie, the only single daughter, who lives at Hiner and injured her.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be largely attended.

Assaulted By Young Toughs.

Edward, the 15-year-old son of Josiah Whitesell, of No. 638 East Eleventh street, is confined to the house from injuries received at the hands of young toughs on Thursday night. It appears that young Whitesell was playing with a boy on the vacant lot at Ninth and Pine streets. Several other boys were there with their sleds.

Whitesell offended one of them. He retaliated by going off and "gittin' the crowd." He went back to the lot at the head of ten or fifteen boys. He now waited the returning hosts. He now wishes that he had not. The aggravated party picked up a heavy bottle and struck the Eleventh street boy over the head several times.

Special features of the result were a four-inch gash and two bad contusions. Whitesell was rendered unconscious. He was carried into Mansbury's drug store, where his wounds were dressed, after which he was taken home. The fracas caused quite a crowd to gather, as there was a rumor that the boy was killed.
