

DISSOLUTION.

Why shouldn't we be busy? Why shouldn't we have your confidence? We have never said anything in our advertising but what we could fulfill. When we say that we are selling our goods at cost and some below cost we are believed, and that's why we're busy. Of course some people might say if we are doing such a big and profitable business, why do we make such sacrifices? Surely our goods can't be old, for we're only in business in our second year. We're going to make a change. The firm of Max Ephraim & Co., will be dissolved on March 25 next. Max Ephraim will continue after that date. Now we don't want to divide a whole lot of clothing, the retiring partner would rather have cash and we're willing to sacrifice in order to get the cash.

Almost every man wants trousers to patch out his heavy suit, we have hundreds of them, in Blacks, Mixed Casimeres, Worsteds, etc., marked down to less than cost of material. We sold more Overcoats this week than in any one week since Christmas. Price and weather both vie with each other to induce you to buy. Look at the Black Broad Wales with Silk Sleeve Linings, reduced from $15 to $7.50. Look at the Cheviots, Silk Sleeve Linings and inlaid Velvet Collars, reduced from $14 to $7. Look at every Overcoat in the building, see its price and then you'll know why we're busy. Same with the Men's suits; same with Children's; same with everything.

Every Garment marked in plain figures and if dissatisfied with your purchase we will return your money.

GOBBLED UP BY CHICAGO

The Windy City Wins the Democratic Convention.

IT IS SAID TO BE A VICTORY FOR HILL

Delegates Dined When on the Fifteenth Ballot the Result Was Announced—The Date Selected Was June 21—Cheers for Cleveland from Disappointed Cities.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—After a good natured, animated contest, and on the fifth ballot, the Democratic national convention has chosen Chicago as the place for holding the Democratic national convention of 1892, and June 21 as the date.

From the first Chicago has sought to convey the impression to the country that it did not care to secure the convention. In the last five days, when this city was full of boomers for different towns, no voice has been heard proclaiming Chicago's advantages. For this reason many people imagined that it was entirely out of the race. Chicago, as usual, did not want anything. As usual, she got everything.

A Hill Victory.

There were forty-nine committeemen present, so that 25 votes were necessary to a choice. Chicago finally won by 27 votes. For these she is indebted to the following: S. P. Sherman, secretary, Indiana; Henry D. Clayton, Jr., Alabama; M. F. Curpey, California; Charles S. Thomas, Colorado; Carlos French, Connecticut; Jones, Florida; John H. Estill, Georgia; Henry Watterson, Kentucky; James Jeffries, Louisiana; Arthur Sewall, Maine; A. P. Gorman, Maryland; Charles D. Lewis, Massachusetts; C. A. Broadwater, Montana; James B. Boyd, Nebraska; A. W. Sullivan, New Hampshire; Miles Ross, New Jersey; Bourke Cockran, New York; M. J. Hanson, North Carolina; Calvin S. Brice, Ohio; A. Holtzer, Oregon; John C. Haskell, South Carolina; O. T. Holt, Texas; John S. Barbour, Virginia; J. A. Kuhn, Washington; I. N. Camden, West Virginia; William L. Kuykendall, Wyoming; William M. Perry, Utah.

It is unmistakably a Hill victory and is regarded as favorable for Hill's nomination.

June 21 the Date.

In executive session the Montana contest was decided in favor of C. A. Broadwater, with Mr. A. W. Lyman as proxy, Mr. A. Mitchell being unsent, but invited to remain during the session of the committee. Mr. Richardson recognized as the delegate representative from Iowa, and Mr. Hartley was substituted for Mr. Kerr to represent Pennsylvania.

When the several contests had been decided, Mr. Salloway, of New Hampshire, reported that June 21 be selected as the date for holding the next Democratic convention. Mr. Watterson suggested July 6. Senator Gorman supported June 21, and Mr. Watterson, stating that he was not particularly wedded to any date, withdrew his motion and June 21 was adopted.

The committee then went into open session and the spokesmen for the various cities presented their claims. Governor Peck's speech in favor of Milwaukee was the wittiest and spiciest of the lot. When all had been heard the committee went into executive session and the following results were announced:

Fifteenth Ballot—Chicago, 27; Milwaukee, 16; Kansas City, 2; St. Paul, 1; Detroit, 1.
It struck them all dumb.

When the balloting began the interest became intense. The hotel corridors were crowded with delegates from the various cities, and as their cities showed gains the corridors resounded with cheers. It soon became apparent, however, that the committee was consulting with several cities. When on the first ballot Kansas City led, its adherents gave a wild western cheer. On the third ballot when San Francisco received 15 votes, the number of people who wanted to visit the Golden Gate would doubtless have been increased by the delegates from San Francisco.

Perhaps the worst collapse was that of Detroit, which on the sixth ballot received 19, while on the next it dropped to 1. Indianapolis' hopes were raised on the eighth ballot only to disappear from the contest in the next ballot, when she received 1 vote.

The men from Milwaukee were perhaps the noisiest, and rent the air when the Badger state capital received 30 votes on the ninth ballot. The crowd was in great good humor, and their enthusiasm rose and fell as their favorites fared on each recurring ballot.

When on the fifteenth ballot it was announced that Chicago had 27 votes and the convention the crowd in the corridors were fairly stricken dumb. That a city which had not even asked for the convention should be selected was inexplicable. The Milwaukee, St. Paul and Detroit delegations went out on the sidewalk and cheered for Cleveland. Resolutions thanking the Hon. William D. Allison, the resident manager of the committee, and the local reception committee for their excellent care and attention to the national committee were adopted, and the committee adjourned.

REPUBLICAN FACTIONS CLASH.

Disorderly Convention at the President's Home—Blaine Men Defeated.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—The Republican convention which met here for the selection of a committee-man for the capital district (President Harrison's home) was the most disorderly that has assembled for years, and the ill feeling which has been so pronounced for several weeks between the Blaine and Blaine factions manifested itself in the most unmistakable manner. The fighting began when R. O. Hawkins, one of the Harrison managers, moved to appoint a committee on credentials. Attorney Keating, representing the Blaine element, denounced the proceeding as unprecedented and declared that a proposition had never been heard in a convention before it was organized for business. The chairman ignored the protests and put the vote, refusing to call the roll of delegates when demanded by a dozen or more of the opposition.

This act made the Blaine men madder than ever. Attorney Rooker mounted a chair and amid the wildest confusion denounced the officious interference of the federal office holders in the selection of the delegate. He charged they had undertaken to manipulate delegates in the interest of their master, and that they had not scrupled to employ the most corrupt means to that end. The Blaine men applauded and the Harrison men hissed the speaker, but he continued to denounce the methods of the Harrison men and predicted that nothing but defeat could be expected when the true will of the people was expressed by men in pay of the administration. The vote on the selection of the credentials committee having demonstrated that it would be useless for the opposition to make any further resistance, the Blaine men assumed a dogged silence and refused to take any part in the proceedings. J. W. Hess, a Harrison man, was selected as committee-man by an overwhelming majority.

THE NEWS OF ALBANY.

The Governor's Message to Be Printed in English and German.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—There was a ripple in the assembly over a report of the printing committee on the senate resolution to print the governor's message. Mr. Husted moved to strike out the provision for printing in German. He said it was fifteen years since that had been done. Any citizen who could not read this message in the language in which it was written ought not to be a citizen; it was all "rot."

Mr. Bassett called the laugh on Husted by saying that the public school children were taught to read the German of sufficient importance to try to speak to them in their own language. Mr. Husted further opposed it on the ground of expense, precedent, etc. His motion was lost and the resolution adopted.

The following bills were introduced: By Mr. Wood—Changing the holiday law, making every Saturday from May 1 to Nov. 1 a holiday, and doing away with the half holiday. Mr. Husted—Relative to publication of the session laws, making the rate on official newspapers at thirty cents per 100 words in counties where the rate is now fixed by law at a higher rate; making publication of general law a state charge. Mr. Knox—Appropriating $30,000 to establish a hospital in Albany. Mr. Benson—Making provision of indigent and pauper insane in state asylums a state charge. Mr. Patchen—To establish a state board of veterinary examiners.

The joint committee of the assembly and senate on the affairs of cities will report the bill introduced by Senator Carter providing for the division of Rochester into new wards, twenty in number instead of sixteen, as now.

The senate committee on judiciary agreed to report favorably Senator Van Gorder's concurrent resolution providing for the purchase of the salt springs and surrounding land at Onondaga, N. Y.
