

Babies Defy Heat—Remedy FREE

The summer is a very trying time for children. The child that is not robust becomes weaker still from the biting heat, while the full blooded baby breaks out with sores and pimples because its blood is overheated. Then it also has to contend with the germs in food, water and fruit—the annual summer dangers. If your child has any of the troubles due to summer weather, such as eruptions, itchy skin, worms, diarrhea, "summer complaint," etc., give a dose of DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN tonight before putting it to bed. When the remedy acts, for it is a wonderful vegetable compound and is the opinion of thousands of mothers the best laxative tonic to be had, the child will quickly recover from its ailment. It will eat better and sleep better; it will want to play and not act peevish. Salts and purgative waters, tablets and pills are too violent for children. DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN is not only pleasant to the taste, but it acts gently and without griping. A single bottle has often saved an entire family from serious sickness, for the basis of health is regular bowel movement and good digestion. A bottle of this remarkable cure can be had of any druggist at 50 cents or $1. Thousands of families are never without it.

Those who have never yet used DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN and would like to make a test of it before buying in the regular way of their druggist, can obtain a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE either for themselves or for the members of their family, by sending name and address to the doctor. The sample will be sent to your home free of charge. In this way you can find out what it will do without cost. Also, if the case presents difficulties that doctors and other remedies seem unable to overcome, write a letter to Dr. Caldwell explaining how the person suffers and he will give you his best MEDICAL ADVICE, based on half a century's experience in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel diseases, without charge. Women who have children should send for "SUMMER SUGGESTIONS TO MOTHERS," containing the doctor's advice on diet, hygiene, etc., in hot weather—a very important subject. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 526 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

SHARK NIPPED HIM BY THE LEGS

Lew's Man Had Unusual Experience With a Sea Monster

Special to THE EVENING JOURNAL.
LEWES, Del., Sept. 2.—Caught by his pantaloons by a shark weighing over 100 pounds and measuring five feet in length while endeavoring to drag it into a boat was the thrilling experience of William Beach while he and Jack Marshall were fishing along the bay shore.

One of the sea monsters became tangled in a net and the two men began to pull the net in. While one shark was being pulled in over the side of the boat Dr. Beach was grabbed by the leg but the massive jaws of the fish did not get a good hold and slipped off, although badly skinning his leg. The fish refused to loosen his pantaloons and before they could proceed with their sport and get rid of the shark its throat had to be cut.

CUT ON HIS TOE CAUSES DEATH

Special to THE EVENING JOURNAL.
GEORGETOWN, Del., Sept. 2.—Cap'n Stephen H. Beers, a well-known waterman of lower Delaware, is dead at his home at Ocean View as the result of cutting a toe nail into the "quick."

For several days he did not pay any attention to the cut and finally it began to pain him so badly that he went to a physician who upon examination found that gangrene had set in. It continued to get worse until three weeks ago when it became necessary to have the leg amputated below the knee. The disease had spread so rapidly that the operation did not stop it and soon it was throughout his system. He is about sixty years old, and is survived by a large family.

According to reports received here, the farmers of Sussex county are elated over the prospects of a big corn crop. Those of the middle and northern end of the State, however, are not so elated.

It appears that there has been more rain in Sussex than in any of the other two counties, in fact, there has been no rain in the upper end of the State for some time. To this condition, due to the fact that the corn crop of Sussex will be far better than in the other counties.

GRANGERS WANT NEW MARKET LAWS

In a communication addressed to City Council last night signed by Hervey Walker, president of the New Castle County Grange, informed that body that it had appointed a committee of five to confer with Council relative to the curbstone markets, with a view to better regulating the same.

The members of the grange many of whom occupy stands with street markets are dissatisfied with the existing regulations and desire a change.

The matter was referred to the Law Committee and probably that a time will be fixed to meet the grangers.

DR. COOK A MAN OF COURAGE

Shaked H's Reputation on Theory That Po.e Could be Reached in Win.er

By United Press Leased Special Wire.
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Of what manner of man is Frederick Albert Cook, of Brooklyn, that he should plunge into the trackless north unaccompanied by white companions, and come back with the laurels of the world's greatest discoverer.

A strong minded man, with a personal ambition and the courage to win it, his friends characterize him.

From driving a milk wagon over a Brooklyn route at $5 a week to discovering the North Pole has not been such a farce for Dr. Cook for he is but 44 years old now.

Dr. Cook was born of German parentage at Callicoon Depot, N. Y., in June, 1855, and came to Brooklyn when he was 15 years old determined "to do something worth while," as he put it. Young Cook worked hard in the early morning hours on his milk route and saved enough money to go through The University of the City of New York, where he took his medical degree. Even then he plodded on in the offices of the dairy, which is still run by his brother in Brooklyn under the name of Cook Brothers. He made his work finance to an higher education this time graduating from the College of Physicians and Surgeons with high honors.

Dr. Cook is a splendid specimen of physical manhood. He is 5 feet, 9 1/2 inches tall, weighed 370 pounds on the day he left New York, more than two years ago, and had the same ruddy complexion he had when he left his father's farm at Callicoon Depot. His nose is roman, his chin resolute and the entire face denotes strength of purpose. He speaks German, French, Italian and English fluently.

Dr. Cook's first experience in searching for the North Pole was as surgeon and ethnologist on the first Peary expedition in 1891-1892. A year later Dr. Cook commanded the yacht Zeta, and failed to win out. Then he organized and commanded the expedition on the steamer Miranda in 1894 but this vessel was crushed in the ice and the party had to return on another ship.

When the Belgian Antarctic expedition started out in 1897, Dr. Cook went along as surgeon, photographer and anthropologist, remaining there until 1899, though failing to reach the Pole. While in the frozen south his fiancée, Miss Anna Le Forbes, of Brooklyn, died and he did not know of her death for more than a year afterward.

1902 he married Mrs. Mary F. Hunt, of Brooklyn, and has two children.

Dr. Cook's success, in the opinion of many scientific men and explorers has proved the correctness of his theory that the time to make a "dash for the Pole" is in the dead of winter, when the ice fields are firmer and more extensive than in the spring when more open water is encountered.

He staked his reputation and his life on this theory and his success will undoubtedly revolutionize future polar expeditions.

Cook held that the ice was not only firmer in winter but, by reason of this, would offer comparatively less resistance for sliding. He insisted that a winter dash would not be balked so often by open water and shifting ice floes. He pinned his faith to dogs and sledges rather than to boats or the fickleness of seeking transportation by water.

In one of his books of Arctic exploration, Dr. Cook writes of his ambitions, long before he discovered the Pole:

"Few of us ever have a long run over a hill of happiness without stumbling upon several ups and downs but we soon forget this, and altogether life seems easy enough to most of us who live in temperate climates. It is not the same, however, with the men who seek the realms of the great frozen lands in the Arctic and the Antarctic. Their path is over a series of ups and downs, but mostly ups. Their comfort, if they have any, is even lived in the effort to overcome the ever-present discomfort. The men who hope to reach the pole are kicked about by giant seas are pounded by heavy storms, are brushed by freezing drifts of snow, and yet they calmly resign themselves to become the footfalls of a hard fate because of a few pleasures. An effort only partly crowned with success gives such elation and joy that all the sufferings and discomforts are forgotten."

Herein lies the reason for the unfaltering law that he who has once beheld the other world conditions, and has felt the charm of the white snowy silence of the frigid zone will ever long to return.

"If, from any cause, a polar explorer cannot return to the dream of his life, he either commits suicide, gets married, or dies an unnatural death in some way."

The seating arrangement has not only been enlarged but vastly improved, and the decorations throughout are elaborate and show a magnificent harmony of colorings.

The policy of the house will remain unchanged. There will be the usual matinee at 2:15 daily and the evening performance at 8:15. Manager Dockstader has booked the best talent available, regardless of expense, and the Garrick will offer from week to week even better and more expensive attractions than heretofore.

Thorough Baptism.
In one of the smaller cities of New England there was a church which had two mission chapels, commonly known as the East End mission and the North End mission, from the parts of the city where they were respectively located. One day the rector gave out the notices for his most distinguished high church tone, as follows: "There will be a service at the North End mission at 9 o'clock and at the East End at 8 o'clock. Children will be baptised at both ends."
