BUILD HOPES ON ROOSEVELT

Insurgents Propose to Drag the Ex-President Into the Fight

LETTER AGAINST CANNON THAT WAS NOT GIVEN

By United Press Leased Special Wire. WASHINGTON, May 24.—With "Roosevelt and insurgency" for a battle cry in their fight for re-election next fall, the House progressives are to-day planning to sweep Theodore Roosevelt into the midst of the terrific campaign which confronts them. The insurgent secret information on which the insurgents base their assurance of Roosevelt's active support in the fight against "Cannonism" became available to-day. The situation reveals an unpublished report made to the insurgent organization in caucus in March, 1909, by the insurgent executive committee Representative Nelson (Republican, Wisconsin), Madison (Republican, Kansas) and Gardner (Republican, Massachusetts), charged with the mission of obtaining the endorsement of Roosevelt for the insurgent policies, in those strenuous closing days of the strenuous administration. The following statements, incorporated in that report and known for over a year to every House insurgent are here made public for the first time:

Cannon An Obstacle. On March 3, 1909, Theodore Roosevelt proposed to give Representative Nelson chairman of the insurgent executive committee a letter endorsing the fight on Cannon and the House rules. He expressed himself as thoroughly in sympathy with the progressive movement, particularly in the fight against Cannon, as he said: "Cannon has been the greatest obstacle in the way of my efforts to secure good legislation for the people of the country, throughout the seven years of my administration."

On March 4, after spending the evening of March 3rd with President-elect Taft, he begged to be excused from writing the letter. As a ground for his change of purpose he said that from conversations with Taft he was afraid such a course would embarrass his successor.

One of the last acts of Roosevelt's administration, as he stood in the President's room in the White House, was to write a letter to Representative Nelson, Madison and Gardner, the executive committee of the progressive caucus, were chosen to endeavor to secure President Roosevelt's endorsement of the insurgent attack on Cannon and the rules, projected by the progressives to be made during the special tariff session that convened March 15, 1909. They had arranged an appointment with President Roosevelt for the afternoon of March 23rd.

The eleventh hour of the Roosevelt administration was at hand and Roosevelt was moving out of the White House. The executive offices were in confusion. Clerks were rushing in and out of the President's office and Roosevelt led the insurgent committee into the old cabinet room. He dragged a chair from the cabinet table over into a corner and the conference was on.

Nelson, as chairman of the committee, outlined to the President the plan of attack on Cannon and the rules, the object and chances of success for the entire insurgent program, and asked Roosevelt to endorse officially the movement. Roosevelt raised himself in his chair, drew one leg up beneath him, in his favorite deliberative attitude, clasped his hands behind his head and said:

"Now let me think out loud."

Cannon Approved Roosevelt. Then for thirty minutes he proceeded to outline his position in the pending legislative struggle. He pointed out to himself and the insurgents that throughout his administration, Speaker Cannon and certain of his followers in the House had opposed measure after measure that he had advanced and advocated. He said, in the beginning that personally he was in sympathy with the insurgent movement, but that they were trying to do. He paused for a moment. Then he continued, saying that he was now getting out of the limelight, that another was about to take up the reins, and that the new President might not like to have them taken out of his hands. Roosevelt declared that it seemed to him that he would be encroaching on the prerogatives of his successor if he publicly endorsed the insurgent movement; that he had been dealing with these things in his own way and that his successor would want to do the same, without interference.

Throughout the interview the only objection Roosevelt made to a public declaration of his sympathy with the progressive movement was the fact that his successor might be embarrassed. "I don't want to seem to interfere. I don't want to appear to seize the reins from the hand of my successor," and he swept out his hands in a suggestive gesture. "I'm like that talkative New Bedford man, whose captain told him, 'What I want from you is silence and damn little more.'"

When the insurgents left the White House it was understood that Roosevelt was to write the letter and send it to Nelson.

"JACK," DOORMAT BROWN DOG, ROUTS BURGLARS

Early on Sunday morning a bold, bad burglar pried open a window in the building of the National Real Estate Company, at No. 1025 Market street, and forced an entrance into the real estate offices. The thief ransacked desks and scattered papers about but took nothing. Whether he was looking for a clear title is not known.

The prowler then made his way up to the second floor, evidently spurred on by a sign reading: "Carr's shoe store is upstairs. If you want original ideas come up." John Carr, advertising special-

BOMB FOR THE SPANISH KING

Premature Explosion Believed to Have Balked Attack on Alfonso

TERRORISTS ACTIVE THROUGHOUT SPAIN

By United Press Leased Special Wire. MADRID, May 24.—The premature explosion of a bomb yesterday near the monument commemorating the victims of the bomb thrown in 1906 as King Alfonso and his bride were driving to the palace, is believed by the police to-day to have prevented an attempt on the life of King Alfonso, who had just returned to the palace from his visit to England.

It was at first reported that the anarchist who dropped the bomb, a man named Calle Mayor, had thrown it at the monument, but the police are now convinced that he intended the bomb for the King and was on his way to the palace when the bomb was accidentally dropped.

Calle Mayor was injured by the explosion and killed himself a few minutes later when the police pursued him.

Another outrage was perpetrated to-day at Carranza, making the fourth in almost as many days, the others being at Barcelona and Seville.

This succession of outrages has led the police to fear another reign of terrorism by anarchists is at hand. Scores of suspects have been arrested and all anarchistic centers are under rigid surveillance.

The explosion at Carranza to-day was in the rear of a church. It killed three of the worshippers and injured sixteen. The construction of the bomb was found to be identical with that dropped by Calle Mayor, indicating clearly, in the opinion of the police, a concerted movement by anarchists.

PROFESSOR GOT WRONG FIGURES

Into Hot Water After Health Talk Reflecting on Eleventh Ward

USED 1907-8 STATISTICS INSTEAD OF THOSE OF '9

Representative William M. Connelly, in a letter to the Board of Education last night, most of which has been published, requested that board to call to account Professor Scott Nearing, of the University of Pennsylvania, for the statements he made concerning the death rate of the Eleventh ward in his lecture on "Social Problems" before the Primary Teachers' Association about a week ago. Mr. Connelly termed Professor Nearing's assertions as "bold black fabrications."

Mr. Morrow moved that the letter be received and filed, whereupon President Shortridge made the remark that Professor Nearing had no right to come here and make such assertions.

Superintendent of Public Schools Twitmyer said he knew Professor Nearing well and said he was willing to risk his judgment that the professor knows no more about the Eleventh ward than any other ward in the city. "He obtained his information from the records at the Board of Health office and obtained data from the years 1908 and 1907 instead of using the year 1909," said Mr. Twitmyer. "I am quite sure he would make an apology if the matter was brought to his attention, as he had no intention to discredit the Eleventh ward."

Mr. Morrow and Dr. Cooper thought the public should know that the Board of Education had nothing to do with the lecture, the Primary Teachers' Association having engaged the speaker. At this juncture Mrs. Morrow's motion to receive and file the letter was passed.

The board received a letter from the Board of Education of Rochester, N. Y., requesting that a delegate be sent by the local body to the playgrounds convention to be held in Rochester, June 4 to 11. The letter went on to state that the playgrounds in Rochester were under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education of that city. As the board here has nothing to do with the playgrounds the secretary was directed to so notify the Rochester body.

The board accepted an invitation received from the Board of Water Commissioners to inspect the Waldin filtration plant following the memorial parade, on the afternoon of May 30.

On motion of Dr. Cooper the expense of printing for the commencement of the Teachers' Training School will be paid by the board.

Council will be asked to advance the board $1,000 on account of its August appropriation.

BOARD STANDS BY THE MAYOR

Would Have Streets Suggested by Him for Improvement Put on List

WILL ASK COUNCIL TO MAKE SUBSTITUTION

The Board of Streets and Sewer Directors received a letter from Mayor Spruance this morning giving his objections to the list of streets for improvement under the $200,000 bond issue as submitted to City Council this morning. The complaint is that Harrison street between Maple and Oak and Franklin from Linden to Oak ought to be placed on the list. The bond issue was voted by the Mayor as the result of his dissatisfaction with the original list.

The directors instructed the secretary to inform Council that they would prefer the substitution of the streets mentioned by the Mayor for other streets in the Eleventh ward selected for improvement. The Water Witch Fire Company sent a communication to the directors thanking them for the light placed at Gilpin avenue and Scott streets.

Requests for a sewer on Twenty-fourth street between Jefferson and Madison streets was placed on the list.

Application for the opening of Tattall street from Eighteenth to Nineteenth was made but as the ground is not owned by the city no action could be taken.

FISHING, MAN CATCHES CORPSE

Body of Samuel Ewing, County Ward, Dragged From Nonesuch Creek

HAD LEFT HOSPITAL ON SATURDAY IN HUFF

Unless claimed, the body of Samuel Ewing, aged 34 years, an inmate of the County Hospital, who was fishing along the shore which empties into the Christiana river, at noon yesterday. Day felt something heavy on the line and pulling it in was startled to see the face of a human being below the surface of the water. He towed the corpse ashore and later in the day it was brought to Wilmington.

Ewing was admitted to the county hospital nineteen years ago, having been sent to the institution from Delaware City. So far as the hospital authorities know he has no relatives, and not even a friend, as nobody had been to see him in years. He carried no insurance on his life and his entire wealth amounted to 85 cents, a razor, a pair of scissors, six small tobacco bags filled with all kinds of trinkets, and several small books. These were found in his pockets.

Ewing was ill for two years up to a year ago and was confined to his bed but for the past year was able to get around with a cane.

Smarting under an imaginary wrong Ewing left the hospital on Saturday afternoon and that was the last seen of him. The day before he had attacked James Morgan, a fellow inmate, with his walking stick, about which he had placed a piece of lead pipe. He struck Morgan on the head and Superintendent Foster gave him a severe reprimand. He had no excuse to offer for the attack but was angered by the attitude of Mr. Foster toward him.

Saturday morning the superintendent found Ewing walking near the Emergency Hospital and brought him back. Later in the day he disappeared.

How the aged man got to the place where his body was found is a mystery. It is thought that somebody picked him up along the road. Whether he fell into the water or committed suicide is not known.

An inquest was held last night and the jury found a verdict of death caused in a manner unknown, but supposed to have been by drowning.

PIG SHOW BEATS BEST OF COMEDY

Runaway Porker Gives Humorous Last Act Stunts Before Becoming Sausage

A hog with an appreciation of humor got away from the abattoir of the Wilmington Provision Company at Third and Orange streets at 6 o'clock last night, and gave a rattling good exhibition of how unconventional an ordinary pig can be when it has a mind. The hog used a driver in front of the abattoir and ran down Fourth street to Shipley. It changed its mind, however, and turned back to Orange, where it established itself in a gutter.

A big crowd gathered to watch the anarchistic porker, and he playfully went for it several times and sent it scattering. Finally someone doused the hog's head with water, and it went into a blacksmith shop absolutely without invitation. His disregard for etiquette aroused the smiths, and one of them caught the four-legged philosopher by the hind leg and delivered it over to the abattoir men. The pig chap is now a good way toward being sausages and pork chops.
