TO TRY TO BLOCK IT

That Maryland has been eulogized by Delaware in game played for the collectorship of Internal Revenue for this district, which comprises Delaware and Maryland with offices at Baltimore, seems to be the prevailing impression here. It appears that United States Senator Willard Saulsbury has put one over on the Maryland delegation to Washington, and all that now remains to be done is sending the name of the Delaware Senator's choice to the Senate by President Wilson.

The man slated for the berth is Alfred Raughley, of Harrington, this State. Just when the appointment is to be announced was not learned, but that it is sure to come, there appears to be no question. The Boy Scouts and Phoenix ambulance were at the grounds all week and while several minor cases were attended to they were not kept busy.

The Better Babies Contest was very popular and while none were examined yesterday, the physicians being detained in town, the show will conclude on Tuesday in the West End Reading Room. At that time those not examined at the fair, and the best ones examined there will be re-examined and it is hoped to have the prizes awarded next week by Mayor Howell.

Although the judges announced the winners in the poultry departments last evening, it is thought a few changes will be made after the executive committee of the fair considers the different awards and classes. The show this year was most successful and the winners are announced were:

IN THE BIG CROWDS

Despite a drizzle of rain, which at times made walking around unpleasant, fully 3,000 people visited the Delaware State Fair grounds yesterday when the Fair that opened on Tuesday came to a close. That it was successful goes without saying and last night when the gates were closed, the officials, tired and hungry, were delighted with the success of the Fair in every way. They had visions of a big deficit of past years being wiped out by this year's attendance.

The four days of the Fair were not marred with a serious accident, despite the thousands of people who visited it, and the policing of the grounds was all that could be desired. The Boy Scouts and Phoenix ambulance were at the grounds all week and while several minor cases were attended to they were not kept busy.

SHIP SAILS WITH MR. GAYNOR'S BODY TO NEW YORK TODAY; SIGNAL HONORS AT LIVERPOOL

The entire country recalled the shooting of Mayor William J. Gaynor, of New York City on August 9, 1910, when word came of his sudden death on board the liner Baltic on his way to Europe. A most remarkable photograph is here shown. It was snapped a few seconds after Mr. Gaynor had been shot by James J. Gallagher, a discharged city employee, on board the Wilhelm der Grosse at the liner's dock at Hoboken, N. J., shortly before sailing time. It is the general belief that Mayor Gaynor never entirely recovered from his wound.

By The United Press.
LIVERPOOL, Sept. 13.—After a brief and simple funeral service and the most signal honors ever paid a foreigner in this port, the body of the late Mayor William J. Gaynor, of New York, who died at sea, rested today in an especially constructed mortuary chapel on the Cunarder Lusitania.

The steamer will sail at 5 p. m. today and is expected to reach New York on Friday morning. At 6 o'clock the Rev. Theodore A. Howard, vicar of St. Matthew's church Liverpool, conducted funeral services after the ritual of the Anglican church, making it as short as possible.

Rufus Gaynor, the dead Mayor's son was not present and the only spectators were American press correspondents from London and an undertaker.

The metallic casket in which Mayor Gaynor was placed on board the Baltic, was opened and the body re-embalmed. This was declared to be necessary by the local undertaker who examined it.

The pine box in which the casket had been encoined was exchanged for an oak coffin, sent down from London, and in this the body will be taken to New York. "William J. Gaynor, September, 1913," is the only inscription on the coffin's copper plate.

The body of Mayor Gaynor was placed aboard the Lusitania at 8 a. m. today. The journey from the town hall to the dock was made with all the formality of the march to the town hall last night, but there was no excitement.

It was too early in the day and no crowds collected. There was a mounted police escort and a representative of Sir John Sutherland Harwood, banner lord mayor of Liverpool, accompanied Rufus Gaynor and American Consul Washington to the pier in one of the lord mayor's official carriages.

At the pierhead the cortege was met by representatives of the Cunard Company and officers of the Lusitania. A guard of honor, composed of quartermasters of the liner, took charge of the body and escorted it to the second deck, forward, where the mortuary chapel was erected. The flags of the Lusitania were half-masted and the chapel draped with black. The floral tributes offered in Liverpool half filled the chapel.

NO POLITICAL CHANGES.

By The United Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Mayor Adolph L. Kline, who became New York's executive following the death of Mayor Gaynor made emphatic his position today when he declared that no department chief or city employee would be removed so long as his work was properly performed nor will the new mayor put Republicans in office just because they happen to belong to the same party as himself.

Mayor Kline refused to say whether he would accept the nomination on the Gaynor ticket if it were offered to him, but he admitted his sudden elevation to the mayor's office had awakened new ambitions and that he wanted time to think out his future course.

SINKS IN RIVER
DURING NIGHT

Mysteriously sinking in the Christiana River sometime last night but a short distance below Market street, nothing of the large pile driver of the Christiana Construction Company remains visible today above the water except the tower on the barge and the stack of the boiler.

The pile driver had been tied up to the wharf of the Christiana Lumber Company for two weeks and was apparently in good condition until last night. It had recently been brought from Red Lion Creek, where it had been employed in construction work.

Apparently no one saw the vessel sink and the first that was known of its loss was when people saw the wreckage above the water this morning. The pile driver was valued at about $6,000. Besides the engine and boiler on it, there was about 1,000 feet of new 3-inch rope and other equipment. It is supposed that in some way the barge became caught under the wharf of the lumber company and the sea valve opened, which allowed the barge to fill with water.

The sunken barge is made fast to the wharf by a small line which is in danger of breaking and rivermen are afraid that if the line breaks the hull will slip into the channel of the river and obstruct navigation. One end of the barge is now hanging over the channel.

The Christians Construction Company is composed of Charles H. Burris, Charles S. and William J. Faulkner.

UNDER LAW

With two cases of non support to come before City Court today and the reading of the report of Frank Stout, probation officer, it was clearly shown that the act passed by the recent State Legislature providing for imprisonment for those who failed to support their families has had a good effect.

The amount collected since January, this year, is $3555.40 for the support of wives and children. According to the report of Mr. Stout $336.50 was collected between July 31 and September 1. There were 105 children and fifty mothers looked after.

In addition to the report Mr. Stout displayed a check from the New Castle County workhouse trustees for $26, representing the earnings of Telling a tale of rough treatment received at the hands of her husband, which included the tossing of her on a hot stove, Mrs. Gertrude M. Sweeney had no witnesses today but he claimed his wife cursed him when he went home last Wednesday night. This was denied by his wife and Mrs. Julia Moore who was present, when the assault is alleged to have taken place. Mrs. Sweeney said that when she told her husband he

HIGH COURTJudge Churchman Concludes
Grand Jury Should Pass on Short-Weight LoavesMUST WEIGH POUND NO MATTER WHAT PRICE

Louis Reches, Emil Wagner, John Woolley, Charles H. Huber, George F. Huber, George H. McGovern and Jerry Moynihan local bakers, who were given a hearing some time ago for selling loaves of bread that weighed under one pound, were each held under $100 bail in Municipal Court today for the court of General Session. In passing on the cases Judge Churchman read a long opinion dealing with the testimony and the law. He concludes that a prima facie case was made out, the law requiring that all loaves of bread offered for sale must weigh at least one pound, no matter at what price they are sold. Judge Churchman's decision is:

This case and the six similar cases are brought under Chapter 992, Volume 21, which reads as follows:

Section 1. That all loaves of bread manufactured from wheat flour in whole or in part, sold or offered for sale in this State by the baker or manufacturers thereof, or by any other person, whether wholesale or retail, shall weigh at least one pound avoirdupois weight.

Section 2. If any baker or manufacturer of bread into loaves from wheat flour in whole or in part, or any other person shall in this State sell or offer to sell to any person any such loaf of said bread that shall weigh less than one pound avoirdupois weight he, she or they, or it shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall forfeit and pay to the county wherein such sale or offer to sell is made, a fine of not less than five dollars, and not more than twenty-five dollars and upon default of the payment of said fine shall be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

In the case against Reches, Mr. McKnight, the Sealer of Weights and Measures, testified that he purchased a loaf of wheat bread from the defendant on the 23d of August last, and subsequently weighed it at his office and found it to weigh 14 1/4 ounces.

Defendant offered no evidence. In the case against Woolley, Mr. McKnight testified that he bought a loaf of wheat bread from the defendant on August 23d, and thereafter weighed it and found it to weigh 14 ounces.

Defendant offered no evidence. In the case against George F. Huber, Mr. McKnight testified that he bought a loaf of bread from the defendant on August 23d, and thereafter weighed it and found it to weigh 12 1/2 ounces.

The defendant produced two witnesses.

GRAND JURY
GETS POISON
SALE CASEDr. Banton Dismissed, Hopkins Held for Upper Court
by Judge ChurchmanMUST KEEP RECORD PRESCRIBED BY LAW

Dr. Conwell Banton, charged with selling bichloride of mercury without keeping a proper record of it to Henry Bidle, who later attempted suicide, who was given a hearing in Municipal Court some time ago with Councilman John O. Hopkins, his partner in the drug business, was dismissed by Judge Churchman today. Hopkins was held under $300 bail for the Court of General Sessions. Both men are colored.

Judge Churchman pointed out there was no testimony to connect Dr. Banton with the sale. He also ruled that a daily sales slip of sales of all articles, including poisons, kept by Mr. Hopkins, did not meet the legal requirement of a complete record of poison sales.

It is contended that all other drug stores follow the same practice," observed Judge Churchman. "If this astounding contention be true, it is time the unlawful practice was stopped."

Judge Churchman's decision is based on Section 13, of Chapter 140, Volume 24, Laws of Delaware, which reads in part as follows:

"Section 13. It shall be unlawful for any person in this State to sell or deliver to any minor under sixteen years of age, except upon the written order of an adult, any of the following substances, and it shall likewise be unlawful to sell or deliver to any person any of the following described substances, or any poisonous compound, combination or preparation thereof, to wit: Strychnia, arsenic or corrosive sublimate, except in the manner following:

"It shall be first learned by due inquiry that the person to whom delivery is made is aware of the poisonous character of the substance, and that it is desired for a lawful purpose, and the box, bottle or other package shall be plainly labeled with the name of the substance, the word Poison and the name of the poison or firm dispensing the substance. And before a delivery shall be made of any of the foregoing substances there shall be recorded in a book kept for the purpose the name of the article, the quantity delivered, the purpose for which it is alleged to be used, the date of delivery, the name and address of the purchaser, and the name of the dispenser, which book shall be preserved for at least five years, and shall at all time be open to inspection by the proper officers of the law."

It, therefore, appears that the vendor of the poisonous compound is obliged to learn by inquiry that the person who seeks to purchase the poison is aware of the character of the substance, and that it is desired for a lawful purpose.

When the sale is made the box, bottle

IDENTIFY RIVER MYSTERY
VICTIM AS BROOKLYN GIRL

By The United Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Confident that the river murder victim, parts of whose dismembered body lie in a Hoboken morgue, was Miss Antoinette Day, a twenty-two year old Brooklyn girl, the police are today searching for a young physician of Brooklyn, who will be questioned as to what he may know of the case.

Francis D. Day, a real estate broker, today declared that his first identification of the body as that of his sister's positive. He was closeted with the inspectors and gave a detailed account of the acquaintance of his sister with a young physician who graduated two years ago from the Long Island College of Physicians and Surgeons. Day said that in August his family became aware that Antoinette was facing motherhood. A fortnight later, or two or three days before the discovery of the fragments of the body, Antoinette disappeared. Members of the family said nothing of her disappearance at the time.

After reading newspaper accounts of the finding of the body, Day visited the Hoboken morgue five different times before he finally viewed the body and identified it by the birthmark on the shoulder. Two or three days ago, Day said he learned that the physician the police are searching for had returned to Brooklyn with his wife. Some months ago he had disappeared, Day said, ostensibly leaving for California with his wife.

EXPLOSION IN MILLING
PLANT BADLY BURNS TEN

By The United Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Ten men were badly burned, two fatally, in an explosion that wrecked the plant of the Clover Leaf Milling Company here early today. There were three explosions in rapid succession. The building then took fire. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

The fatally burned are Charles Ulrich of Winchester, N. Y., and Louis Guattagna of Buffalo. The explosion is said to have been caused by accumulated dust in the mill and was similar in many respects to the Husted Mill disaster, which claimed thirty-three victims.

Men terribly burned, darted from doors and leaped from windows to escape the rush of flame that followed the explosion. There were forty-one men, composing the night shift, stationed in different parts of the five-story mill building when the walls began to crumble, and for a time it was feared a large number had perished. A committee, of which Mrs. Harrison W. Howell, wife of Mayor Howell, is chairman, will have charge of the entertainment for the women of the party.

Plans have been formulated to show the visitors the park systems, the slow sand filtration system of drinking water, with the preliminary sponge filters and the electric sand washing machine, all in operation, the working of the city paving plant, and the street pavements recently laid.

A feature of the entertainment program will be a trip on the steamer of the Wilson Line on the Christiana and Delaware rivers, upon which trip a luncheon will be served and an effort made to show the party, especially the inland visitors, the kind of sea food found in this section.

An automobile trip has been arranged to view the water plant, manufacturing establishments and surrounding country.
