

LEFT MARRIAGE BAN ON ARTISTS

Former Rule, Artist Must Not Wed, Has Been Removed WAS REGARDED AS DEATH TO TALENT

PARIS, Feb. 6.—In the world of Bohemia whether it be Merges's extinct Latin Quarter or New York's pseudo-prototype down Greenwich Village any there was one invariable rule—the artist must not be married. He was supposed to devote his entire time to the cultivation of art. Feminine charms were, of course, not outlawed. They were, on the contrary, indispensable to the development of his genius. But—the marriage bond was regarded as a hindrance, and death of all talent. 'Tisn't so any more. The French government has so decreed. And far from acting in an arbitrary manner, in an attempt to crush budding genius, the government has merely listened to the appeals of the artists themselves.

M. Leon Berard has decided that the ban on marriage hitherto preventing a Prix de Rome artist from taking to himself a wife must be lifted. Moreover, the minister of fine arts will ask Parliament for funds to enable the artists sojourning at the Villa Medici, in Rome, to take care of the extra expense of maintaining a household. Those who imposed the condition of celibacy on the winners of the Prix de Rome acted in concordance with the view that the artists would study better if they lived in common in the villa, occupying their leisure time in esthetic discussions and sipping their coffee over hangings about the Meuse. Within the last few years there have been several artists who, in order to get married, were forced to give up the privilege of the Villa Medici, and worse still, the subsidy of about 6,000 francs a year which is continued after their return to Paris for three years, so as to enable them to gain a real foothold in their profession. There has, therefore, been a clamor on the part of the artists enjoying the government subsidy for a relaxation of the old rule against marriage, and the authorities have finally yielded.

OFF TONIGHT TO STUDY HARBORS

Commission Will Inspect Key Wall Type at New Orleans
ALSO TO INSPECT CHARLESTOWN DOCKS

Members of the Wilmington Board of Harbor Commissioners, comprising Willard Speakman, president, Joseph Bancroft and Charles Warner, and Chas. H. Gant, secretary of the commission will leave Wilmington at 6.35 o'clock tonight for New Orleans, where they will arrive Sunday morning. The party will remain in New Orleans until Monday night, and will leave the "Queen City of the South" for Charleston, S. C. after an inspection of the dock developments.

The commission will probably arrive in Charleston Wednesday morning and after inspecting the wharves and docks at the South Carolina metropolis will leave Wednesday night for Norfolk, Va. Here the water front of the entire city will be viewed and special attention will be paid to the Government single dock pier, constructed during the war, and of the latest design of this method of harbor development.

The members of the commission are

In doubt whether to adopt the key wall type of development for the Lowell tract improvements, or the pier type, and it is for the purpose of settling these doubts that the Southern trip is being made.

The commission will leave Norfolk on Thursday night and will arrive in Wilmington probably Friday, a week after the start of the trip.

FLONZALEY FOUR TO GIVE CONCERT

The Flonzaley Quartet will give a recital in the series of Thursday afternoon recitals in the Hotel duPont ballroom. The Flonzaley Quartet is forced each season to decline almost as many engagements as it accepts, the cause being the organization's rule to devote as much time to rehearsal as to public performance. The Flonzaley's high standing among chamber-music organizations is ascribed chiefly to its members' agreement to devote themselves exclusively to this one field of endeavor. None of the members can be secured for individual appearances, nor do any of them teach or engage in any musical activity aside from the cultivation of chamber music. In addition to the long period of rehearsal every summer to prepare an entirely new repertoire for each season, the Flonzaley are engaged by Andre de Coppet, of New York, for a period of nine weeks during each season. A portion of this time is given up

A Prominent Nurse Testifies

Lewistown, Pa.—"I was all broken down in health, suffered from a displacement. One of my friends came to see me and advised me to commence taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I began and also used the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I have been a midwife for several years and always recommended the 'Favorite Prescription' to every woman to take during pregnancy and afterward, and they all get along so nicely. It surely is a God-send to suffering women. It also carried me through the critical time of life and I had no trouble or distress whatever. I keep it constantly in the house and will not be without it."

MRS. JENNIE RINKER.

When a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances.

At these critical times women are best fortified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, an old remedy of proved worth. Favorite Prescription is a non-alcoholic remedy that any ailing woman can safely take because it is prepared from roots and herbs containing tonic properties of the most pronounced character. It is not a secret remedy because its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

All druggists. Liquid or tablets. Send Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., ten cents for large trial package.
