

W'ADOO, FESS, LAYTON TO SPEAK

Zett, of New York; Congressman S. D. Fess, of Ohio, and Congressman Caleb R. Layton, of Delaware.

Governor Sees Victory.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, it also was learned, in her address tonight, will put special emphasis upon the need of women voters uniting with the Republican and Democratic parties and not attempting to form a separate party of their own. She has urged this policy on several previous occasions, but tonight is expected to give her reasons for it in more detail.

"I am more confident of ratification than ever. I hope to be in Wilmington tonight and help with the cause. The sentiment for suffrage throughout the State is gaining steadily."

"Such was the parting message of Governor Townsend, delivered this morning to Miss Leah Burton, of Lewes, as the governor left the up-State Delaware train at Dover."

Miss Burton, who is the daughter of former Congressman Hiram H. Burton, of Lewes, and has been the legislative chairman of the Delaware Equal Suffrage Association, was accompanied on the train from Milford to Dover by the Governor and his daughter, Miss Lila Townsend. The Governor, she said, was firm in his conviction that the Legislature would ratify, and would ratify without as much opposition as has been anticipated.

"Do you know," said Miss Burton, "that Georgetown meeting Tuesday morning has proved one of the worst boomerangs to the anti-suffrage leaders that could have happened. I stayed in Georgetown Tuesday until 7 o'clock in the evening, and time and again I was stopped on the streets by both men and women of the lower and middle class to do not judge the sentiment of Sussex county by the meeting of today. It only represented a small and bitter faction, not the people of the county. The good people are with you in the suffrage cause. And they will insist upon their representatives in the Legislature representing their views and not those of a small clique or embittered faction."

At Milford this morning the train bearing Miss Burton was delayed for an hour and a half by a small freight wreck just above the place. No one was injured and the loss was slight.

Mrs. Henry Ridgely, of Dover, president of the Delaware Equal Suffrage Association, who was at the Hotel duPont today, supported Miss Burton's declaration regarding the boomerang effect of the Georgetown meeting.

"That meeting," said Mrs. Ridgely, "has served to arouse not only the suffrage supporters in Sussex, but Kent county as well. Everywhere I went after the meeting, in both counties, I was assured that the meeting did not represent true sentiment, but merely that of a small faction. Assurances of enthusiastic support poured in upon me every hand."

"The Sussex meeting has done us good because it has served to disgust the good citizens and people of the counties. I know my people in the two counties and I can say I am absolutely rely upon them and the Legislature representing them not to be swayed by any such demonstration as that at Georgetown. I know the members of the Legislature will use their own cool and calm judgment when it comes to voting for ratification—and that means they will support it."

Attention was directed today to the fact that the present campaign by the Delaware Equal Suffrage Association to obtain a special session of the Legislature to ratify the suffrage amendment has been in active operation for the past six months. At that time Mrs. Albert McMahon was called to Delaware from the headquarters of the National Woman Suffrage Association of which the Delaware organization is a branch, and has since been aiding the State and county members in bringing about the session called for next Monday.

It also was emphasized that the Delaware Equal Suffrage Association has been actively engaged in its work for more than twenty years. It has more than 2,000 members throughout the State and with the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, ranks as one of the two largest women's organizations in Delaware.

Miss Burton brought the information today that delegations of suffrage supporters were coming to Wilmington this afternoon and this evening. She expressed doubt if the Hotel duPont ballroom would be large enough to hold all who will want to hear the speakers tonight. Among prominent suffrage people who will be here are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hughes, of Dover; Mr. and Mrs. John Eskridge, of Seaford; Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Reynolds, of Townsend, and Mr. and Mrs. Cummins Speakman, of Smyrna.

In order to accommodate the down-State parties who will attend the meeting tonight it was arranged today with the Delaware Railroad to stop the mid-night down train at numerous stations. Congressman Fess, chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee and Congressman Layton, not only will be speakers at the rally of the Delaware Equal Suffrage Association in the Hotel duPont ballroom, but also will be guests at the dinner to be given in honor of Mrs. Catt prior to the meeting.

Senator Selden P. Spencer of Missouri, who was to have been a speaker, and Senator L. Heisler Ball, who had expected to attend the meeting, will be unable to attend because their presence is required in Washington to vote on the peace treaty tonight.

Leaders, both men and women, in the suffrage cause from all parts of the State began arriving this morning. Conferences were frequent at the Hotel duPont and elsewhere, and there was a general feeling that while some opposition might be found in the first day or two of the legislative session, the resolution to ratify would receive votes enough to pass when it came to a final show-down.

The increasing pressure from leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties, within and without the State, was noticeable in its effect. This, added to the argument that if 17,000,000 women in thirty States are going to vote in the presidential election next November irrespective of the adoption of the Federal amendment, gave strength to declarations of "why shouldn't the women of Delaware be given equal privilege of the ballot?" Should the Federal amendment be ratified, as is now believed certain, 5,000,000 more women voters will be added to the polling lists throughout the country, making 22,000,000 in all entitled to participate in the election.

Mr. McAdoo and Representatives Fess and Layton will come from Washington on the same train this afternoon, arriving at the French street station of the Pennsylvania railroad, shortly before 6 o'clock. The former secretary will be greeted by Henry H. Isaacs, chairman of the State Democratic Committee of Delaware, and Josiah Marvel, Representative Fess and Layton will be met by H. H. Billany, president of the Young Men's Republican Club.

A little earlier Mrs. Catt will arrive from New York over the Baltimore and Ohio and will be met at the depot by Mrs. John P. Nichols, chairman of the local committee on arrangements and a number of her associates.

The arriving speakers will be escorted at once to the Hotel duPont, where a dinner will be served in the clubroom. The dinner will be brief and informal and will be attended by about a score of the suffrage leaders.

At 7 o'clock a reception to the speakers will be held in the foyer of the ballroom, to which members of the State Legislature have been specially invited and the public at large will be welcomed.

The mass meeting is scheduled to open at 8:15 o'clock in the ball room with a community sing, led by Irving Casler, the Wilmington Community Service song leader.

Mrs. Albert McMahon, a national suffrage worker of wide experience, who made the closing address in favor of suffrage at the meeting in Georgetown on Tuesday, said this morning:

"The Georgetown meeting was clearly staged in advance and was much overplayed. In fact, it has proved a boomerang to those who planned it and has served to arouse suffragists all over the State. The anti-suffrage men in the audience jeered at slightest mention of anything in favor of equal rights. In consequence those present who were in favor of suffrage wisely remained silent. It would have been a waste of breath to have done otherwise, and they realized it. Thus the meeting appeared altogether one-sided, when, in reality, it was not. We found we had numerous friends in the audience, but they perceived the situation and sat quiet rather than constantly arouse a manufactured and pre-arranged antagonism."

Mrs. McMahon, who arrived late last night from Dover, said she was more confident than ever of success in the Legislature and that Governor Townsend had reiterated his opinion that ratification was certain to win.

"There is one phase of the suffrage situation which has been little touched upon," continued Mrs. McMahon. "Every Southern State which has given any

This Happy Couple Married 51 Years

MR. AND MRS. CEPHAS PARSONS.

Parsons, of No. 5 West Eighteenth street, the fifty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Parsons is being quietly observed today. Mrs. Parsons is 82 years old, and lately was very ill, but has since recovered somewhat, but a formal celebration of the wedding is out of the question.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons received many postcards this morning, and during the early part of the day many persons called to offer congratulations. Mrs. H. A. Hurlington, of Philadelphia, will be among the visitors. Mr. Parsons is 78 years old, and is in fairly good health. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons were married March 18, 1869, in the Good Templar's room of the Old Academy at Dover, by the Rev. Cyrus Huntington. The couple have seven children and thirteen grandchildren living.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons make their home with their daughter and her son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hoffecker, at the Eighteenth street address.

FRAME BOYS WILL VISIT THEIR MOTHER

Not having seen her boys for ten years, Mrs. Ida Bishop, of Havre de Grace, Md., has appealed to Sergeant of Detectives Benson to try and ascertain their present location. The Sergeant handed the request to The Evening Journal and within twenty-four hours had learned that one of her sons, John E. Frame, is living in Coatesville, Pa., and the other, Harry C. Frame, is employed at the Harlan plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company, in this city. Both boys are arranging to visit their mother.

COURT DISMISSES FIRE COMPANY BILL

In the case of the Friendship Fire Company vs. the Wilmington Automobile Company, the Mayor and Council of Wilmington, and the Street and Sewer Department, the bill has been dismissed by Chancellor Curtis.

The bill prayed for a mandatory injunction requiring the automobile company to tear down a building erected by it in part of Friendship street, which was vacated by proceedings instituted by the Street and Sewer Department in the Court of General Sessions. It also prayed that the proceedings of that court be annulled.

Have you ever really studied your skin?

EXAMINE your face in a full light before a hand mirror. Is your skin fresh, clear, brilliant with lovely color?

If not—find out just what defect is keeping it from being as smooth and fine as it should be. Then give it the special treatment suited to its needs.

Perhaps, for example, your complexion is spoiled by conspicuous nose pores. You can overcome this trouble by using every night this special treatment:

Wring a soft cloth from very hot water, rather it with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then hold it to your face. When the heat has expanded the pores, rub in very gently a fresh lather of Woodbury's. Repeat this hot water and lather application several times, stopping at once if your nose feels sensitive. Then finish by rubbing the nose for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

Before long you will notice how this gradually reduces the enlarged pores until they become inconspicuous.

Special treatments for each different skin need—for blackheads, for blemishes, for a skin that is too oily—are given in the famous booklet of treatments that is wrapped around each cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap. Get a cake today—begin your treatment tonight.

Woodbury's Facial Soap is on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. A 25-cent cake lasts for a month or six weeks of any treatment, or for general cleansing use.
