

STEEL CO IS SAVING COAL

Lukens Co. Cuts Production to 50 Per Cent. of Previous Consumption

SECRET IS IN PROPER FIRING

COATESVILLE, Pa., Dec. 15.—Saving the consumer 100,000,000 tons of coal a year—enough to supply the entire annual demand for domestic heating—is now within the bounds of practical coal conservation, according to a statement made today by T. F. Manville, president of Lukens-Manville, Inc., upon the conclusion of a five-year series of observations by combustion engineers at the local plant of the Lukens Steel Co., before and after the installation of the most advanced methods of scientific fuel conservation.

In the five-year test, said to be one of the most exhaustive researches in the field of coal conservation ever attempted by an American industry, it was announced that the Lukens Steel Co. has succeeded in cutting in half the amount of steam coal necessary to produce a ton of steel. In Nov. 1917, this figure was 580 pounds of coal. Today, it was found, the figure stands at 275.

"Reducing this 50 per cent. saving to a safely conservative basis," said Mr. Manville, "engineers who have studied the results of this test are of the opinion that the American consumer can get along on at least 100,000,000 tons of coal less than the 600,000,000 tons representing average annual needs. The country's coal bill, in other words, can be cut by one-sixth."

"This would mean that the household, who has been using 12 tons, can get along just as well on 10 tons; and that industrial plants, ordinarily using 175,000,000 tons a year, can get along on 146,000,000 tons. Such conservation as this is not only in the interest of national resources, but is also the only practical means to obtain cheaper coal."

The conservation methods adopted at the Lukens Steel Co. plant were said to be applicable in many features to all other types of coal consumption, by householders as well as other manufacturers. These methods were listed by B. C. McClure, general manager of the Johns-Manville power department, as follows: 1.—Proper firing, under the supervision of a trained engineer. 2.—More careful regulation of the draft, to reduce to a minimum the escape of useful heat units. 3.—Eliminating the infiltration of air through the boiler setting and combustion chamber. 4.—Careful baffling of boilers, to prevent the short-circuiting of flue gases. 5.—Elimination of heat losses from bare boiler surfaces. (It was found that under average conditions one square foot of bare surface wasted 100 pounds of coal a year.) 6.—Reducing to a minimum the loss of heat from steam mains and return pipes, which carry the steam containing heat units to the various parts of the plant where heat units are converted into energy and which brings back to the boiler through return lines the remaining heat units not converted into energy. 7.—More careful supervision of the prime mover, stopping leaks in pump, joint and stuffing boxes, and reducing friction to a scientific minimum. 8.—Closer attention to room temperatures; getting at the source of superfluous heat rather than letting it go free through open windows and ventilating systems.

FIGURES SAID TO BE OFFICIAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The World brings the following dispatch from its Washington bureau: Between November 7, 1917, when the Soviet Government came into power in Russia, and the end of 1921 authorized executions aggregated 1,766,118. These figures are said to be official and to have been compiled by the Soviet authorities.

Persons executed were classified by the Soviet authorities as follows: Farmers, 15,100; intellectuals, 255,250; soldiers, 250,000; laborers, 192,350; officers, 54,650; gendarmes, 47,500; property owners, 12,950; police officers, 10,500; physicians, 8,800; professors and teachers, 6,775; priests, 1,215; and bishops, 28. It is not definitely known whether Czar Nicholas and his family are included in these statistics, which were received here by the diplomatic representative of a European country not commonly considered unfriendly toward the Soviet Government.

American officials, while stating frankly that it is impossible to either confirm or refute these figures officially, are inclined to believe they are substantially correct.

The statement that half the persons executed are classified as farmers has occasioned some surprise here, although it was known officially that large numbers of peasants were among the number slain for one reason or another when conditions were at their worst in Russia.

Many reports have been published this year concerning proceedings against the clergy. Unofficial reports received by the diplomat who furnished these statistics indicate that more priests and church officials have been executed this year than in any preceding year.

URGES UNITY OF PROTESTANT CHURCH

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 15.—The responsibility and opportunity of Protestant churches in America to work together for a fuller application of the principles laid down by Jesus Christ was declared to be the principal theme of all deliberations of the Executive Committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America at the opening session of its annual meeting here.

More than 200 leaders of religious work in the country, representing the thirty-two denominations composing the council, attended.

Bishop B. P. Sprang, of the Evangelical Church, reported on the union of the United Evangelical Church and the Evangelical Association last October.

Your system demands ALL BRAN if constipation is to be relieved!

Your system needs the "roughage" that Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, supplies. For, it will not only permanently relieve constipation if it is eaten regularly, but its full content of the vital elements of wheat will build health and strength in a wonderful way.

You need bran in its full and beneficial strength and that's what you get in Kellogg's Bran—ALL BRAN! You eat Kellogg's for relief and you will get relief in a way that nature planned. Foods with a bran mixture cannot help the man, woman or child who faces grave illness through constipation. You must have ALL BRAN—"roughage" that will sweep and clean and purify and bring health back!

Children should be given Kellogg's Bran each day; grown people should eat Kellogg's each day—at least two tablespoonsful, in chronic cases with each meal. Its mechanical action will afford permanent relief.

And, you will find Kellogg's Bran a delight to eat because it is so delicious. As a cereal, sprinkled on other hot or cold cereals, or used in countless bakery batches or in cooking, its nut-like flavor will thrill your appetite—and each spoonful means so much in permanently relieving constipation and in warding off this gravest national ailment. Kellogg's recipes are printed on each package.

Start the entire family eating Kellogg's Bran today. See the color come back to faded cheeks; see the snap that will go into lagging steps. Kellogg's Bran is wonderful. All grocers sell it!
