

SOCIETY

Miss McNeice is entertaining her sister Mrs. Chas. Feiler of Sauk Center, Minn.

Mrs. John Cochrane of Minneapolis is the guest of Mrs. C. C. Gowran on Reeves avenue.

Mrs. Edwin D. Prentice of University avenue has issued cards for a function Monday afternoon.

At Petersburg, Mr. Anthony Swendsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Swendsen, and Miss Martha Tennyson were married at the Lutheran church, Wednesday, Oct. 24th, Rev. J. Ringstad officiating. The young people are widely known in Nelson county and have hosts of friends. They will make their home at Petersburg.

Prominent guests at the Elks opening ball last evening were Messrs. Harry and Ben Singer of New York, who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rosenthal. These young men are representing their own establishment on Broadway New York, that of their father, S. J. Singer & Sons, and one of the largest wholesale clothing houses in the east. Mr. I. Stone of Chicago was also a guest.

At Ardooch Mesdames Levi Hannah and Alex Abbott gave a shower party complimentary to Miss Nellie Nolan Friday evening of last week. Fully one hundred of the close friends of the young lady were present and the gifts consisted of cut glass, silver, table linen, and jewelry. The evening was very pleasantly spent and at a late hour the friends departed wishing Miss Nellie who was soon to become a bride all happiness in her wedded life.

The opening of the Elks season of gaiety by their first ball last evening was a very auspicious and happy one. The music furnished by Hall's orchestra for the occasion was of the best, and the magnificent ball room floor was never waxed to a greater nicety. There was a good attendance, not enough to crowd, but just enough to make dancing a pleasure. A delicious supper was served in the long dining room, on tables artistically decorated with ferns. There were a number of out of town guests. The next dancing party will be the "Crysanthemum Ball" on November ninth.

Mrs. J. A. Flak of East Grand Forks entertained a delightful party on Saturday afternoon, complimentary to three of our ladies who are leaving Grand Forks soon to make their homes elsewhere. The honorees were Mrs. D. J. Quinn, Mrs. Chas. Lund who goes shortly to Devils Lake and Mrs. Charles Schuyler who goes to San Francisco, Cal. Four tables at five hundred were played, and prizes awarded to Mrs. Frank Carnahan and Mrs. W. McGraw. Mrs. Flak was assisted by her sister Miss Minnie Lake of Minneapolis. A dainty luncheon was served. A particularly pleasant feature of the afternoon, was the rendition of some instrumental and vocal solos by Miss Ripsom who is a talented musician and gives pleasure to all who hear her.

A notable event in Ardooch was the marriage of Miss Nellie Nolan to John O'Neill at St. John's Catholic church on Tuesday morning when Rev. Father Conidine pronounced the words that made them man and wife. The bride is one of Ardooch's fairest daughters, a young lady who has lived there for the past ten years and the daughter of Mrs. Mary Nolan of that village. Mr. O'Neill is one of the leading business men of Minot, being assistant postmaster at that place. The bride's gown was of white silk trimmed with embroidered bands. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of roses. She was attended by Miss Irene Dennis who wore a princess dress of blue silk with hat to match and carried roses. The ceremony took place at 7:30, and immediately after the happy couple took the morning train for Winnipeg, Manitoba, where they will remain for a few days, and from there will go to Minneapolis, then return to Minot where they will make their home. The wedding was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends and the presents to the bride were beautiful and costly.

Mrs. Martin Van Kirk, who is here with her husband on a visit, after an absence of some years, can well say with Moore, the Irish poet, "Ah, doth not a meeting like this make amends for all the long years I've been wandering away?" for at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fegan this afternoon Mrs. Fegan and Mrs. Carl Gowran have gathered together what would be termed the old regime of Grand Forks society to greet this former social favorite. The Fegan home has been prettily decorated in red roses and red carnations in conjunction with green and presents a beautiful appearance. A delicious luncheon has been prepared and the afternoon will be a happy one both for Mrs. Van Kirk and her old friends who have demonstrated their pleasure at having her in their midst again, by their cordial hospitality. A number of dinners have been given for her this week and a number of functions are scheduled for next week. Mr. and Mrs. Van Kirk are now residents of Bellingham, Wash., together with their son, Dr. Frank Van Kirk who is now one of the leading physicians of that city. He has just returned from a course of study in Europe, and stands high in his profession in the west. Mrs. Van Kirk were residents of Grand Forks for years, coming here in the early days and were prominently associated with the social and business life of that period.

A very pretty church wedding took place last Monday morning at 9 o'clock in Sacred Heart church, East Grand Forks. The contracting parties were Mr. Michael Trautner and Miss Kate Dieken. The bride was very attractive in a beautiful white laces-down gown and large picture hat and was attended by Miss Alice Dieken. Wagner's Wedding March, from Lohengrin was rendered by Mrs. Burton, the organist. A high nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Greene, and a very fine offertory solo from Guond, was sung by Miss Lila Cragg, the talented soprano singer. The church was filled with friends of the bride and bridegroom, who wished them God-speed on their journey through life together.

One of the prettiest little dramas that has ever graced the stage of the Metropolitan theater here was the "Illusion of Beatrice," with Miss Maud Fealy in the leading role, on the play was greeted by an fashionable audience as ever gathered in the opera house, the play was not only exceptionally good of itself but was of more than usual local interest on account of the prominence it gave one of our most popular young ladies, Miss Daphne Bosard. The management of the company offered to the Evening Times the disposal of two boxes which were voted to the most popular young lady in the city and Miss Bosard easily without effort on her part, carried off the honors, and as a result entertained ten of her friends in the boxes and with a dainty supper at the Bosard home afterwards. The guests for the evening were Mrs. J. H. Bosard, Miss Edith Bosard, Miss Jessie Strachan, Miss MacHugh of Oak Park, Ill., and Messrs. Jack Marquette, Stephen Kinnon, Bert Selby and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jackson. Miss Fealy appeared at her best on that evening. She is a charming, dainty little actress and one of the youngest on the stage taking very good part in making their part with ease and grace and the staging of the place could not have been improved upon. The costumes also were very handsome.

A request was made some days ago for our method of cooking the native wild goose. The flesh of this fowl is the most delicious of all our wild game if cooked properly, and directly otherwise if done the other way. In the first place of all our game the flavor of the goose is the wildest and most "gamey," and in the cooking this must not be done away with, but in order to make the delicious dish this can be made, it must be modified. First pick your goose if possible; this is a tedious process we know, but if the housewife is hurried she will suffice, although the juices are retained better by leaving the skin on. Now to modify the wild gamey taste, wash the bird well in strong salt water then place a half an onion inside and parboil for three hours slowly, two will suffice if the bird happens to be young. The onion will add a flavor to the meat, and when the bird is removed from the stove notice will be taken that the onion has absorbed a great deal of the wild flavor and will have turned black. Dry the goose well and stuff with a dressing made of bread crumbs, a chopped onion, melted butter and an egg, salting and pepper to suit the taste. Have your oven hot, not warm or lukewarm but hot enough to sear the fowl over quickly and retain the juices. Roast one hour, for a young goose, and two hours for an old one, basting every ten minutes with a gravy composed of some of the soup from the parboiling kettle and melted butter, well seasoned.

At no altar shalt thou kneel in virgin modesty, but in some dark hiding place thou'lt crouch amongst the outcast and the vile, and die accursed.

This same method can be used in cooking the wild duck, with the exception of the length of parboiling, and roasting in which the discretion of the housekeeper must be used in cooking according to the age of the fowl.

With the exception of Mrs. James Dinnie's two afternoons at cards there has been very little entertaining this week, most of the housewives giving their thought and attention to the fall house-cleaning, and putting on of the storm windows and doors. Mrs. Dinnie's invitations were for Wednesday and Thursday and her parties were two of the prettiest and most enjoyable given this season. On Wednesday afternoon the home was artistically decorated in red and green, quinkles of the spicy red carnation being used to good effect with green foliage. Five tables at five hundred were played, and at the counting of the score the dainty prizes went to Mrs. H. M. Wheeler and Mrs. D. M. Holmes. A delicious luncheon was served at tables prettily decorated and set with beautiful point lace doilies. Mrs. E. J. Denmore and Mrs. M. Stanchfield assisted Mrs. Dinnie in caring for the comfort and pleasure of the guests and Mrs. D. A. Dinnie of Minot assisted in receiving. On Thursday afternoon six tables were played at five hundred and the prizes went to Mrs. H. K. Geist and Mrs. D. A. Dinnie. The same colors in the decorations predominated. On this occasion Mrs. Dinnie was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Dinnie from Minot, and in the luncheon and luncheon by Mrs. E. J. Denmore, Mrs. William H. Alexander, Mrs. M. Stanchfield and Miss Mary Murphy and Miss Vivian Dinnie.

Amusements

"Harry Beresford"

A rare treat is promised lovers of clean, wholesome comedy next Monday at the Metropolitan theater, when Harry Beresford, the popular character comedian, will be seen in "The Woman Hater," a farcical comedy. Under the successful management of J. J. Coleman Mr. Beresford has become the favorite comedian of this country. Everybody remembers his delightful work in "The Professor's Love Story" and "The Wrong Mr. Wright," and in his present vehicle he won still greater honors last season. His methods are quaint and artistic. He never descends to clowning and his popularity is more widespread than of any comedian since Sol Smith Russell. All doctors take a vacation after Harry Beresford visits a town.

Porter J. White's "Faust"

In brief, the plot is as follows: Faust, a learned alchemist, doctor of philosophy, having reached that age when all pleasures that the world contains fails, invokes the aid of the spirits to give him new emotions, that life might be worth living. In response to his frenzied appeal Mephisto appears and agrees to give Faust youth, health and passions, and all the pleasurable enjoyment to be drawn therefrom, upon condition that when the gamut is run his soul shall belong to Mephisto. Faust is dazzled and spellbound by a beautiful vision of Marguerite, wrapped in an angelic halo, which fades away as he passionately rushes upon it. He accedes to Mephisto's demand and a compact is drawn between them. The aged and senile philosopher is transformed into a handsome youth, burning with passion and eager with anticipation. From this time forward his one thought is of Marguerite. Then follow his meetings with her, their mutual love, his betrayal of her confidence, the poisoning of her mother, while seeking only to make her slumber more deeply; the return to Valentine, her soldier brother, whose anguish and rage know no bounds when informed of his blasted home. He meets Faust in duel and by the devil's aid is killed. Insidious Mephisto excites the justice-loving neighbors of Marguerite by informing them of the seeming unnatural murder of her mother, and she is carried off to prison. Faust finds his way into Marguerite's cell partially demented. He proposes to carry her away to escape the dread consequences of her crime, but at this time the gentle spirit goes out and Mephisto claims Faust as his own, who is saved by the intervention of the spirit of repentance and remorse. Ministers throughout the country highly endorse Faust as a moral lesson and critics of great repute dwell long in praise of this presentation and claim this season's scenic display to surpass all previous attempts. This production is booked to appear at the Metropolitan next Saturday, Nov. 3.

"King Richard the Third"

The eminent tragedian Mr. John Griffith will appear at the Metropolitan very soon. Mr. Griffith is just now one of the most interesting personalities of stage life, and every season he grows in the esteem of intelligent theater-goers. He represents all that is strenuous, combined with an intellectuality that is rare, thoroughly understanding and appreciating all the glorious lines of Shakespeare, and giving to them an interpretation that is most convincing. His management has this season provided him with a splendid company and equipment. His coming engagement here is looked forward to with unusual interest.

Alberta Gallatin.
Among the early booking that will be of great interest to theater-goers is the engagement of Miss Alberta Gallatin, in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," a dramatization of the novel of the same name.

Florence Roberts.
Miss Roberts will most likely appear shortly at the Metropolitan in her new York success, "The Strength of the Weak." Grand Forks patrons will remember with deep pleasure the appearance of this gifted lady last year in "Ann Lamont," which was one of the most artistic successes of the past year.

COMPARISONS

Take a backward glance the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska; all these states, except Minnesota, are Prairie States, the same as North Dakota; with the exception of coal, these states have no advantages over North Dakota. Twenty-five years ago the State of Iowa had a city with over 20,000 to 25,000 inhabitants; today these same cities have from 30,000 to over 100,000 population. These are modern times, and one event follows another more quickly, and if we move in the same ratio in fifteen years Grand Forks should be a town of 40,000 people. North Dakota must, and WILL have, three or four large business centers, and Grand Forks, and Fargo, being just at the gateway of this great commonwealth, will necessarily be the business centers for their respective localities, and the surrounding country. Both cities have now a good start, being in a closely and richly settled part of this territory, and with the modern facilities for doing business, and the great tide of immigration coming this way, must go forward. It is impossible to stand still.

We have recently purchased one hundred and twenty acres of land from Mr. William Budke of this city, and two hundred and thirty-eight acres, known as the "Skidmore Farm," being all the property lying north of University avenue, west of the city limits, and running north to the Fair Grounds. This property is now being platted, and will be placed on the market at once for sale. This property we have bought very cheap and will be sold at a very low price, and on terms to suit the purchaser. There will be over forty blocks platted and will be known as "Kelsey's Addition" to the city of Grand Forks. The balance of the acreage will be divided in tracts of five, ten, fifteen or twenty acres to suit purchasers, and sold on easy payments; these will make excellent chicken and truck farms. The placing of these small tracts on the market will fill a long-felt want among the numerous parties who have made inquiry for such farms.

There are already over 2,000 trees growing on the property, and which in a few years will make ample shade. And this property, lying three or four blocks back from the railroad, will be just far enough away so that parties residing there will not be annoyed by soot, dust, and smoke from passing trains, or from the yards which are now located in the west and south part of the city.

We have also decided to pay all taxes on the property and any one purchasing these lots, will have no taxes to pay until March 1st, 1908.

We have also opened up Dakota Avenue from the Winship School to the Wesleyan College grounds, which makes one of the finest drives in the city, and the general public are invited to use it as a driveway, starting at the Winship School, passing through St. Bernard's Academy grounds, and by the Kneeland greenhouses, clear through to the Wesleyan College grounds.

How To Buy: Call at our office and we will show you the plat. Call at our office, or telephone, and we will take you out and show you the lots.
If you live out of town, and will write us the price you wish to pay, we will give you the best lot, unsold, at the time we receive your letter. If you have not time to write, telegraph and mail us your check. Special attention will be paid to out of town parties wishing to purchase, and we will give them the best lot remaining unsold, at the price which they wish to pay, and will be glad to answer any communications or inquiries made to us.

When To Buy: NOW is the time to buy, when you can get your choice of location and frontage.
How Much To Buy: Buy all you can!

GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA

40,000 INHABITANTS

Why Grand Forks Will Become a City of That Size in Twenty Years

BECAUSE: We are geographically situated in the right place.
BECAUSE: We are at the confluence of the Red Lake River and the Red River of the North.
BECAUSE: Grand Forks has the finest "hunch" of people ever placed in one city.
BECAUSE: We are the headquarters of one of the main lines of the Great Northern Railway, and their numerous branches radiate to all points from this city.
BECAUSE: We are the headquarters of the Northern Pacific Railway.
BECAUSE: We are the headquarters for the Northwestern Telephone Company, and Tri-State Telephone Company, for the entire Northwest.
BECAUSE: The new Wesleyan College has recently purchased a fine College site, and have just broken ground for their first building—Sayre Hall—which is only a beginning, and is only one of the many fine buildings which they will erect in the near future.

BECAUSE: The State is developing largely, growing rapidly, and the increased attendance at our State University necessitates the building of large additions to the already commodious buildings every year.
BECAUSE: Of the great pride of our citizens in making this a city of HOMES, which is drawing people from over the Northwest here to reside.
BECAUSE: Of the increasing number of wealthy people from all over the Northwest who are coming here and purchasing homes here as a place of residence for the purpose of taking advantage of our educational facilities, which are unsurpassed anywhere in the Northwest.
BECAUSE: We are fast becoming the distributing center for all of the Northwestern part of Minnesota and the north half of North Dakota, and for months we have been loading and shipping and distributing over ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE cars per day of freight, consisting of lumber, brick, groceries, machinery, and other merchandise.

BECAUSE: We are becoming the seat of learning and headquarters for the greatest educational institutions in the State and the Northwest.
BECAUSE: Grand Forks will soon have an all modern, up-to-date Street Railway System running through the city, and to East Grand Forks.

BECAUSE!

We have Three large wholesale grocery houses, which are all doing an enormous business; a large wholesale notion house, which is now covering the entire northwest territory; large bottling works, which are all doing a very large and increasing business; three large saw and lumber factories, which are operating to their full capacity; five large and modern ice and shipping yards; the distributing and shipping yards for the city; the machinery companies, who ship to points all over the north and western part of the state; the business is increasing rapidly; one of the largest mills in four miles in length is running night and day; three cement block and tile manufacturers; two foundries; two wind stacker factories; one broom factory; one trunk and box factory; one modern, up-to-date steam laundry; one large wholesale cracker and biscuit company; one large wholesale candy factory; three or four cigar factories; the following educational institutions: the state university, with 500 to 600 students; the Wesleyan Methodist college, with it especially fine conservatory of music in connection; the Grand Forks Lutheran college, three large business colleges; four large public school buildings, with over 2,000 pupils enrolled; St. Bernard's Academy; a very large and modern hotel, costing $40,000; a young men's Christian association building, costing $15,000; the finest opera house north-west of St. Paul and Minneapolis, being on the same circuit with St. Paul, Minneapolis and Winnipeg; having the same class of plays as those cities; the finest town and country club grounds west of Chicago, which business links, tennis courts, gun club grounds and house, and large main club house where lovers of these sports can entertain; an enormous cost, and where the state fair will be held next year; the finest system in the state; large and attractive department stores; three daily and four weekly newspapers; fine social and club room facilities; two wholesale fruit houses; three large retail lumber yards; two marble works; twenty-four passenger trains in and out of the city; the only filtration plant in the entire northwest; every drop of water used in the city being filtered and free from all germs, as shown by the latest bacteriological examination from the state university, making it one of the healthiest cities of residence; one of the finest waterworks systems in the northwest, which is owned by the city; the finest guarantee very cheap water rent; the best fire department in the state, which insures ample protection from loss by fire and which are equipped with all the latest modern improvements; twelve churches located in the city; the city is represented by all denominations; East Grand Forks just across the river, with over 3,000 inhabitants, with saw mill employing over 300 people, and numerous wholesale and retail stores; the city is the terminal headquarters for the Red River valley division of the Northern Pacific railway.

PREDICTIONS

We Predict: That every young man who will buy a few of these lots, or a block of them, on the installment plan, and carry them a short while, will get a better return on his investment than in almost any other line of business.
We Predict: That any young man who will buy a block of these lots, and go away and forget them for a few years, will be surprised when he can get for them when he comes back.
We Predict: That the University and Cheyenne Avenues will be built up almost solid from Third street to the University and Wesleyan College inside of five years.
We Predict: That the value of almost all of the real estate lying between the Great Northern Railway tracks and the University and Wesleyan College, will double in value several times in the next few years.
We Predict: That Dakota Avenue, clear through to the Wesleyan College grounds, will be one of the finest driveways in the city inside of twelve months.
We Predict: That Grand Forks is just beginning to grow, and that the next few years will be a surprise to the city's most ardent friends.
We Predict: That we will be hearing the same stories in a year from now, that we are already hearing now from people who are thinking of buying: "Why didn't we buy a year ago, when we could have bought for less money than the prices are now?"
We Predict: That next year will be one of the best years Grand Forks has ever experienced.

Future Prospects

There is now, ACTUALLY IN SIGHT, improvements that will cost over $1,000,000, during the next twelve months.
The Great Northern will finish and carry out their plans for the largest freight facilities and division headquarters of any point in the state, consisting of new freight sheds, new round houses, new coal dock, and shops; and next year will be built a fine, modern, new passenger depot, either on the present site or fronting on South Fifth Street.
The Old Folks' Home in Holes' Addition, costing from $25,000 to $30,000, will be completed next year. The foundation is now laid for this building.
The foundation for the new General Hospital in Riverside Park will be finished this fall, and the Hospital, costing about $55,000, will be completed next year.
St. Bernard's Academy will complete a new addition costing $30,000 to $40,000 within the next twelve months.
The Gas Company is completing a fine new power-house building, and will soon add still further improvements, costing many thousands of dollars.
The Wesleyan College will expend from $100,000 to $200,000 within the next year or two in new buildings.
The State University will build a new Library Building to cost $50,000, and will add many other buildings and improvements, costing thousands of dollars.
Arrangements are now being made to put in several miles of new paving in the business center of the city, which will mean the expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars.
Do you realize what one million dollars, spent in Grand Forks for public buildings alone, will mean? It will mean another million dollars, or more, spent in small deals and improvements in different parts of the city, and the expenditure of this amount of money in the city of Grand Forks will mean a large, substantial increase in valuation of all city and adjoining property.
