A Breakwater at Santa Monica.

We are in receipt of a letter from a gentleman now resident at Santa Monica, who has given the subject of a breakwater at that place a great deal of attention. He regards Los Angeles as the present and prospective commercial port of Southern California and for those portions of Arizona which would naturally depend for an outlet and entrepot on some point of the Southern Coast. He sees with inexpressible surprise that our people take no interest whatever in a project which is really a demand of commerce and one of the leading elements in our prosperity. He thinks that a grand petition should be gotten up here, which should be signed by our leading citizens and by the people of Santa Monica and forwarded to Washington.

There is no obstacle to making Santa Monica one of the great harbors of the world and Los Angeles a great city.

We have heretofore stated the reasons which make it perfectly feasible to convert the at present tranquil and sheltered bay of Santa Monica into a great harbor. With a breakwater there on a proper scale, involving an outlay of say three or four million dollars, vessels of every description could anchor in the port thus created, and there would be ample room for the masts of the world to ride in it. No reasonable limit could, in the near future, be placed to our resultant commerce. These views are shared by many officers of the United States Engineer corps, of the Coast Survey and of the Navy. Quite a number of them have given the matter detailed attention. The project has struck Lieut. Commander Taylor so forcibly as to lead him to make an elaborate estimate of the probable expense. He and the other gentlemen have no earthly interest in the matter, pecuniary or other, and they have only been led to suggest the feasibility and desirability of the breakwater by the specially favorable conformation of land and ocean bottom at Santa Monica and other notable geographical and commercial strong points of the location.

The argument that California, with a coast about seven hundred miles long, has but two natural harbors, and should have more, is an irresistible one. The government in providing for an artificial harbor at that point would not only be subserving the uses of commerce, but would also be protecting the national dignity. Some time or other we shall be at war with some powerful nation, and we shall then require harbors not only for the convenience of our fleets but for the protection of our merchant marine. It was a consideration of this character which led the French government to construct the artificial harbor of Cherbourg at an outlay of upwards of sixty millions of dollars. One-fifteenth part of that expenditure will give the United States at Santa Monica, a harbor many times as serviceable as that of Cherbourg.

Can we get the necessary appropriations from Congress, if we try? We believe we can. Santa Monica is able to command powerful influences at Washington if the people of Los Angeles shall take the initiative in a determined manner.

NGENT, in referring to the Bay of San Diego, in his paper in the Argonaut, characterizes it as "a ty harbor." This is a mistake. It is not easy to imagine a more beautiful or serviceable harbor than that of San Diego. It is almost poetically perfect. Had it been so arranged that the superb farming country which surrounds Los Angeles had been aligned by a Bay so sterling and serviceable as that of San Diego, taken in connection with that configuration of country which points to the fertile plains of Los Angeles county as the objective point of all railways below the snow-belt, we should consider that nature had done every thing towards making a great metropolis in this Southern country. While we think the geographical and agricultural argument is against San Diego and in favor of Los Angeles, we regard her Bay as one of the few against which absolutely no fault can be found.

Is the role now being enacted by England pure comedy or tragic-comedy? It seems to us that she is playing just now the part of Bottom the Weaver and that "roaring" is the chief requisite for the character. There was a very amusing little cartoon in Harper's Weekly, a few weeks ago, in which the British lion, very much shrunk in dimensions, was held out on the finger of a man who was studying the curious metamorphosis. England of late has suffered almost incredibly in prestige. Her intervention when Osman Pasha was so fore Plevna would have been momentous and probably effectual. Her threats of intervention now simply seem ridiculous. We are curious to see whether the array of British sailors with some Russian troops shall prove that cloud, no bigger than a man's hand, which will shortly overcast the whole European heavens.

While the Legislature whose closing hours are running through the glass as we write has been in no sense a great one—while, indeed, it has rather earned for itself the character of a weak and vacillating body—it has yet done no wicked things—not one. It is all very easy to talk of subservience to the Railways and corporations, but what man of note in either body—what would-be leader of either party in either House has dared to sound the rallying note? With the exception of that political Ishmael, Creed Haymond, not one. If we have had no radical legislation on the Railway question the Hart bill at least leaves us in a better plight than the Railway legislation of two years ago. Those legislators who failed to meet their pledges to their constituents will simply be dropped, and that is all there is to the matter.

THE appropriation of $2500 to the Horticultural Society is another evidence of how vigilantly our own members of the Legislature have attended to our local interests. It is useless to deny the fact that the Democratic majority of the California Legislature have not, in many respects, been responsive to the just demands of the people, but the Los Angeles delegation have made a brilliant record for themselves. Senator George H. Smith, at all stages of the session, sought steadily to bring all parties to a remembrance of their pledges on railway matters, and the concessions to this county, brought about by all our members working harmoniously together, while they have not been all we had a right to expect, have at least been without precedent.

The sober second thought of the Kearneyites is beginning at last to assert itself and they have concluded not to hang Bones. That perturbed legislator may now repose in peace and court the "balmy" without nightmare visions of Denis Kearney and hemp.

THE Workingmen experienced their first decisive check in the election at San Rafael yesterday. These things are catching, and we expect to hear of many other elections of the same sort.

LAST NIGHT'S NEWS.

Bills Signed by the Governor.

SACRAMENTO, April 1st.—The Governor has signed the following bills: Amending the fish and game laws; providing for the reward and for the capture of the Yaque banditti; for the relief of schools in flooded districts; deficiency of Napa Insane Asylum; providing for the renewal of teachers' certificates without examination.

East of the Legislature—Closing Business—President.

SACRAMENTO, April 1.—SENATE. McGuffey, from the Committee on Free Conference on Insurance bills, reported a compromise between the two houses. Report adopted. The basis of the agreement is substantially the adoption of the bills as prepared by the Insurance Commissioner.

McCoppin, from the Conference Committee on the General Appropriation bill, reported a disagreement and asked for their discharge. Adopted. The Chair appointed as a further committee Murphy, of Santa Clara, Searls and Ream.

The Senate passed the Assembly bill appropriating $2500 for the Southern California Horticultural Society.

The Assembly bill, by Dore, reorganizing the public school system of the State, was on motion of Murphy, referred to the Committee on Education. This probably settles the bill for this session. McCoppin, with the consent of the Senate, introduced two bills, one appropriating $5000 for continuing expenses; the second amends McCoppin's police bill, to correct a clerical error, by inserting the word "July" instead of "June." Rules suspended and bills passed. Searls said he had been appointed on the Conference Committee on the Appropriation bill, but was afraid to leave the Senate while business was being transacted in the manner of this morning. Discussion followed and ultimately it was agreed to consider, until three o'clock, the bill establishing the Sacramento River Drainage District and the confirmation of executive appointments.

The Governor has signed McCoppin's police bill. The Senate re-assembled at 3 p. m. Murphy, of Santa Clara, reported back from the Committee on Free Conference the appropriation bill heretofore telegraphed.

The vote by which Tuttle was appointed Insurance Commissioner was reconsidered by 23 yeas to two nays. While the vote was being taken a message was received from the Governor announcing that he had withdrawn the name of Tuttle as Insurance Commissioner and had appointed J. C. Maynard in his place. Maynard's appointment was confirmed unanimously.

A resolution appointing McCoppin, Curtis and Smith a committee to examine all bills and report such as should be acted on back to the Senate was adopted.

Pierson moved that all committees be requested to report back all bills by 7:30 this evening.

A motion to adjourn was lost. The bill making appropriations for deficiencies in the State Treasury. Passed. The bill reduces the number of clerks in the offices at the Capitol and effects a saving of from $37,000 to $40,000.

Assembly Bill 508, to provide for deficiencies in appropriations for pay for procuring and listing lands to the State by the United States for the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth fiscal years. Passed.

The Senate re-assembled at 8 p. m. Previous to that hour the lobby and gallery were packed with a crowded mass of humanity, while the floor was luxuriantly populated by the fair sex and Senators sat where best they could.

Senate bill 413, appropriating $100 for the relief of James W. Marshall, the discoverer of gold in California, was amended, so as to make the sum $500 and passed.

Joint resolution 78, asking our representatives in Congress to support the bill allowing the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad to retain its land grants and change its route, was lost.

On motion, a committee of three was appointed, consisting of Lewis, Curtis and Murphy, of Santa Clara, to wait on the Governor to learn if he had any further messages for the Senate.

At 10:15 the Senate took a recess for 20 minutes. At 9:15 the House took recess till 10:40 p. m.

During the recess several propositions were taken up. The first testimonial was a magnificent silver service presented by members of the Assembly to the Speaker, Hon. C. S. Abbott made the presentation, being feelingly replied to by the Speaker, expressing his profound appreciation of this mark of friendship.

After recess a message was received from the Governor announcing that he had signed the following bills: Senate Bill 495, appropriating $5000 for the relief of the sufferers from the recent floods and four bills prepared by the Insurance Commissioners; the substitute for an act relating to mortgage of growing crops; the act creating the 23d Judicial District; the act for the better protection of stockholders in corporations.

Senator Bones, on motion of Senator Lambert, recited an original poem on Berkeley, which was received with loud applause.

Evans moved an amendment to the poem by inserting the words, "The Chinese must go." The amendment was adopted by a unanimous vote.

At 11:45 a message was received from the Governor announcing that he had no further communication to make. A vote of thanks to the members of the Senate was passed unanimously.

Previous to adjournment the President paid a tribute of praise to the Senators, pages, clerks and assistants, and especially to Senator Clark, Dore, Montague and Dinneen.

Noti, for the Assembly Committee on Free Conference on Assembly bill 734—general appropriation—presented a report stating that the joint Conference Committee had failed to agree, asking to be discharged and for the appointment of another Committee. Report adopted and Committee discharged.

Tuttle moved that the Chair appoint a new Committee or re-appoint the same Committee and said that, from what he had learned this morning, he was satisfied that if another conference should be held, an agreement would be arrived at. Tuttle, from the Committee on Free Conference on the Insurance bills, reported that they had agreed, mutual concessions having been made.

Halle introduced a resolution that the business of this session be concluded by benediction and that the Chaplain be requested to present for that purpose. Carried unanimously.

AFTERNOON SESSION.—The House resumed consideration of the bill to tax stock certificates. A motion to indefinitely postpone was lost and the bill passed.

Senate concurrent resolution to appoint a commission to devise a plan for the government of cities. Passed.

Tuttle, for the Committee of free conference on the general appropriation bill, reported that the committee of the two Houses had agreed by substituting for the special charities clause as contained in the bill, a section containing the following appropriations: Magdalen Asylum of San Francisco, $5,000; the San Francisco Female Asylum, $3,000; the Protestant Episcopal Church Home, $1,000; the Old Woman's Home, Rincon Home, $1,500; Little Sisters' Infant Shelter of San Francisco, $1,000; the Sisters of Mercy Hospital, Los Angeles, $2,000; the Howard Benevolent Association, Sacramento, $2,500; Stockton Benevolent Association, $1,000; Marysville Benevolent Association, $1,000; Ladies' Aid Society, Placerville, $1,000; Saint Luke's Hospital, San Francisco, $1,500; Scandinavian Ladies Home, $1,000; Vallejo Ladies Benevolent Society, $1,000; San Jose Ladies Benevolent Society, $2,000; San Diego Benevolent Society, $1,000; Pacific Dispensary for Women and Children, San Francisco, $1,000; Grass Valley Ladies Relief Society, $1,000; Nevada Benevolent Society, $1,000; Ladies Aid Society, Petaluma, $1,000; Board of Directors of the State Prison, $2,500, to be used by them in transporting discharged prisoners from penitentiaries to their homes, but not to exceed $15 for the transportation of any one prisoner; Ladies' Benevolent Society of Los Angeles, $1,000; Youth's Directory, San Francisco, $300; Los Angeles Dispensary, $300. The committee recommended that the House concur in the report.

Tuttle stated that the aggregate amount of the compromise appropriation was $38,500, being a reduction of $12,500 from the first amount. Gildea called the previous question, and the House concurred in the report of the committee by the following vote: Yeas 53, nays 13.

The act to appropriate money for the relief of the sufferers by the late floods was amended so as to appropriate $5000. Passed.

Hinsaw, for the Committee on Public Expenditures, made a report which shows the stationery account of members, officers and attaches, and committees, as well as newspaper reporters, for the session of 1877-78, as compared with the same for the last session, footing up as follows: For the session of 1877-78: Members of Assembly, $2,127 35; officers and attaches, $1,699 35; committees, $405 88; reporters, $214 39; total, $4,446 97.

Gildea offered a resolution that the per diem that would have been due the late Hon. R. H. Lodge for the remaining forty-five days of the session after the date of his decease, be paid to his widow. Carried.

The House took up as the special order, the act to amend section 2084 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to proceedings in relation to perpetuating testimony.

The House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill making an appropriation for the contingent fund for the use of the Legislature. The act appropriated $2,500 for the Senate.

Johnson offered an amendment appropriating $12,500 for the Assembly contingent fund. Adopted. The Committee rose and the House passed the bill as amended.

Assembly bill relative to the civil government of military companies. Senate amendments concurred in.

The next presentation was also a beautiful tea service and epergne of solid silver, presented on behalf of the members of the Assembly to the Speaker.

John J. Tobin, from the Assembly, in a very happy speech, sparkling with humor and full of feeling. The recess extended till 11 o'clock. Other presentations followed in the order here given: To Chief Clerk, Robert C. Payne, an elegant gold watch, presented on behalf of members by Hon. W. W. Dewitt, of Yolo; also a beautiful set of gold studs and buttons, presented by Hon. J. E. Carmichael, of Contra Costa.

The recipient made an appropriate acknowledgment of the testimonial, accepting it, he said, as an expression of liberality that so well became the donors as representatives of the State. To E. B. Willis, short hand reporter of the Assembly, a gold watch and chain, presented on behalf of the members of the Assembly by Hon. Grove L. Johnson, Dr. May reported on his report.

To A. A. S. Carpenter, Reading Clerk of the Assembly, a gold watch, presented on behalf of the members of the Assembly by Hon. J. E. Carmichael, of Contra Costa.

At 11:45 the Senate notified the House that they had no further communication to make.

Mr. Speaker then delivered a valedictory address, thanking the members for their uniform courtesy toward him. He had an abundant faith and was happy in the belief that they will ever accord to him honesty of purpose and will credit his acts and rulings as the offspring of a motive inspired by a love of fair dealing and a sincere desire to dispense justice without partiality. He referred feelingly to the visit of death in their midst and concluded by saying: "As the moment of separation approaches a feeling of sadness steals over my soul, but it is with pleasure that I shall bear with me to my home and wherever I shall wander, your images indelibly stamped upon my mind, only to be erased by death itself. I gain, gentlemen, accept for your future happiness and prosperity the best wishes of your once presiding officer, but now your humble servant and friend."

The Assembly and audience were dismissed with a benediction by the Chaplain.
