A Ship's Strangely Eventful Voyage.

COOLIES DEPART FOR VANCOUVER

A Los Angeles Man Held for Murder—A Variety of Interesting Coast News.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.]

SAN FRANCISCO, October 16.—A strange tale of hardships of a sea voyage which ends in unveiling the mystery of a murder in this city two years ago, just comes to hand. Last Sunday evening the British ship Childwell, Captain Watson, arrived here, two hundred and twenty-nine days from Bombay, but being immediately ordered into quarantine, little was learned of her voyage until now. A few days after leaving Bombay the captain discovered that there were several stowaways on board. They were set to work, but it was soon found that they were conspiring with the crew to overpower the officers and take command of the ship. Meeting the ship Matterhorn, Watson arranged to have this ship take charge of the stowaways. On looking for the stowaways, one of them knocked down the chief officer with a crowbar and tried to strangle him. The second officer, in assisting was nearly choked to death. Captain then went down into the forehold, when the stowaways charged on and nearly killed him with missiles. He went down, however, and after a struggle and the firing of several shots by the Captain, they were overpowered and placed on the Matterhorn. Then the crew mutinied. Later they demanded that the ship be taken to Hongkong, saying she was unseaworthy. The Captain refused, when they broke open the galley door and killed and cooked the live stock. The storm coming up the crew were again ordered to work, but instead showed mutiny, and only a few were left in the forecastle. The storm had caused the vessel to leak and for two days the captain and a small crew ran the vessel without a man of them closing an eye in sleep. Thence the captain sailed for Manila and had the ship repaired and the crew still refusing to work, they and the ship were ordered to Hongkong. There the crew was found guilty and were given various sentences. After starting with a new crew for this port, a typhoon struck them. Most of the crew were taken sick. One fell from a topsail, breaking an arm. Another knocked his hip out of joint. The sea tore away nearly every sail. A fresh supply of poultry and live stock were all drowned. The typhoon lasted three days. Afterward the vessel experienced a heavy shock of earthquake, causing the crew to become frightened, thinking she had struck a rock. When near the coast of Japan another typhoon was encountered, which tore away a second part of the sails. The Captain says: I verily believed I would never reach land. When near the Hawaiian Island the ship was struck by a western gale which stove in the cabin and deck houses, and swept overboard everything on deck. Finally she reached here and it is now understood the boatswain on the Childwell has confessed to the knowledge of facts regarding the murder of Policeman Osburn, in this city, two years ago, and which has ever since remained a mystery.

THE DISAPPOINTED COOLIES

Going to Land in British Columbia and Cross the Border.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 16.—Deputy Surveyor Fogarty in a letter to Surveyor of Customs Tinnin, states that while on board the British steamer Duke of Westminster, yesterday, prior to her departure for Vancouver, B. C., he found that receipts and tags for identification were being issued by mail agents of the Canadian Pacific company to certain of the Chinese who arrived here on the vessel but were denied landing under the Exclusion act. Further inquiry led to the disclosure that fifty-two of such Chinese passengers were to be landed at Vancouver, their respective companies having sent $50 to each, or $2,600 in all, to pay the head tax exacted by the British Columbia authorities to entitle them to land. The master of the vessel informed him that the Chinese would be landed at Vancouver. In pursuance of this arrangement, Deputy Surveyor Fogarty expresses himself satisfied that these Chinese intend to enter the United States by surreptitiously crossing the border, thus evading the operations of the Exclusion Act, and suggests that steps be taken to prevent them from so doing. Collector Hagar said this afternoon that he had wired the Collector of Customs at Port Townsend and other ports at which the Duke of Westminster may touch, and thinks by this means he may prevent any attempt on the part of the Chinese to evade the customs authorities. The collector has issued an order that no Chinaman, other than a laborer, shall be allowed landing, except under a certificate issued by the Chinese Government, under the provisions of the Restriction act of 1882.

COCKRELL AND OTHERS SPEAK.

The Adjournment Question Not Yet Settled—Department and Other Notes.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.]

WASHINGTON, October 16.—The Senate today resumed consideration of the Tariff bill and was addressed by Cockrell. In the course of a long speech, read very rapidly, Cockrell contrasted the position of the two political parties as between the question of ultra protection and that of moderate rates of duty. He argued against the Republican policy as incorporated in the Senate bill, and quoted from the speeches of such men as Senators Allison and Wilson, of Iowa, in the past years in opposition to high protective duties, while on the part of the Democracy he denied that it was a free trade party, and read an extract from Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress" to show that no proposition for the establishment of free trade had ever been seriously made in the United States.
