Swamper Tells of Rich Prospects in Inyo County. Encouraging Reports From Oro Fino and Indux.

Lytle Creek Miners Getting Rich-The Ella Mine at Julian-Morongo District Notes-Onyx for Chicago.

"Swamper" writes as follows from Big Pine, Inyo county: Notwithstanding the extreme low price of silver bullion, there are quite a number of mines in this county which can be worked at a profit.

Oro Fino and Ibox Mines. Riverside Enterprise: It is learned from Mr. George Morse, who is a large owner in the Oro Fino mine.

Speaking of the Ibox mine, which is owned principally by Riverside, and which is located near the Oro Fino, the Needles Eye says that the indications in the mine are excellent.

On the west side of Owens valley, high on the east slope of the Sierra, is located one of the most remarkable quartz veins ever discovered on the coast.

We find the Tip Top high on the mountains, immediately west of Bishop and distant about 22 miles. We found a true fissure vein, carrying its silver to $90 have been made from ore from this cut.

The city of Los Angeles ought to be greatly interested in the development of the resources of Inyo county, and the belief is general here that in the near future your merchants will again supply the wants of the people of Owens valley.

San Diego Union: A letter received from Bob Weyms, who is now at Julian, says that last Friday a most important new find was discovered in the Ella mine by Sid Wilcox.

On Lytle Creek. Last week accepting the kind invitation of Mr. C. B. Hughes, I made a flying visit to Lytle creek.

The Ella Mine at Julian is a Bonanza. San Diego Union: A letter received from Bob Weyms, who is now at Julian, says that last Friday a most important new find was discovered in the Ella mine by Sid Wilcox.

While there are no great surprises to be created at the meeting of the council today, there will certainly be considerable interest manifested in the report of the investigation of Street Superintendent Watson's office.

For reasons known only to the committee nothing was given out last week concerning the investigation. The committee was busily engaged in examining the expert's report, which it said was entirely satisfactory.

From the willingness with which the street superintendent asked that the affairs of his office be investigated, it is not likely the committee has found any great fault.

At any rate the matter will be definitely settled at the meeting of the council today.

No surprise is anticipated concerning any resolution having for its object the de-thronement of two police commissioners as a preliminary move to the dismissal of the chief of police. It was said such a thing was to have been sprung at the last meeting, but that is all that it amounted to.
