LIVE MERCHANTS

Use Live Mediums Like The Herald To Tell the People

THEY ARE ALIVE.

In these days everyone is looking to see where his dollar will go the farthest; hence it pays to inform the public that they want to.

THE HERALD has the circulation and the influence. "You put in the advertisement and we do the rest."

Any person who cannot buy The Herald at newsstands in the city or in its suburbs or on railroad trains, or at any place where a Los Angeles paper should be sold, will oblige us by reporting the fact to the Herald office, Los Angeles.

The most striking thing about yesterday was the fact that no new mayoralty candidates declared themselves.

HISTORY constantly repeats itself. Another gun that was not loaded succeeded in shooting a boy in the leg on Sunday. Of course, it was in the hands of another boy.

The council will discuss the proposed new charter this morning. This is a matter of great import to all citizens. All residents who feel an interest in the city's welfare should be present to watch proceedings.

What China now needs is an act passed by the parliament of nations excluding Japanese from her territory. The success of the Japanese arms in the present war is a literal verification of the truth of that part of the old adage that says "the battle is not always to the strong."

The Democratic city committee has made arrangements for conducting a lively, aggressive campaign. There are many reasons for believing that the result of the recent county election will be reversed, and that in the city contest Mr. Ryan will prove that in municipal matters the Democracy will be triumphant.

The American army has, as a rule, had few Americans in its ranks as compared with the number of foreign born privates. But hard times have forced, during the year ending in June last, a larger proportion than ever before of native born citizens to enlist. Fully two-thirds of the recruits, according to the adjutant-general of the army, in the time mentioned were of American birth.

SENATOR STEPHEN M. WHITE yesterday received a telegram from Sergeant-at-Arms Bright of the United States senate stating that the committee on commerce would not be able to get a quorum together for its meeting in Southern California to inspect the deep-water harbor sites. Senator White will take all possible means to get the members together, for he fully appreciates the vital importance of this matter to the whole people of this part of the state.

IN THE news reports from neighboring towns published in the Herald this morning there is a remarkable unanimity in the notes of improvements that are under way all through the county. Sewer systems and street railways, street paving, branch railroads, water systems, new buildings—such are the main news matters just now in most of the larger villages and towns in Southern California. This is but one of innumerable unmistakable signs that this glorious part of the world has even now entered upon what will be the most prosperous era of its history.

The Times of this city represents the Republican party in a way so consistent with good judgment, as well as party point of view, that its utterances on the present gubernatorial situation can be accepted as the opinion of its party, or at least the best element of that organization. In its issue of yesterday it contains the following very significant statement:

Whoever is elected governor in California, there must be an end to bossism, actual or apparent. The Republicans of the state are sufficiently intelligent to manage their own affairs without the aid of Burns, Stump, Spreckles or anybody else, and may be counted on to resist unwarranted and impudent interference. Estee was a loss in himself, but when handicapped by a machine he was simply impossible. His defeat, if defeat it is, is quite as significant as the rout of Tammany, and the effect will, no doubt, be quite as salutary. Let the bosses keep hands off!

THE DATE OF HOLDING THE CITY ELECTION.

There is said to be a movement under way to provide, in the new charter, that all elections—national, state, county and municipal—shall be held on the same day. The main argument advanced by the proponents of this plan is that it will prove economical, as it will cost little more to hold the combined city and state election than to have but one. On the contrary, while an insignificant amount, embracing the cost of clerks, judges and polling places, might be saved by the proposed consolidation of elections, it would in reality prove the most costly possible plan for the citizen and taxpayer, for it would prevent the placing of the municipal government on a purely business basis.

While the adherents of the plan probably do not realize it, the proposed consolidation would throw the election of municipal officers right into the heat of a partisan campaign, based on national issues. What effect on the tariff or the silver question would the election of a mayor have? Why should he be chosen for any other reason than that he would conduct the business of the city in a business like way with honor and dignity?

At a general election, national or state, the bosses do their most successful work, and if at the same time city officers are to be chosen, Webbers and Lindleys would have a much better chance of controlling the selection of the city ticket, than if the citizens were called upon simply to elect city officials from a business point of view at a time when their political and economical vision was not obscured by the smoke and dust of a partisan conflict.

The selection of a mayor, councilmen and other municipal officers should be performed with as much coolness and circumspection as a business man would give to the choice of a superintendent of his factory or a general manager of his store. The only strife that should exist at such an election should be that engendered by the followers of candidates each of whom should be so qualified as to properly fill the office if selected. By removing the date of such an election as far as possible from a general election, the element of "practical" politics, as practiced by the bosses, would be largely removed, and in fact the election would be to a great extent made on a non-partisan basis. That is what is needed in city government. The professional politicians, the ward heeled, the office seekers for revenue only, and the bosses will protest and loudly assert that such a doctrine is party treason. If it is party treason to encourage a system that will conduce to good, honest, economical, progressive, business-like city government, make the most of it. All good citizens must be traitors to that extent and can but hope that the council committee which is considering the point, will take the business-like view of the matter and put the city election, say late in the winter or early in the spring.

REPORT OF THE STRIKE COMMISSION.

The report of the federal strike commission, appointed by President Cleveland to investigate the A. R. U. strike of last summer, is a remarkable document. It virtually throws the responsibility of all bloodshed and destruction of property on the General Managers' association and the Pullman company, and announces the American Railway union is in every respect as legal a body as the managers' association; and finds that the strikers' union was in no way responsible for the disasters of July.

Whatever may be thought of the commission, its recommendations appear to be based on good sense and reason. In effect it advises the formation of a national board of arbitration, to which it will be compulsory that all disputes between labor and employer shall be submitted. It further suggests the incorporation of all labor unions, so that they may have legal standing, the members to be held responsible for the actions of their boards of directors to the same extent as stockholders in a commercial corporation.

The report is worthy of and must receive careful consideration before a determination can be properly arrived at as to the desirability or practicability of its recommendations.

MR. BUDD'S PLURALITY INCREASED.

The count of the gubernatorial vote continues to be exasperatingly slow and uncertain in important features, as, for instance, the complete result in San Francisco.

At midnight the returns showed a decided gain for Mr. Budd, his plurality being 1078, with 139 precincts to hear from, and based on a plurality in San Francisco of 11,550, while the Democratic central committee claim that is about 200 votes under the correct figures.

The prediction made in yesterday's Herald proves so far correct—that in the precincts giving Mr. Estee a plurality, the proportional gain would be much smaller than Mr. Budd's gains in his precincts.

At the rate the supervisors worked yesterday in canvassing the election returns, it will be a month before the official return is made. Unfortunately the vote, in this county at least, was not in any case close enough to give any interest to the official canvass.

No wonder China is extremely solicitous for a cessation of hostilities with Japan, in view of the possibility of the empire being mulcted for an enormous war indemnity. The Japan parliament has passed a bill to raise $150,000,000, and it is stated that her army and navy cost $1,000,000 a day. The indemnity paid by France after the Franco-Prussian war was a mere bagatelle compared to what the "costs" will be in the case of the Wojen against the Celestials.

IT APPEARS that Superintendent Muir of the Southern Pacific company, and General Manager Wade of the Southern California Railroad company, would soon solve the problem of using petroleum as a fuel for locomotives. On the Southern California road the experiment has passed the first stage and the indications are good that Southern California oil will soon supplant coal as a producer of motive power.

ARIZONA sees that the people of the country want gold and proposes to give it to them. In an interview yesterday ex-Governor Murphy of that territory stated that in the past year the gold output there has increased $1,078,000 over the previous 12 months. It is to be hoped that Arizonians will continue to increase that output, for they can spend it in Southern California to great advantage.

THE United States carried off 122 prizes of all grades at the Antwerp World's fair, while England and her dependencies got, in all, but 21. And yet there are those who tell us that we need protection against Great Britain. Perish the thought. There is no field of enterprise in which we cannot get away with the mother country if only we can get our own consent to "the louse."

AMUSEMENTS.

BENSON'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Theo. Kremer, supported by the regular stock company, opened here last night in his play The Nihilist. It is a strong, clean play with many stirring situations and clever lines; the business, too, is exceptionally good and novel, a diminutive cat being used all through with telling effect; while in the first act the mad efforts of the two student friends to get tobacco boxes, empty bottles and other evidence of bachelor joy out of sight before the aged countess, who has been announced, shall appear, brought down the house. Mr. Kremer has shown he can write a play that has very many strong points to recommend it, and as an actor he displayed more than ordinary ability. In the part of the young Count Alexis his joy and light-heartedness, while the first two acts were infectious, his agony in the St. Peterburg prison where father and friend turned against him for his seeming guilt, was very real and spontaneous, and his mad scene in the last act a fine piece of work.

As Ivan Arkoff, Mr. Smith was a villain of the deepest dye, the great disapproval of the musicals, while Nicholas, the faithful servant, in the hands of Mr. Dan Kelly, received the most marked approval from not only the gallery but the rest of the audience. Mr. Brewer made a very much better Count Alexis than anything he has done. As Abraham, the Jew, Maurice Stewart did a good little bit of character work. Miss Wheeler was consistent on the cat question, and played the aged countess acceptably. Miss Lieb and Miss Gray as Wanda and Olga, respectively, did their usual conscientious work.

The scenery all through was appropriate and the Miserere song of nuns and monks in the third act, with the lighted church in the distance and the prison yard for a foreground, was very realistic.

The Nihilist runs all the week, with a matinee on Saturday. E. M. C.

BERNARD THEATRE.—The initial performance last evening of the romantic tragedy, The Count of Rimini, served to entirely fill the auditorium of this popular house. While the play is somewhat ponderous in general tone, it is relieved by a comedy element that, while interesting in itself, serves to accentuate the tragic element and bring into strong relief the main points in the play.

Mr. Darrellinton played the star role of Lancelotto, the Count of Rimini, with considerable power, and shared with Francesca, played by Dorothy Rosemore, the honors of the evening. The latter did herself some injustice in the first and second acts, particularly in the betrothal scene, when a certain lack of grace of manner prevented the sympathetic interest that was the first due of the sympathetic maiden. This trifling drawback was fully compensated for, however, in the latter part of the play, when the varying emotions were very cleverly depicted. The part of Guido, the father of Francesca, was given proper prominence by P. J. Duggan, who made the old schemer appear all that the responsibilities of the important part required. Minnie Conway, as Ritta the maid, was home in her characterization, without being unduly funny. Her very creditable by-play when with Francesca and Guido earned well merited applause.

The general support was quite up to the standard of excellence maintained at this house, and as the interest of The Count of Rimini is well sustained from the rise to the fall of the curtain, there is every probability of well filled houses during the remainder of the week.

THE IMPERIAL.—A very attractive bill is presented for the week. Last night, on the first appearance of most of the artists, a large audience was present, and judging from the applause, enjoyed the new features greatly.

The one weak part was the attempt at black art and scientific illusion by Fatima. This act was hardly up to date.

Burke Brothers are simply immense. The first two create a stir so furious that the house is fairly shaken by the outbursts.

The Sisters Aline do a charming specialty, and Sioren and Emeric are greatly appreciated.

Arbno in his wonderful balancing feats produces one of the best features of the bill.

All the rest are good, and as a whole the show is well up to the standard which the management has set for this popular place of amusement.

The sale of seats commences this morning at the Los Angeles theater for Col. J. H. Haverly's Mastodon Minstrel company's engagement. Enthusiasm is always created among the minstrel patrons of this city at the sight of that name, Haverly, the synonym of minstrel management. Among the list of principal performers are: Bert Sherrard, Harry Burdette, Ali Gibson, Billy Lyons, E. M. Kayser, Harry Constance and 30 others.

SOCIETY.

A delightful Spanish dinner was that given by Mrs. F. D. Owen at her pretty home on Angelina street in honor of Mrs. H. F. Vollmer. The decorations and guest cards were entirely in the Spanish colors.

The dining room and table decorations were especially beautiful, and chrysanthemums were lavishly used. Portieres of pepper boughs, intermingled with smilax, hung between the rooms.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Vollmer, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Rayder, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Conant, Mr. and Mrs. O. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Binford, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Byrne and Miss Nell N. Parker.

MRS. GRADY'S DEPARTURE.

Mrs. E. A. Grady of Atlanta, Ga., the mother of Henry W. Grady, who, at the time of his death, represented in his own person the highest type of American manhood, leaves by the outgoing train this evening for a winter's visit to a son located in Dakota, from whence she will return to her home in Georgia.

While visiting her friend, Mrs. Walter A. Taylor of this city, she has made many acquaintances and has been honored by a number of special entertainments. Mrs. Grady represents all that is best in southern grace and accomplishment as did her son Henry, who, standing before a New England audience, presented in language untransposed in modern eloquence, the true cause of the south. It is matter for congratulation that so many prominent people of the city did honor to themselves in honoring such a true type of motherhood as exemplified in the character of Mrs. Grady, whose visit to the city was all too brief.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

A pleasant surprise party was given to Miss Nettie Feetham at her home, 831 May street, last Saturday night, in honor of her sixteenth birthday. The guests assembled at the home of Miss Angie McKenzie and went from there to Miss Feetham's, where a most enjoyable evening was passed in music and games. Light refreshments were served during the evening, and at a late hour the guests departed.

Among those present were: Misses Jennie Bigelow, Rose Miller, Jennie Slater, Sophie Leone, Beatrice Weeks, Roger Logan, Bertha Fallin, Angie McKenzie, Maud Perry, Minnie Mitchell, Maud McKenzie, Helen Slater, Nettie Feetham and Helen Brown, and Messrs. Robert Boyles, Ivy Overholzer, Dan McDonald, Ervin McMillan, Ed Stokes, Harry Frick, Homer Frick, Arthur Feetham, Jeff Logan, Gregory Hamm, Burness and James Slater.

PEDESTRIAN TRIP.

Messrs. E. Beebe, Al Simons, Bert Sommer and A. L. Gardner left Los Angeles Saturday afternoon for a pedestrian trip. They went by train to Santa Anita, and from there walked up the old trail to Martin's camp, which they reached about 10:30 p.m. An ineffectual shot at a wild cat, whose proximity to their camp was uncomfortably close, was the only excitement, and after watching the sun rise from the top of the mountain and enjoying the view of the valley the return trip was made.

MUSICAL AND RECEPTION.

A reception and musicale will be given at the residence of Mrs. Bradner W. Lee, 1105 South Hope street, Friday afternoon, November 16th, from 3 to 5, and from 8 to 11 p.m. the same evening, for the benefit of the First Presbyterian church. A quartette, consisting of Miss Lillian Fellows, Burdette, Miss Grace Holmes, Mr. Stephens and Prof. D. H. Morrison, will sing in the evening.

MUSICAL AND TEA.

The Misses Schreiber entertained a few friends informally last Thursday afternoon at their home on Pasadena avenue. Miss Marie Schreiber played a selection on the violin, accompanied by her mother. Dainty refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Stoddard, Cornelia Streetmaker, Morgan and Helen Mar Bennett.

ART ASSOCIATION EXHIBIT.

The "private view" of the Art association exhibit will take place this afternoon at No. 110 West Second street, from 3 to 5, and the rooms will be formally opened this evening at 7:30 by the president of the association, Senator Stephen M. White. All guests will be admitted by presenting their visiting cards at the door.

Y. W. C. F. ENTERTAINMENT.

The Los Angeles Young Woman's Temperance union will give a choice entertainment in Park Congregational church, corner Temple and Metcalf streets, this evening. An interesting programme, consisting of music, recitations, has been prepared. No admission will be charged and all are cordially invited.

AN AT HOME.

Court Olive, No. 7751, A. O. F. of A., gave "at home" last night at Foresters' hall, No. 1071 North Main street. A short entertainment was provided, followed by a social hop. The music was furnished by Schoenwald and Blanchard's orchestra, and the evening was greatly enjoyed by all present.

OPENING EXERCISES.

The faculty and pupils of the Los Angeles conservatory of music and art have issued invitations for a reception and opening exercises, Tuesday, November 13th, from 7:30 to 10 p.m., at 110 West Second street.

NEW ELECTRIC ROAD.

A Boom in Lots Down Central Avenue.

The new double electric road is being built down Central avenue, and which, like the University line, will come in on Spring street, will cause property to double in value in six months. Fifteen lots have been sold in the last three days, and new houses are started on all sides in Grider & Dow's Adams street tract. A personal examination will satisfy any buyer as to the merits of property down this street.

THE ANHEUSER.

For all the delicacies of the season and the only genuine French kitchen in the city go to the Anheuser restaurant, 243 South Spring street. Commercial lunch from 11 a.m. till 2 p.m. Meals a la carte from 7 a.m. till 8 p.m. The celebrated Anheuser-Busch premium beer always fresh on draught. Charles Kaiser, proprietor and general agent.
