SHE SOLD LIQUOR ILLEGALLY A Respectable Appearing Woman Found Guilty Anna Sarette, charged with selling intoxicating malt liquors on Sunday, June 16th, at her place near the rifle range near Eastlake, yesterday pleaded not guilty through her attorney before Judge Morris. Two black bottles, each partly filled with an evil-smelling liquid, and said to contain root beer, were offered in evidence by the defendant. It was claimed that these were the bottles and these the liquids that for a price had been served to the officer making the arrest. The gentle insinuation was not accepted, however, by the gentleman, he maintaining that he called for a beer of ordinary concoction and that he was served with the regulation brewery product. Judge Morrison evidently had faith in the officer's ability to distinguish between Pilsener or Budweiser and root or sarsaparilla, and found the respectable appearing defendant guilty. She will be sentenced tomorrow at 10 a. m.

HARRINGTON WILL DIE The Doctors Entertain Little Hope of His Recovery The element of mystery that shrouds the case of Ed Harrington, supposed to have been poisoned last Friday evening, remains to be cleared away. King is charged with swindling L. St. Beecher out of some $200 at Santa Monica last Sunday. NEWS TO OIL BORERS Superior Court Arraigns the Fire Commissioners

JUDGE VAN DYKE'S OPINION He Limits "Police Power" and the Municipal Law Commissioners Have No Right to Do Legislative and Arbitrary Executive Work. A Hint to the City Council

Superior Judge Walter Van Dyke yesterday handed down an opinion affirming the judgment of Police Judge Madison Owens in the oil well case of people against W. H. Clark et al. In his opinion he reviews the case thoroughly and quotes numerous authorities in support of his argument. The opinion will be of considerable import to the oil men. Judge Van Dyke said in brief: "The prosecution is under the provision of ordinance No. 342, . . . regulating the erection, operation or use of boilers and engines within the limits of the city of Los Angeles lying outside of the general fire limits of said city. The first section of the ordinance says: 'It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to erect, operate or use a boiler or engine or drilling, pumping or operating a well within the territory of the city of Los Angeles lying outside of the general fire limits . . . without having first obtained a permit to do so from the board of fire commissioners of said city.' The complaint was dismissed and the defendants discharged in the police court on the ground that the ordinance referred to was invalid; and that is the question presented to this court. 'The power to make and enforce all necessary local police, sanitary and other regulations that are not in conflict with the general laws of the state upon all cities and towns and has been so conferred upon this city in its charter in addition to that conferred upon our state directly confers this power (Art. XI Sec. 1). The power is very broad and comprehensive and is not to be limited by the enactment of any ordinance having a reasonable tendency to promote the health and comfort, safety and welfare of the inhabitants of the municipality, and which would not conflict with some general laws of the state.

"The extent and limits of what is known as the police power has been the subject of discussion in the courts of every state in the union, and it is quite impossible to state in terms the extent or limitations of this power. The courts have not attempted to do it. Whether or not that power has been extended in particular cases, must be determined on the facts of each case. The power to make and enforce all necessary local police, sanitary and other regulations that are not in conflict with the general laws of the state upon all cities and towns and has been so conferred upon this city in its charter in addition to that conferred upon our state directly confers this power (Art. XI Sec. 1). The power is very broad and comprehensive and is not to be limited by the enactment of any ordinance having a reasonable tendency to promote the health and comfort, safety and welfare of the inhabitants of the municipality, and which would not conflict with some general laws of the state.
